Robert F. Grattan

Reviewing Britains Defence:

Reviewing Britain's Presence East of Suez Maike Hausen, 2022-06-14 Maike Hausen presents a transnational multi perspective review of strategic and security discussions among the former British white settler colonies Australia Canada and New Zealand in the 1960s Focusing on the foreign policy debate surrounding the British decision to withdraw their military East of Suez from Southeast Asia she reviews extensive source material to examine the transformation of political diplomatic and strategic ties between Great Britain and Australia Canada and New Zealand By embedding the East of Suez discussion into a larger framework of long term postcolonial transformations and developments of the Cold War and decolonization the study traces how the British decision upset the traditional conduct of concerted foreign policy and led to notions of crisis and uncertainty as well as to reviews that would ultimately contribute to more independent national outlooks and policies

Reviewing Britain's Defence Ian Bellamy, 1994 British defence policy since 1970 is studied using the device of distinguishing between stated operational and industrial levels of policy making In an ideal world these levels should be in line or if out of line should be so as a result of deliberate policy rather than inadvertence Failure to bring some of these levels of policy into line in spite of attempts to do so accounts for a variety of otherwise puzzling features of British defence policy consistently high defence budgets also the subject of a statistical annex even when compared to France a navy still virtually as large as the next two largest navies added together and the 90 per cent of all armaments for British forces consistently purchased from British industry at a time of rapidly diminishing British industrial competitiveness The intuitively important phenomenon of the defence review is placed in context as an act designed to resolve contradictions and inconsistencies between the different levels of policy

Understanding UK Military Capability Andrew R. Curtis, 2024-05-21 Concentrating on decisions taken below the political level this book uncovers the factors that underpin the translation of strategic direction into military capability

Confrontation, Strategy and War Termination Christopher Tuck, 2016-05-23 At the heart of this book is the problem of war termination Britain won an almost unbroken string of tactical military victories during an undeclared war against the Republic of Indonesia in the 1960s yet it proved difficult to translate this into strategic success Using conflict termination theories this book argues that British strategy during Confrontation was both exemplary and flawed both of which need not be mutually exclusive The British experience in Indonesia represents an illuminating case study of the difficulties associated with strategy and the successful termination of conflicts The value of this book lies in two areas as a contribution to the literature on British counter insurgency operations and as a contribution to the debates on the problems of war termination in the context of strategic thought

External Affairs Review New Zealand. Department of External Affairs, 1966 Joint Force Quarterly, 2006 The Strategic Defence and Security Review and the National Security Strategy Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Defence Committee, 2011-08-03 This report notes mounting concern that UK Armed Forces may be falling below the minimum utility required to deliver the commitments that they are currently being tasked to carry out let alone the tasks they are likely to face between 2015 to 2020 when it is acknowledged that there will be capability gaps The Committee is concerned that UK Armed Forces will be continually operating at the maximum level envisaged by the Defence Planning Assumptions The Committee is not convinced that this aspiration can be achieved by co operation with our allies given the challenges of aligning political with operational needs The SDSR identified seven military tasks and the Defence Planning Assumptions that underpin them However the Review fails to show how decisions such as those on the Aircraft Carriers and Nimrod MRA4 will lead to the Armed Forces being able to undertake those military tasks The Committee has serious concerns over the realisation of what is called Future Force 2020 the Government s intended shape of the Armed Forces from 2020 particularly as the provision of the necessary resources is only a Government aspiration not Government policy The MoD must reform and ensure substantially improved transparency and control over its finance and budgetary practices When committing to undertake new operations the Government should state from the outset where that operation fits in the Defence Planning Assumptions and which of the military tasks it is meeting The Committee is concerned that the Government seems to have postponed the sensible aspiration of bringing commitments and resources into line in that it has taken on the new commitment of Libya while reducing the resources available to MoD

Forces for Good Graeme Cheeseman, 2004 Forces for good develops and explores the concept of cosmopolitan militaries It examines how governments militaries and institutions have responded politically doctrinally and operationally to claims that militaries have a new role in cosmopolitan law enforcement that allows and perhaps even requires the use of force to protect and defend those who are the victims of gross abuse of human rights The contributors include academics defence practitioners and serving military officers

BOOK JACKET Central Organizations Of Defense Martin Edmonds, 2019-02-22 Defense and strategic studies traditionally have paid little attention to the structure and administrative context within which policy decisions are made This volume fills that existing gap focusing on the principal actors in the defense decisionmaking field their relationships to one another and the statutory and legal provisions governing the spheres of responsibility and competence among military civil and paramilitary institutions The book is designed to assist scholars and policymakers in comparative analyses of complex organizations and institutions and to identify similarities and differences among the central administrative structures of the major industrial states Toward this end each contributor concentrates on his or her own transnational analysis The authors are all respected experts on defense issues in their own countries and their analyses conform to a common framework developed to compare central organizations of defense around the world and to define what states can learn from each other s experiences and what developments can be expected

Strategic Review Robert F. Grattan, 2016-04-01 Following careers in the military and in industry Robert Grattan has devoted himself to the subject of strategy and its related theory through his research into the strategy implementation employed by business governments and the military Strategy process is widely studied and taught but argues

Robert Grattan comprehensive prescriptive theories have yet to be developed This book is based on analysis of the strategic defence review SDR conducted by the UK Ministry of Defence the methodology for which has been employed in other countries The study focuses on how the review was managed through the twin lenses of strategic business management theory and the Essence of Decision theory of governmental decision making closely associated with the John F Kennedy School of Government in the USA The author has been fortunate in being granted interviews with the leading figures in Government the Civil Service and the Military who participated in the SDR process and in having gained access to information in Ministry of Defence files under Freedom of Information legislation The result is Strategic Review a book that provides vivid insights into what happened in a large complex organisation during a major strategic review and highlights the problems likely to be encountered during the process of formulating strategy in business in government in sport and any other human endeavour It will appeal to many in business intrigued by the similarities between the issues facing business and military strategists to those involved in public policy making to the defence community and to academics and higher level students with an interest in this rich field of study
