The Kuwaiti Ngos: Their Role in Aid Flow to Developing Countries , The Role of NGOs in Constructing Civil Society in Developing Countries Henrik Secher Marcussen, Sahel-Sudan Environmental Research Initiative, 1996 The Role of Ngos in African Socio-Economic Development Trudy Owens, Ronelle Burger, 2014-06-30 Non governmental organizations NGOs popularly known as charities are acknowledged to be pivotal to poverty alleviation especially in African countries where government capacity and revenues are often limited Despite their prominent role in poverty alleviation little is known about how these organizations function in developing countries This book charts a new path by considering the role of NGOs in African development and by using a number of new large scale representative data sets The book integrates a fragmented literature spanning many different disciplines by providing an overview of what is known about the sector This includes the growth and importance of the sector a cross country comparison of NGO sectors and various perspectives on the role of NGOs The book also looks at the shortcomings of the literature or what we do not know mapping and exploring the questions the literature has failed to answer such as what motivates NGOs how are they funded to whom are they accountable and what are the determinants of their growth and survival Non-Governmental Organizations and Health in Developing Countries A. Green, A. Matthias, 1996-12-03 Non governmental organizations NGOs are increasingly recognised as playing a significant role in the health sector in developing countries This book examines the background to the growth both in the sector and interest in it the strengths and weaknesses of NGOs and the arguments for and against their use for different aspects of the health sector It focuses particularly on the relationship between the State and non governmental organizations and the issues critical to the development of policies towards the sector Foreign Aid and the Role of NGOs in the Development Process of Nepal Heinz Bongartz,1992 Seminar papers Non-Governmental Development Organizations of Developing Countries Sjeff Theunis,2023-11-27 This publication describes and analyses the role of non governmental development organizations NGDOs of the Southern hemisphere It is primarily intended as a text for interested outsiders such as officials of UN organizations politicians civil servants and scientists but it will also contribute to self knowledge and self reflection among members of the NGO community After a brief introduction the reader is introduced to a substantial number of non governmental development organizations from three continents by means of organizational portraits written by the NGDOs themselves Each contribution is prefaced by a brief description of the organization and all address the following basic subjects Development for whom by whom The NGDO s objectives and strategies Organizational structure North South cooperation The NGDO s achievements Staff motivation The Role of Non Governmental Organizations (NGOs) in National Development Strategy in Arab and Middle East Countries ,1994

Non-governmental Organizations and Natural Resource Management in Africa T. R. Ramanathan,1993 Public Policy Toward Non-Governmental Organizations in Developing Countries William Jack,2016 If a developing country government is not good at providing public services such as health care education and social protection would NGOs be better at doing so What advantages do NGOs have over for profit providers of publicly funded services And considering the importance of donor funding which is better for delivering such services an international NGO or a grassroots NGO Jack presents two descriptive models of nongovernmental organizations and poses normative questions about public policy toward NGOs In situations in which optimal government intervention in a distorted or inequitable economy employs an NGO like body he considers which kinds of NGO might be used First in many developing countries NGOs participate in the delivery of what are essentially private goods in particular health care and education In an economy without NGOs there may be good redistributive and efficiency reasons for the government to provide these goods in kind But if direct government provision of such services is ineffective or inefficient when is contracting out to an NGO like institution preferable to using a traditional for profit firm Another way to frame this is to ask What is the optimal taxation and regulation of private providers of publicly financed services NGOs also provide useful real and financial links with external donors They are used to provide services the government favors and donors are willing to fund In this model the service provider is chosen to yield the best outcome for both government and donor In this context Jack compares an international NGO and a grassroots organization It may be more efficient to transfer donor funds through an international NGO than through a local NGO but when donor government cooperation fails a project implemented by an international NGO is effectively killed If a project implemented by a local organization can limp along this otherwise less efficient organization might be preferred This paper product of Public Service Delivery Development Research Group is part of a larger effort in the group to understand the role of NGOs in delivering basic public services The author may be contacted at wjg@georgetown.edu
