Global Dictionary of Theology William A. Dyrness, Veli-Matti Kärkkäinen, 2009-10-25 Theological dictionaries are foundational to any theological library But until now there has been no Global Dictionary of Theology a theological dictionary that presumes the contribution of the Western tradition but moves beyond it to embrace and explore a full range of global expressions of theology The Global Dictionary of Theology is inspired by the shift of the center of Christianity from the West to the Global South But it also reflects the increase in two way traffic between these two sectors as well as the global awareness that has permeated popular culture to an unprecedented degree The editorial perspective of the Global Dictionary of Theology is an ecumenical evangelicalism that is receptive to discovering new facets of truth through listening and conversation on a global scale Thus a distinctive feature of the Global Dictionary of Theology is its conversational approach Contributors have been called on to write in the spirit of engaging in a larger theological conversation in which alternative views are expected and invited William A Dyrness Veli Matti K rkk inen Juan F Martinez and Simon Chan edit approximately 250 articles written by over 100 contributors representing the global spectrum of theological perspectives Pastors theological teachers theological students and lay Christian leaders will all find the Global Dictionary of Theology to be a resource that unfolds new dimensions and reveals new panoramas of theological perspective and inquiry Here is a new launching point for doing theology in today s global context About Face Christopher L. Flanders, 2011-03-07 For Thais face is a fact writes Flanders However whether in theology evangelism or issues involving sin salvation or atonement Thai Christians and missionaries alike seem either uninterested in or possibly incapable of addressing issues related to face This glaring incongruity between the value of face for Thais and the lack of intentional engagement within the Thai Christian community is deeply troubling Surely such a lack of careful attention to face is a dangerous posture Uncritical views of face furtively attaching to the theology of the Thai church are potentially detrimental for its life and mission Such seems to be an unavoidable situation without proper attention to face Additionally to ignore face is to run the risk of missing valuable cultural resources implicit in the Thai experience of face for the critical task of authentic Thai theological reflection This lack of engagement with face raises critical issues with which we must wrestle How is it that such a central sociocultural issue has not been a more significant part of the Thai Christian vocabulary or experience How pervasive are these negative attitudes regarding face What lies behind them Might this lack of self conscious engagement with face have any relationship to the persistent Thai perception of Christianity as a foreign Western religion How should Christians understand this notion of face and how it relates to the ways we understand and proclaim the gospel Quiet As It's Kept J. Brooks Bouson, 2000-01-01 Focuses on the role of shame and trauma as it looks at issues of race class color and caste in the novels of Toni Morrison A Fast Road to the Study of Emotions Arne Vikan, 2017-10-18 This book is an ideal introduction to work in psychology and the neurosciences Walking us through the key topics including historical developmental and cultural perspectives the book shows that the different types of emotions each is an evolved adaptive structure that serves a functional purpose It is shown how these types are expressed differently on the human face how they are developed in the child and how they influence and are influenced by culture health and the ways persons think and perceive Knowledge of emotions is essential for anyone who plans to work or whose work already involves helping instructing negotiating or controlling others This introductory level book teaches undergraduates as well as general readers

Affect and Emotion in Multi-Religious Secular Societies Christian von Scheve,Anna Berg,Meike Haken,Nur Ural,2019-09-16 Emotions have moved center stage in many contemporary debates over religious diversity and multicultural recognition As in other contested fields emotions are often one sidedly discussed as quintessentially subjective and individual phenomena neglecting their social and cultural constitution Moreover emotionality in these debates is frequently attributed to the religious subject alone disregarding the affective anatomy of the secular This volume addresses these shortcomings bringing into conversation a variety of disciplinary perspectives on religious and secular affect and emotion The volume emphasizes two analytical perspectives on the one hand chapters take an immanent perspective focusing on subjective feelings and emotions in relation to the religious and the secular On the other hand chapters take a relational perspective looking at the role of affect and emotion in how the religious and the secular constitute one another These perspectives cut across the three main parts of the volume the first one addressing historical intertwinements of religion and emotion the second part emphasizing affects emotions and religiosity and the third part looking at specific sensibilities of the secular The thirteen chapters provide a well balanced composition of theoretical methodological and empirical approaches to these areas of inquiry discussing both historical and contemporary cases Transforming Race Conversations Eugene Ellis,2024-07-30

A guide to supporting our emergence from the tight grip of race discomfort If we are to address the injustice of racism we need to have the race conversation All too often however attempts at this conversation are met with silence denial anger or hate This is largely because the construct of race resides not only in our minds but principally in the body In order to have productive conversations about race and racism a paradigm shift is needed one which will empower us to remain present and embodied rather than constricted with fear regardless of our racial identities Here psychotherapist Eugene Ellis explores what is needed for this bodily shift to occur as he unpacks the visceral experience of the race conversation He offers a trauma informed neurophysiological approach that emphasizes resourcing body awareness mindfulness and healing Transforming Race Conversations is essential reading for therapy practitioners as well as anyone looking to engage more effectively in the ongoing dialogue around race Understanding Religious Conversion Dong Young Kim,2012-07-20

Understanding Religious Conversion begins with emphasis on the value of respecting religious theological interpretations of conversion while coordinating social scientific studies of how personal social and cultural issues are relevant to the human transformational process It encourages us to bring together the perspectives of psychology sociology anthropology and religious studies into critical and mutually informing conversation for establishing a richer and more accurate perception of the complex phenomenon of religious conversion The case of St Augustine s conversion experience superbly illustrates the complicated and multidimensional process of religious change By critically extending the contributions of the literature within Lewis Rambo s interdisciplinary framework Dong Young Kim presents a more integrated picture of how personal social cultural and religious theological components interact with one another in the process of Augustine s conversion In doing so he has struggled with how to relocate more effectively and practically the conversion narrative of Augustine within the context of pastoral care and ministry and the field of the academy in order to facilitate a better understanding of the conversion stories of the church members as well as to enhance the experiences of religious conversion within the Christian community

Human Emotions Carroll E. Izard,2013-11-11 In recent years especially the past decade in sharp contrast to preceding decades knowledge in the field of emotions has been steadily increasing This knowledge comes from many different specialties Emotion is a truly interdisciplinary subject Workers in the fields of physiology neurology ethology physiological psychology personality and social psychology clinical psychology and psychiatry medicine nursing social work and the clergy are all directly concerned with emotion Professions such as law and architecture have an obvious concern with emotions as they affect human motives and needs The various branches of art especially the performing arts certainly deal with the emotions especially with the expression of emotions Constantine Stanislavsky the Russian theatrical genius revolutionized modern theater by developing a training method for actors and actresses that emphasized creating genuine emotion on the stage the emotion appropriate to the character and the life situation being depicted Indeed one can hardly think of any human activity that is not related in some way to the field of emotion Since the contributions to the subject of emotions come from so many different disciplines it is difficult to find the important common themes that can yield an understanding of the field as a whole This volume will attempt to make that task easier but I recognize that no one can treat all of the diverse material expertly and in detail My aim will be to represent all important types of contributions and perhaps point the way for further and more intensive study of special topics

Progress in Self Psychology, V. 13 Arnold I. Goldberg, 2013-05-13 Volume 13 provides valuable examples of the very type of clinically grounded theorizing that represents progress in self psychology The opening section of clinical papers encompasses compensatory structures facilitating responsiveness repressed memories mature selfobject experience shame in the analyst and the resolution of intersubjective impasses Two self psychologically informed approaches to supervision are followed by a section of contemporary explorations of sexuality Contributions to therapy address transference and countertransference issues in drama therapy an intersubjective approach to conjoint family therapy and the subjective worlds of profound abuse survivors A concluding section of studies in applied self psychology round out this broad and illuminating survey of the field
