Technoculture John Thornton Caldwell, 2000 Never before has the future been so systematically envisioned aggressively analyzed and grandly theorized as in the present rush to cyberspace and digitalization In the mid twentieth century questions about media technologies and society first emerged as scholarly hand wringing about the deleterious sweep of electronic media and information technologies in mass culture Now questions about new technologies and their social and cultural impact are no longer limited to intellectual soothsayers in the academy but are pervasive parts of day to day discourses in newspapers magazines television and film Electronic Media and Technoculture anchors contemporary discussion of the digital future within a critical tradition about the media arts society and culture The collection examines a range of phenomena from boutique cyber practices to the growing ubiquity of e commerce and the internet The essays chart a critical field in media studies providing a historical perspective on theories of new media The contributors place discussions of producing technologies in dialogue with consuming technologies new media in relation to old media and argue that digital media should not be restricted to the constraining public discourses of either the computer broadcast motion picture or internet industries The collection charts a range of theoretical positions to assist readers interested in new media and to enable them to weather the cycles of hardware obsolescence and theoretical volatility that characterize the present rush toward digital technologies Contributors include Ien Ang John Caldwell Cynthia Cockburn Helen Cunningham Hans Magnus Enzensberger Guillermo Gomez Pea Arthur Kroker Bill Nichols Andrew Ross Ellen Seiter Vivian Sobchack Allucqure Rosanne Stone Ravi Sundaram Michael A Weinstein Raymond Williams and Brian Winston John Thornton Caldwell is chair of the film and television department at the University of California at Los Angeles He is a filmmaker and media artist and author of Televisuality Style Crisis and Authority in American Television also from Rutgers University Press

Communication, Digital Media, and Popular Culture in Korea Dal Yong Jin, Nojin Kwak, 2018-05-16 In recent decades Korean communication and media have substantially grown to become some of the most significant segments of Korean society Since the early 1990s Korea has experienced several distinctive changes in its politics economy and technology which are directly related to the development of local media and culture Korea has greatly developed several cutting edge technologies such as smartphones video games and mobile instant messengers to become the most networked society throughout the world As the Korean Wave exemplifies the once small and peripheral Korea has also created several unique local popular cultures including television programs movies and popular music known as K pop and these products have penetrated many parts of the world As Korean media and popular culture have rapidly grown the number of media scholars and topics covering these areas in academic discourses has increased These scholars interests have expanded from traditional media such as Korean journalism and cinema to several new cutting edge areas like digital technologies health communication and LGBT related issues In celebrating the Korean American Communication Association s fortieth anniversary in 2018 this book documents and historicizes the growth of growing scholarship in the realm of Korean media and communication

Mass Media/mass Culture James Ross Wilson, Stan Le Roy Wilson, 1998 An overview of the effects of mass media on culture

Mass Media James B. Martin, 2002 Mass media has become an integral part of the human experience News travels around the world in a split second affecting people in other countries in untold ways Although being on top of the news may be good at least for news junkies mass media also transmits values or the lack thereof condenses complex events and thoughts to simplified sound bites and often ignores the essence of an event or story The selective bibliography gathers the books and magazine literature over the previous ten years while providing access through author title and subject indexes

Electronic Media Criticism Peter B. Orlik, 2001 Given the prominence of the electronic media in the 21st century it is crucial that both media professionals and consumers know how to decipher and evaluate media content the assumptions on which that content is based and the constraints to which it is subject Electronic Media Criticism offers a variety of critical approaches to audio and video discourse Rather than restricting itself to one perspective the book applies key aesthetic sociological philosophical psychological structural and economic principles to arrive at a comprehensive evaluation of both programming and advertising content Maintaining the approach of the original volume this second edition includes updated chapters to reflect the current media world including sample reviews and illustrations material pertaining to new media because the book is process oriented rather than medium oriented Internet referents are interspersed in discussion of the various critical perspectives two additional scripts for critical analysis an episode of The Simpsons and an installment of the dark Canadian comedy The Newsroom and new exercises for further practice in applying critical procedures Orlik interweaves the insights of industry and academic authorities recognizing that both orientations are essential in the development of a valid and viable critical outlook Written for media students and practitioners all readers of this volume will gain feasible and flexible tools for focused and rational analysis of electronic media products as well as improved understanding of the role and essential ingredients of criticism itself
