states of feeling often experienced by children and as images of the wider society in which they are written A particular theme of their discussion is personal and imaginative growth in childhood and the ways this can be affected both for better and worse by separation and loss In their detailed consideration of the narratives of the stories the authors avoid theoretical jargon and concentrate on works which have interest and meaning for adult readers as well as children Narratives of Love and Loss is an important and accessible book which will be of special interest to parents and teachers concerned with children s reading and imaginative play and to those working in the fields of psychoanalysis English literature and popular culture

Kath Filmer-Davies,1992 Religious discourse has become alien to the secular and skeptical western societies of the twentieth century There is real discomfort when religious discourse appears either in the popular press or in society But even in a secular society there is still a psychological need one might even use the stronger word will if not to believe then at least to hope Dr Filmer states this need is met in the literature of fantasy The Mouse and His Child ,2013 Contemporary
