Revelation to the Monk of Evesham, 1196 Edward Arber,1869 The Arts of Disruption Nicolette Zeeman,2020-07-22 The monograph series Oxford Studies in Medieval Literature and Culture showcases the plurilingual and multicultural quality of medieval literature and actively seeks to promote research that not only focuses on the array of subjects medievalists now pursue in literature theology and philosophy in social political jurisprudential and intellectual history the history of art and the history of science but also that combines these subjects productively It offers innovative studies on topics that may include but are not limited to manuscript and book history languages and literatures of the global Middle Ages race and the post colonial the digital humanities media and performance music medicine the history of affect and the emotions the literature and practices of devotion the theory and history of gender and sexuality ecocriticism and the environment theories of aesthetics medievalism The Arts of Disruption Allegory and Piers Plowman offers a series of new readings of the allegorical poem Piers Plowman but it is also a book about allegory It argues not just that there are distinctively disruptive arts that occur in allegory but that allegory because it is interested in the difficulty of making meaning is itself a disruptive art The book approaches this topic via the study of five medieval allegorical narrative structures that exploit diegetic conflict and disruption Although very different they all bring together contrasting descriptions of spiritual process in order to develop new understanding and excite moral or devotional change These five structures are the paradiastolic hypocritical figure such as vices masked by being made to look like adjacent virtues personification debate violent language and gestures of apophasis narratives of bodily decline and grail romance Each appears in a range of texts which the book explores along with other connected materials in medieval rhetoric logic grammar spiritual thought ethics medicine and romance iconography

These allegorical narrative structures appear radically transformed in Piers Plowman where the poem makes further meaning out of the friction between them. Much of the allegorical work of the poem occurs at the points of their intersection and within the conceptual gaps that open up between them. Ranging across a wide variety of medieval allegorical texts, the book shows from many perspectives allegory's juxtaposition of the heterogeneous and its questioning of supposed continuities.

The Truth Within Gavin Flood, 2013-10 Explores the metaphor of inwardness and the idea of truth within along with the methods developed in three religions to attain it such as prayer and meditation
