A History of Modern Tibet, 1913-1951 Melvyn C. Goldstein, 2003-11-15 The Tibetan Question the nature of Tibet's political status vis vis China has been the subject of often bitterly competing views while the facts of the issue have not been fully accessible to interested observers While one faction has argued that Tibet was in the main historically independent until it was conquered by the Chinese Communists in 1951 and incorporated into the new Chinese state the other faction views Tibet as a traditional part of China that split away at the instigation of the British after the fall of the Manchu Dynasty and was later dutifully reunited with New China in 1951 In contrast this comprehensive study of modern Tibetan history presents a detailed non partisan account of the demise of the Lamaist state Drawing on a wealth of British American and Indian diplomatic records first hand historical accounts written by Tibetan participants and extensive interviews with former Tibetan officials monastic leaders soldiers and traders Goldstein meticulously examines what happened and why He balances the traditional focus on international relations with an innovative emphasis on the intricate web of internal affairs and events that produced the fall of Tibet Scholars and students of Asian history will find this work an invaluable resource and interested readers will appreciate the clear explanation of highly polemicized and often confusing historical events The Tibetan Question the nature of Tibet's political status vis vis China has been the subject of often bitterly competing views while the facts of the issue have not been fully accessible to interested observers While one faction has argued that T The Search for the Panchen Lama Isabel Hilton, 2001 In this chilling picture of the brutality of Chinese repression in Tibet Wall Street Journal Hilton relates the 1995 kidnap and disappearance of a seven year old Tibetan boy believed to be the 11th incarnation of the Panchen Lama 21 photos AB Bookman's Weekly, 1998 A History of Modern Tibet, Volume 2 Melvyn C. Goldstein, 2009-04-13 History Sacred Suicide Carole M. Cusack, 2016-04-08 The label Suicide Cults has been applied to a wide variety of different alternative religions from Jonestown to the Solar Temple to Heaven's Gate Additionally observers have asked if such group suicides are in any way comparable to Islamist suicide terrorism or to historical incidents of mass suicide such as the mass suicide of the ancient community of Masada Organizationally and ideologically diverse it turns out that the primary shared trait of these various groups is a common stereotype of religion as an irrational force that pushes fanatics to undertake acts of suicidal violence Offering a valuable perspective on New Religious Movements and on religion and violence Sacred Suicide brings together contributions from a diverse range of international scholars of sociology religious studies and criminology Catalog of the Foreign Relations Library Foreign Relations Library, 1969 Indian Philosophy Since Independence Dale Maurice Riepe, 1979-01-01 This concludes the first volume of Indian Philosophy Since Independence the second volume includes the following chapters P iv v 1 Beauty Queens on the Global Stage Colleen Ballerion Cohen, Richard Wilk, Beverly Stoeltje, 2013-09-13 Modern beauty contests were invented by P T Barnum in the United States but in the 20th century pageants and contests have spread across the entire world from Nepal to Tierra Del

Fuego Why are women and sometimes men in drag parading on stage such a universally appealing spectacle attracting an audience in the billions This book is the first global comparison of pageants from different parts of the world at the ways each contest is both intensely local and unique and simultaneously global and remarkable repetitious The authors use the latest tools of feminist ethnographic and literary scholarship to unpack and interpret one of the greatest and most universal spectacles of modern times Tears of the Lotus Roger E. McCarthy, 2015-08-13 In 1949 Mao Tse tung first sent his People's Liberation Army into the eastern Tibetan province of Amdo he followed with an invasion of the province of Kham in 1950 Ill prepared disorganized and badly outnumbered the small Tibetan armed forces were no match for the invaders At first the Chinese persuaded many Tibetans that their intent was merely to help them share in the future greatness and wealth that Mao had promised all In a short time the Tibetan tribesmen realized however that the true purpose of the invasion was otherwise Their religion and their freedom were at stake Despite the repeated efforts by the Dalai Lama and others in Lhasa to dissuade them the people resisted the Chinese at great cost over one million dead in the 1950s This work includes accounts of the role of Tibetans who collaborated with the Chinese invaders the resistance movement the Dalai Lama's lack of support for the movement and how even so the resistance made it possible for the Dalai Lama to escape from Lhasa in 1959 The Creative South Andrea Acri, Peter Sharrock, 2022-04-12 This edited volume programmatically reconsiders the creative contribution of the littoral and insular regions of Maritime Asia to shaping new paradigms in the Buddhist and Hindu art and architecture of the mediaeval Asian world Far from being a mere southern conduit for the maritime circulation of Indic religions in the period from ca the 7th to the 14th century those regions transformed across mainland and island polities the rituals icons and architecture that embodied these religious insights with a dynamism that often eclipsed the established cultural centres in Northern India Central Asia and mainland China This collective body of work brings together new research aiming to recalibrate the importance of these innovations in art and architecture thereby highlighting the cultural creativity of the monsoon influenced Southern rim of the Asian landmass Although Maritime Asia in mediaeval times was not as densely populated as the agrarian hinterland Asia's coasts were highly urbanized The region from southern India to south China was a heterogeneous blend of cultures leavened with a strong interest in trade This cosmopolitan society afforded plentiful opportunities for artists to find patrons and develop individual styles and aesthetic sensibilities In the bustling ports of Asia's south coast rulers sought to embellish their prestige and attract foreign merchants by sponsoring the development of monumental complexes and centres of learning and debate These educational institutions attracted teachers from all over Asia and in their cloisters they developed new intellectual frameworks which were reflected in works of art and architecture Scholars moved frequently by sea influencing and being influenced by other foreigners such as Japanese and central Asians who were also attracted to these places This very variety has hindered scholarly research in the past This volume contributes to the endeavour to show how Maritime Asia was not an incoherent jumble of misunderstood influences from better known civilizations there was a pattern to this creativity which the authors in this collection clarify for us The maritime world of Asia may have lain on the margins of the land but it provided a physical and intellectual medium through which artistic ideas from east and west flowed freely Maritime Asia also made significant original contributions which hold their own with those of the hinterland of the Asian continent Unconstrained by the burden of static hierarchical courts the peoples of Maritime Asia built on the inspiration provided by a hybrid society to demonstrate a high degree of artistic originality while testing but not breaking the link with conventional iconography Professor John Miksic Department of Southeast Asian Studies Faculty of Arts and Social Sciences National University of Singapore NUS The collective objective of this two volume work is to give substance to the oft cited mantra that mediaeval maritime Southeast Asia was as much an innovative contributor to as a recipient in the cultural conversations that took place across the Bay of Bengal and South China Sea In bracketing these studies between the 7th and 14th centuries the editors have drawn into focus two key traditions that are explicated in texts ritual art and architecture and religious landscapes of this period tantric Buddhism and esoteric Shaivism A great strength of these studies is this focus for which the editors are to be commended The chapters contain much that represents significant milestones in building new understanding in the field including overdue recognition of the importance of Southeast Asian esoteric Buddhist practice in shaping Chinese Buddhism Nowhere did the architects of the religious landscape of early Southeast Asia think of themselves as being on the periphery or as outsiders looking in Rather they knowingly imbued their tirthas and sacred centres with the same authority as those in India and created religious edifices that were on occasions beyond India's experience I highly commend this publication to anyone with an interest in bringing a wider lens to the study of Indian esoteric religious practices and to understanding the relationship of early Hindu Buddhist Southeast Asia to the wider Asian world John Guy Senior Curator of South and Southeast Asian Art The Metropolitan Museum of Art New York The Creative South is a rich compendium of scholarship concerning the religious art of Southeast Asia and its ties to India in the period beginning in the 8th century It was a time when merchants were crisscrossing the seas from India to China and when advocates of innovative doctrines and rituals were finding ready support among the rulers of the varied kingdoms From the identification of images embraced by the seafarers to the mysteries of the fire shrines in Cambodian temples from the funerary beliefs of Odisha to the unique character of the Javanese Ramayana these eighteen studies provide fresh understandings of the patterns of reception and innovation Hiram Woodward Mr and Mrs Thomas Quincy Scott Curator of Asian Art Emeritus The Walters Art Museum
