Modern Work and the Marketisation of Higher Education Gerbrand Tholen, 2022-09-08 Over recent decades national Higher Education sectors across the world have experienced a gradual process of marketisation This book offers a new interpretation on why and how marketisation has taken place within England It explores distinct assumptions on the nature of graduate work and how the graduate labour market drives the argumentation for more market and choice Demonstrating the flaws in these assumptions which are based on an idealised relationship between Higher Education and high skilled work this book fills an important need by questioning the current rationale for further marketisation Digital Transformation of Socio-Economic and Technical Systems: Theory and Practice Angi Skhvediani, Anastasia Kulachinskaya, Mariana Mateeva Petrova, 2025-04-30 In the theoretical field this book presents innovative concepts and models that elucidate the dynamics and implications of digitalization across diverse socio economic systems Additionally from a practical perspective the book offers real world examples and case studies that illustrate successful strategies for implementing digital technologies and their contributions to the sustainable development of various industries In recent years digital economy has become a key driver which fosters growth of various systems The COVID 19 pandemic has additionally boosted this process and resulted in higher effectiveness of both formal and informal institutes structural changes on labour market new opportunities for social mobility new markets new forms of interaction between government individuals and enterprises On the other hand these processes entailed significant challenges among which are digital divide cyber security high costs of process digitalization etc This book is designed for researchers educators students and practitioners interested in acquiring profound insights into the contemporary processes of digital transformation and their impact on socio economic and technical systems Annual World Bank Conference on Development Economics 2008, Regional Justin Yifu Lin, Boris Pleskovic, 2008-01-01 This annual conference is a global gathering of the world's leading scholars and practitioners Among the attendees are participants from developing countries think tanks NGOs and international institutions These papers concern issues such as Higher Education and International Migration in Asia Brain Circulation Interfaces in Higher Education Two Sector in Sync Financing Higher Education Lessons from developed economies options for developing economies Well springs of Modern Economic Growth Higher Education Innovation and Local Economic Development Higher Education Innovation The New Economy and Economic Growth in Europe and the US David B. Audretsch, Paul J.J. Welfens, 2013-06-29 The strong productivity growth of the US and Scandinavian countries in Europe in the 1990s has raised the question whether the ICT sector information and communication technology that is computers plus telecommunications plus digital services is the new driving engine of high growth in leading OECD countries Judging by the empirical evidence for the US including a new study by McKinsey which gives mixed evidence it is still too early to clearly dismiss Robert G Gordon's hypothesis that the acceleration of US output growth is due to quality problems of price measurement exclusively due to cyclical factors and increased productivity growth in the computer sector. The counter hypothesis is associated with research by Stiroh and others who argue that there are positive productivity spillover effects from ICT to other sectors. Indeed it is not clear ex ante whether mainly the Old Economy or the so called New Economy stands to benefit most from high innovation rates and strong productivity shifts associated with the spreading of digital services. Interestingly the increased economic role of the internet also contributes to the internationalization of the economy since more services have become tradable and growing import competition itself could stimulate productivity growth and thus contribute to higher growth. If ICT plays a key role in the new economy there are important implications in the differential degree to which Germany and the US have implemented ICT.

Knowledge Economy, Development and the Future of Higher Education Michael A. Peters, 2007-01-01 Prophetically almost thirty years ago Jean-François Lyotard forecast the end of the modern research university based on Enlightenment principles. He envisaged the emergence of technical institutes in the service of the information rich global multinationals. This book reflects on the post-war Western university and its discourses charting the crisis of the concept of the modern university. First it examines the university within a global networked economy second it adopts poststructuralist perspectives in epistemology politics and ethics to appraise the role of the contemporary university third it introduces the notion of development in a critical fashion as a way of explaining its potentially new regional and international learning roles fourth it analyzes the rise of global science and the disciplines in the context of the global economy and finally it raises Lyotard's logic of performativity and the assessment of research quality within a neoliberal economy linking it firmly to the question of freedom and the republic of science.
