My World War II Experience Revisited:

My World War II Experience Revisited Lyle D. Green, 1996-01-01 On September 2nd of 1945 the war with Japan ended The battle for the liberation of Okinawa was over The last fighter plane was grounded The last engagement was over Most of the Japanese soldiers captured or surrendered were behind guarded fences The armistice had been signed The last shot should have been fired Yet many Japanese soldiers could not face the naked truth so remnants of fighting continued Their behavior took on a bizarre twist they abandoned their uniforms and disguised themselves dressed like Okinawan women and men Two individuals dressed as such walked on a road One would have a carbine strapped onto his back with the muzzle pointed skyward When they encountered an American soldier walking toward them the one with the carbine would drop to his knees and bend forward so the gun would be pointed at the victim Then the other would fall in behind him and discharge the piece A number of GI s lost their lives this way I lost a comrade in this manner Book jacket

My Life Planned and Unplanned W. G. Wedan, 2015-01-31 My Life Planned and Unplanned is the book title but it is the unplanned part of my life that I could not have imagined during my youth in Galesburg Illinois As the son of Swedish immigrants and from a large family I couldnt envisage much of a future They were the Depression years Those families that had positions with the CB Q or the Santa Fe railroads seemed not to be affected Those in construction especially of houses were and drastically Construction had come to an abrupt halt Home builders like my father had to be content with the occasional small repair jobs The help of my older brother Lewis and my sisters Ellyn Dodney and Carole were a great aid to my parents I sold magazines door to door and later had newspaper routes along with my brother Carl After finishing high school together with a friend I earned my tuition for a year of business college doing maintenance work of that school After a year of working experience I joined my two brothers in the military service in World War II We had been attacked as a nation and everyone seemed to accept the war and sacrifices to bring it to a successful conclusion

The Past as Prologue Williamson Murray, Richard Hart Sinnreich, 2006-05-08 In today's military of rapid technological and strategic change obtaining a complete understanding of the present let alone the past is a formidable challenge Yet the very high rate of change today makes study of the past more important than ever before The Past as Prologue first published in 2006 explores the usefulness of the study of history for contemporary military strategists It illustrates the great importance of military history while simultaneously revealing the challenges of applying the past to the present Essays from authors of diverse backgrounds British and American civilian and military come together to present an overwhelming argument for the necessity of the study of the past by today's military leaders in spite of these challenges The essays of Part I examine the relationship between history and the military profession Those in Part II explore specific historical cases that show the repetitiveness of certain military problems

Revisiting the Twentieth Century Fred Metcalfe, 2001-03-22 Revisiting the Twentieth Century as the title suggests is a collection of the author's experiences from his childhood in St Paul Minnesota to those of him and his family before their move to New Jersey from North Carolina in 1955 The story covers amusing anecdotes he experienced in his student years in a variety of summer laboring jobs his early days with 3M in St Paul his bachelor life in New York the courtship of his wife their life in the High Point NC and his job as salesman and sales manager These anecdotes illustrate what life was like during this period which was marked by two shooting world wars a depression and the threat of nuclear destruction Against this background of international tumult a great transformation in lifestyle occurred in the United States At the beginning of the story no one in his neighborhood has a car or a radio Even the telephone and the record player were of recent origin Families or churches took care of relatives and the poor went to the poorhouse The work week was sixty hours and payment for over time was unheard of Unions were fighting to improve the working man's lot in life but were in their infancy Neighborhood interdependency disappeared as the automobile shrunk distances and people achieved greater mobility The change in lifestyle that occurred in this brief period seem somewhat unique in our history

Revisiting Robert Tressell's Mugsborough, Immigrants John Schissler Jr., 2017-09-20 War crimes do not end with the war Revisit this riveting memoir as told by a Croatian immigrant whose family became unwitting actors in the cruel theater of a postwar Europe and how they survived to tell their story In this compelling frame story the author intertwines his return to his ancestral home with his past in Croatia All the wonderful images and emotions which he experienced in 2015 stand in stark contrast to those years from 1943 to 1950 when he and his family embarked on a protracted journey fraught with danger disease and death in a war torn Europe The author's meaningful pilgrimage in 2015 not only reveals all the beauty and charm of Croatia but also reminds us of the need to take a renewed look at the issue of immigration and family After his return voyage the author brings home the affirmation and reminder that we are all immigrants that melting pot that makes us a stronger America Faithful Warriors Dean Ladd, 1993 Meet Joe Copper Matthew L. Basso, 2022-12-22 I realize that I am a soldier of production whose duties are as important in this war as those of the man behind the gun So began the pledge that many home front men took at the outset of World War II when they went to work in the factories fields and mines while their compatriots fought in the battlefields of Europe and on the bloody beaches of the Pacific The male experience of working and living in wartime America is rarely examined but the story of men like these provides a crucial counter narrative to the national story of Rosie the Riveter and GI Joe that dominates scholarly and popular discussions of World War II In Meet Joe Copper Matthew L Basso describes the formation of a powerful white working class masculine ideology in the decades prior to the war and shows how it thrived on the job in the community and through union politics Basso recalls for us the practices and beliefs of the first and second generation immigrant copper workers of Montana while advancing the historical conversation on gender class and the formation of a white ethnic racial identity Meet Joe Copper provides a context for our ideas of postwar masculinity and whiteness and finally returns the men of the home front to our reckoning of the Greatest Generation and the New Deal era
