Mythmaking and Metaphor in Black Women's Fiction Jacqeline de Weever, 1992-04-11 This original critical study examines the significance of mythology for contemporary black women writers It illustrates the narrative strategies used to elucidate themes of mythmaking in such writers as Alice Walker Toni Morrison Ntozake Shange Toni Cade Bambara and Paule Marshall She identifies the influences of different mythologies European African Black American and Native American on black women writers who have appropriated them and reveals the skill with which they have woven them into the worlds of their own experiences

Mother Imagery in the Novels of Afro-Caribbean Women Simone A. James Alexander, 2001 Focusing on specific texts by Jamaica Kincaid Maryse Conde and Paule Marshall this study explores the intricate trichotomous relationship between the mother biological or surrogate the motherlands Africa and the Caribbean and the mothercountry represented by England France and or North America The mother daughter relationships in the works discussed address the complex conflicting notions of motherhood that exist within this trichotomy Although mothering is usually socialized as a welcoming nurturing notion Alexander argues that alongside this nurturing notion there exists much conflict Specifically she argues that the mother daughter relationship plagued with ambivalence is often further conflicted by colonialism or colonial intervention from the other the colonial mothercountry Mother Imagery in the Novels of Afro Caribbean Women offers an overview of Caribbean women's writings from the 1990s focusing on the personal relationships these three authors have had with their mothers and or motherlands to highlight links despite social cultural geographical and political differences among Afro Caribbean women and their writings Alexander traces acts of resistance which facilitate the re writing righting of the literary canon and the conception of a newly

African American Servitude and Historical Imaginings M. Jordan, 2004-08-20 In African American Servitude and Historical Imaginings Margaret Jordan initiates a new way of looking at the African American presence in American literature Twentieth century retrospective fiction is the site for this compelling investigation about how African American servants and slaves have enormous utility as cultural artifacts objects to be acted upon agents in place or agents provocateurs Jordan argues that those who even those seemingly innocuous infrequently visible or silent servants are vehicles through which history culture and social values and practices are cultivated and perpetuated challenged and destabilized Jordan demonstrates how African American servants and servitude are strategically deployed and engaged in ways which encourage a rethinking of the past She examines the ideological underpinnings of retrospective fiction by writers who are clearly social theorists and philosophers Jordan contends that they do not read or misread history they imagine history as meditations on social realities and reconstruct the past as a way to confront the present The Fiction of Paule Marshall Dorothy Hamer Denniston, 1995 Introduction anatomy of an aesthetic the African cultural base 1 Challenging the American norm the gendered sensibility in the Valley between 2 Beyond bildungsroman constructions of gender and culture in Brown girl brownstones 3 Cultural expansion and masculine subjectivity Soul clap hands and sing 4 Maturation and multiplicity in consciousness the short stories 5 Changing the present order personal and political liberation in The chosen place the timeless people 6 Recognition and recovery diasporan connections in Praisesong for the widow 7 Transformation and re creation of female identity in Daughters Richard Wright Keneth Kinnamon, 2014-11-04 African American writer Richard Wright 1908 1960 was celebrated during the early 1940s for his searing autobiography Black Boy and fiction Native Son By 1947 he felt so unwelcome in his homeland that he exiled himself and his family in Paris But his writings changed American culture forever and today they are mainstays of literature and composition classes He and his works are also the subjects of numerous critical essays and commentaries by contemporary writers This volume presents a comprehensive annotated bibliography of those essays books and articles from 1983 through 2003 Arranged alphabetically by author within years are some 8 320 entries ranging from unpublished dissertations to book length studies of African American literature and literary criticism Also included as an appendix are addenda to the author's earlier bibliography covering the years from 1934 through 1982 This is the exhaustive reference for serious students of Richard Wright and his critics Beyond Portia Jacqueline St. Joan, Annette Bennington McElhiney, 1997 A resource to help judges lawyers scholars and students gain insight into the real lives of women whom the law purports to represent but whose self representations have historically been excluded from legal discourse The Luxury of Nationalist Despair A.J. Simoes da Silva, 2021-11-01 This book offers a timely critique of the work of the Barbadian novelist George Lamming examining the ways in which his novels exhibit the luxury of nationalist despair and exploring the tensions between his strongly voiced anti colonialism and his ambiguously articulated politics of self Although stressing the place occupied by Lamming and his work in the context of an anti colonial first generation of nation writing that has emerged in the formerly colonized world over the past half century the study also addresses the novelist s problematic reductive focus on a nationalist project that is ultimately deeply flawed in essence the result of an uneasy relationship between form and thesis Lamming s continued struggle with the novel as a genre especially with its ability to get beyond the cultural and political baggage of colonialism demonstrates the power of one of his most poignant assertions the colonial experience is a continuing psychic experience that has to be dealt with long after the actual situation formally ends Written from a postcolonial perspective the study draws also on contemporary feminist criticism in order to examine Lamming s characteristically simplistic depiction of female characters in terms of a greater willingness to embody the neocolonial The book starts by addressing the place Lamming s work occupies both within postcolonial writing at large and specifically within Caribbean literature Subsequent chapters provide close textual readings of Lamming s six novels paired in terms of their foregrounding of issues of race gender and class Despite a clear shift in Lamming s thematic focus on the rewriting of Caliban s project with his last novel offering a basis for a re imagining of the post colonial encounter there remains a perturbing inability to relinquish the privileged stance afforded the postcolonial intellectual in self imposed exile cultural much more than geographical The book represents an important contribution to criticism on the work of one of the most influential voices in postcolonial literature of the last fifty years Making Homes in the West/Indies Antonia Macdonald-Smythe, 2012-10-12 This study focuses on the ways in which two of the most prominent Caribbean women writers residing in the United States Michelle Cliff and Jamaica Kincaid have made themselves at home within Caribbean poetics even as their migration to the United States affords them participation and acceptance within its literary space
