Human Rights and the Arts in Global Asia Theodore W. Goossen, Anindo Hazra, 2014-10-23 This anthology of literary and dramatic works introduces writers from across Asia and the Asian diaspora The landscapes and time periods it describes are rich and varied a fishing village on the Padma River in Bangladesh in the early twentieth century the slums of prewar Tokyo Indonesia during the anti leftist purge of the 1960s and contemporary Tibet Even more varied are the voices these works bring to life which serve as testimony to the lives of those adversely impacted by poverty rapid social change political suppression and armed conflict In the end the works in this anthology convey an attitude of spiritual and communal survival and even of hope This anthology presents the complex dynamic between a diversity of Asian lives and the universalized concept of the individual human entitled to clearly specified rights It also asks us to think about what standards of analysis we should employ when considering a historical period in which universal human rights and civil liberties are considered secondary to the collective good as has so often been the case when nation states are undergoing revolutionary change waging war or championing so called Asian values This book s use of the term Global Asia reflects an interest in rethinking

Asia as more than an area determined by national borders and geography Rather this book portrays it as a space of movement and fluidity where societies and individuals respond not only to their local frames of reference but also to broader ideas and ideals Many of the works anthologized here are the subject of scholarly analysis in the companion volume Human Rights and the Arts Perspectives on Global Asia also published by Lexington Books Union Kimberly E.
