Quilt Culture Tracing The Pattern:

Quilt Culture Cheryl B. Torsney, Judy Elsley, 1994 As a blanket a commemorative covering and a work of art the quilt is a nearly universal cultural artifact In recent years it has been recognized as one of our most compelling symbols of cultural diversity and the power of women In this collection Cheryl B Torsney and Judy Elsley bring together eleven provocative essays on the quilt as metaphor in literature history politics and philosophy This interdisciplinary approach makes Quilt Culture an extraordinarily rich exploration of a cultural artifact whose meaning is far more complex than that of a simple bed covering Publishers website The Handbook of Textile Culture Janis Jefferies, Diana Wood Conroy, Hazel Clark, 2015-11-05 In recent years the study of textiles and culture has become a dynamic field of scholarship reflecting new global material and technological possibilities This is the first handbook of specially commissioned essays to provide a guide to the major strands of critical work around textiles past and present and to draw upon the work of artists and designers as well as researchers in textiles studies The handbook offers an authoritative and wide ranging guide to the topics issues and questions that are central to the study of textiles today it examines how material practices reflect cross cultural influences it explores textiles relationships to history memory place and social and technological change and considers their influence on fashion and design sustainable production craft architecture curation and contemporary textile art practice This illustrated volume will be essential reading for students and scholars involved in research on textiles and related subjects such as dress costume and fashion feminism and gender art and design and cultural history Cover image Anne Wilson To Cross Walking New York 2014 Site specific performance and sculpture at The Drawing Center NYC Thread cross research Photo Christie Carlson Anne Wilson Studio Amish Quilts Janneken Smucker, 2013-11-15 By thoroughly examining all of these aspects Amish Quilts is an essential resource for anyone interested in the history of these beautiful works Roderick Kiracofe author of The American Quilt A History of Cloth and Comfort 1750 1950 Journal of Amish and Plain Anabaptist Studies Writing History from the Margins Claire Parfait, Hélène Le Dantec-Lowry, Claire Bourhis-Mariotti, 2016-09-13 With contributions from leading American and European scholars this collection of original essays surveys the actors and the modes of writing history from the margins of society focusing specifically on African Americans Nearly 100 years after The Journal of Negro History was founded this book assesses the legacy of the African American historians mostly amateur historians initially who wrote the history of their community between the 1830s and World War II Subsequently the growth of the civil rights movement further changed historical paradigms and the place of African Americans and that of black writers in publishing and in the historical profession Through slavery and segregation self educated and formally educated Blacks wrote works of history often in order to inscribe African Americans within the main historical narrative of the nation with a two fold objective to make African Americans proud of their past and to enable them to fight against white prejudice Over the past decade historians have turned to the study of these pioneers but a number of issues remain to be considered This anthology will contribute to answering several key questions concerning who published these books and how were they distributed read and received Little has been written concerning what they reveal about the construction of professional history in the nineteenth century when examined in relation to other writings by Euro Americans working in an academic setting or as independent researchers

Embodying American Slavery in Contemporary Culture Lisa Woolfork,2010-10-01 This study explores contemporary novels films performances and reenactments that depict American slavery and its traumatic effects by invoking a time travel paradigm to produce a representational strategy of bodily epistemology Disrupting the prevailing view of traumatic knowledge that claims that traumatic events are irretrievable and accessible only through oblique reference these novels and films circumvent the notion of indirect reference by depicting a replaying of the past forcing present day protagonists to witness and participate in traumatic histories that for them are neither dead nor past Lisa Woolfork cogently analyzes how these works deploy a representational strategy that challenges the divide between past and present imparting to their recreations of American slavery a physical and emotional energy to counter America's apathetic or amnesiac attitude about the trauma of the slave past

Remembering the AIDS Quilt Charles E. Morris III,2011-06-01 A collaborative creation unlike any other the NAMES Project Foundation's AIDS Memorial Quilt has played an invaluable role in shattering the silence and stigma that surrounded the epidemic in the first years of its existence Designed by Cleve Jones the AIDS Quilt is the largest ongoing community arts project in the world Since its conception in 1987 the Quilt has transformed the cultural and political responses to AIDS in the U S Representative of both marginalized and mainstream peoples the Quilt contains crucial material and symbolic implications for mourning the dead and the treatment and prevention of AIDS However the project has raised numerous questions concerning memory activism identity ownership and nationalism as well as issues of sexuality race class and gender As thought provoking as the Quilt itself this diverse collection of essays by ten prominent rhetorical scholars provides a rich experience of the AIDS Quilt incorporating a variety of perspectives critiques and interpretations

Lives, Letters, and Quilts Vanessa Kraemer Sohan, 2019-12-10 How writers activists and artists without power resist dominant social cultural and political structures through the deployment of unconventional means and materials In Lives Letters and Quilts Women and Everyday Rhetorics of Resistance Vanessa Kraemer Sohan applies a translingual and transmodal framework informed by feminist rhetorical practice to three distinct case studies that demonstrate women using unique and effective rhetorical strategies in political religious and artistic contexts These case studies highlight a diverse set of actors uniquely situated by their race gender class or religion but who are nevertheless connected by their capacity to envision and recontextualize the seemingly ordinary means and materials available to them in order to effectively persuade others The Great Depression provides the backdrop for the first case study a movement whereby thousands of elderly citizens proselytized and fundraised for a monthly pension plan dreamt up by a California doctor in the hopes of lifting themselves out of poverty Sohan investigates how the Townsend Plan s elderly supporters the Townsendites worked within and across language genre mode and media to enable them for the first time to be recognized by others and themselves as a viable political constituency Next Sohan recounts the story of Quaker minister Eliza P Kirkbride Gurney who met President Abraham Lincoln in 1862 Their subsequent epistolary exchanges concerning conscientious objectors made such an impression on him that one of her letters was rumored to be in his pocket the night of his assassination Their exchanges and Gurney s own accounts of her transnational ministry in her memoir provide useful examples of how throughout history women rhetors have adopted and transformed typically underappreciated forms of rhetoric such as the epideictic for their particular purposes The final example focuses on the Gee s Bend quiltmakers a group of African American women living in rural Alabama who repurpose discarded work clothes and other cast off fabrics into the extraordinary quilts for which they are known By drawing on the means and materials at hand to create celebrated works of art in conditions of extreme poverty these women show how marginalized artisans can operate both within and outside the bounds of established aesthetic traditions and communicate the particulars of their experience across cultural and economic divides

Women Preaching Revolution Elaine J. Lawless, 2015-08-10 Do women preach differently than men In Women Preaching Revolution Elaine J Lawless contends that they do Drawing on her study of more than 150 sermons and extensive interviews with the clergywomen who preached them Lawless argues that women have changed traditional preaching in ways that reflect their socialization as women and their experiences of being female in America Many of the women in her study were expected to take courses on the art of preaching as part of their seminary training Most of them rejected the sermon structure and strategies they were taught in seminary viewing them as part of a male homiletic tradition and developed styles that celebrate their commitment to connection relationship and dialogue

Intimate Ephemera Anna Poletti,2008 Intimate Ephemera is the first major study of autobiographical writing produced and consumed in a youth subculture Investigating the uses of the zine form for life writing it examines the recurrent themes in texts circulating in Australian zine culture including depression consumerism popular culture and political identity Intimate Ephemera also examines zine culture as a unique community of life writing and reading where handmade texts circulate in an economy of gifting and exchange utilising the postal system The book analyses the material diversity of zines as handmade objects examining the use of the photocopier and craft techniques in these limited edition publications bringing a focus to the role of the text object in communicating personal experience

Girls, Boys, Books, Toys Beverly Lyon Clark,Margaret R. Higonnet,2000-10-24 No previous collection of criticism has focused on gender in the broad range of children s literature No previous collection has embraced both children s literature and material culture Beverly Lyon Clark and Margaret R Higonnet bring together twenty two scholars to look closely at the complexities of children s culture Girls Boys Books Toys asks questions about how the gender symbolism of children s culture is constructed and resisted What happens when women rewrite or illustrate nursery rhymes adventure stories and fairy tales told by men How do the socially scripted plots for boys and girls change through time and across cultures Have critics been blind to what women write about masculine topics Can animal tales or doll stories displace tired commonplaces about gender race and class Can different critical approaches new historicism narratology or postcolonialism enable us to gain leverage on the different implications of gender age race and class in our readings of children s books and children s culture

Texts and Textiles Diana Mary Eva Thomas,2017-03-07 This study shows how fiction that makes use of textiles as an essential element utilizes synaesthetic writing and synaesthetic metaphor to create an affective link to and response in the reader These links and responses are examined using affect theory from Silvan Tomkins and Brian Massumi and work on synaesthesia by Richard Cytowic Lawrence Marks and V S Ramachandran among others Synaesthetic writing including synaesthetic metaphors has been explored in poetry since the 1920s and more recently in fiction but these studies have been general in nature By narrowing the field of investigation to those novels that specifically employ three types of hand crafted textiles quilt making knitting and embroidery the book isolates how these textiles are used in fiction The combination of synaesthesia memory metaphor and particularly synaesthetic metaphor in fiction with textiles in the text of the case studies selected shows how these are used to create affect in readers enhancing their engagement in the story The work is framed within the context of the history of textile production and the use of textiles in fiction internationally but concentrates on Australian authors who have used textiles in their writing The decision to focus on Australian authors was taken in light of the quality and depth of the writing of textile fiction produced in Australia between 1980 and 2005 in the three categories of hand crafted textiles quilt making knitting and embroidery The texts chosen for intensive study are Kate Grenville s The Idea of Perfection 1999 quilting Marele Day s Lambs of God 1997 knitting and Anne Bartlett s Knitting 2005 knitting Jessica Anderson s Tirra Lirra by the River 1978 embroidery and Marion Halligan s Spider Cup 1990 embroidery Local/Global Janice Helland, 2017-07-05 Local Global
