China's New Underclass Xinying Hu, 2013-07-03 This book examines the implications of China s economic reforms for domestic work and domestic workers The author examines the factors that give rise to paid domestic work in a socialist economy and goes on to look at the need for social protection of domestic workers within cities in contemporary China Using a socialist feminist approach the book investigates how China s economic restructuring has deliberately crafted a domestic service sector from the top down Through the analysis of the situation of paid domestic labour it demonstrates how the changes in socialist ideology under a market economy have justified the state s support for paid domestic labour the large role of the state in these ideological changes and how domestic labour is related to economic changes and the market economy itself The book argues that state s economic reforms have changed gender and class relations in Chinese society Based on interviews with domestic workers their employers their social advocates and government officials this book examines the economic and social security of domestic workers and provides information about their precarious working conditions that could be improved through public policy It also explores women s agency and activism and the current role of NGOs and trade unions in labour protection      Gender, Migration, and the Work of Care Sonya Michel,Ito Peng,2017-08-21 This book explores how around the world women s increased presence in the labor force has reorganized the division of labor in households affecting different regions depending on their cultures economies and politics as well as the nature and size of their welfare states and the gendering of employment opportunities As one result the authors find women are increasingly migrating from the global south to become care workers in the global north This volume focuses on changing patterns of family and gender relations migration and care work in the countries surrounding the Pacific Rim a global epicenter of transnational care migration Using a multi scalar approach that addresses micro meso and macro levels chapters examine three domains care provisioning the supply of and demand for care work and the shaping and framing of care The analysis reveals that multiple forms of global inequalities are now playing out in the most intimate of spaces      Europeanization, Care and Gender H. Dahl,M. Keränen,A. Kovalainen,2011-10-04 This collection addresses the complexity of care arrangements in contemporary Europe developing new insights into debates about the care crisis gender equality the division of work and the reconciliation of care and work      Asian Canadian Studies Reader Roland Sintos Coloma,Gordon Pon,2017-06-16 Roland Sintos Coloma and Gordon Pon s Asian Canadian Studies Reader brings together essential writings by leading and emerging scholars in the field to explore the vibrancy of the diverse Asian diaspora in Canada The Reader is the perfect textbook for undergraduate courses in Race and Ethnic Studies Women and Gender Studies and Migration and Diaspora Studies The volume is organized into four main themes ethnic intersectional comparative and transnational encounters It critically engages topics regarding orientalism settler colonialism globalization and nationalism Each groundbreaking essay challenges our conventional understandings of diversity and multiculturalism by tackling the intricacies of racism and racialization By capturing the rich diversity within Asian Canadian communities Coloma and Pon dispel the perceptions of Asians as always immigrants newcomers or model minorities The Asian Canadian Studies Reader is the first interdisciplinary collection of essays intended for undergraduate use about Canada s largest racialized minority group      The African Diaspora in Canada Wisdom Tettey,Korbla P. Pupilampu,2005 This book addresses the conceptual difficulties and political contestations surrounding the applicability of the term African Canadian In the midst of this contested terrain the volume focuses on first generation Black Continental Africans who have immigrated to Canada in the last four decades and have traceable genealogical links to the continent      Human Rights and Migrant Domestic Work Maria Deanna P. Santos,2005-09-01 On a general level this research project concerns ways in which the domestic and international laws relating to the situation of migrant domestic workers MDWs are shaped by broader socio political and economic factors More specifically this dissertation examines the human rights situation of Filipina MDWs who participate in Canada s Live in Caregiver Program LCP It attempts to meet these objectives in part by undertaking a limited comparison of the situation of these Filipina MDWs and the Filipina MDWs in Hong Kong The comparison is meant to further test and validate the arguments and proposals presented in this dissertation regarding the socio legal status of Filipina MDWs under Canada's LCP. This is done through an analysis of existing data on Filipina MDWs and a consideration of the ways in which the relevant laws and policies in these two jurisdictions affect, create and/or perpetrate the status quo in this area of social life. The main explanatory theoretical framework that is deployed is the Third World Approaches to International Law (TWAIL) theory.

Gendering Struggles Against Informal and Precarious Work Rina Agarwala, Jennifer Jihye

Chun, 2018-12-10 This volume examines how gender shapes the varying and intersecting dynamics of informal precarious worker struggles in two gender-typed sectors: domestic work and construction. Drawing upon cases across the global North and South, it explores how gender is intertwined into collective organizing efforts, why gender is addressed, and to what end.

Working Feminism Geraldine Pratt, 2019-08-07 Working Feminism looks at key concepts and debates within feminist theory and puts them to work concretely in relation to the real problems faced by Filipina domestic workers and Asian youth in Canada. It draws to the fore the metaphorical and concrete geographies that lie implicit and underdeveloped within much feminist theory and suggests that a geographical imagination offers a means of reframing debates beyond polarised theoretical and political positions. Alternating between theoretical and empirical chapters, substantial and wide-ranging discussions of human rights, multiculturalism, transnationalism, and feminist politics are brought to earth and, by putting them into the context of individual predicaments to life. The empirical chapters build from a decade-long collaboration with an activist group, the Philippine Women's Centre in Vancouver, Canada. They demonstrate the fruits of a close and innovative engagement between poststructuralist feminist theory and participatory action research. The book demonstrates the immediate practicality of abstract debate and works away at divisions between culturalist and materialist theoretical and practical feminisms.

Migration in Performance Caleb Johnston, Geraldine Pratt, 2019-02-08 This book follows the travels of Nanay, a testimonial theatre play developed from research with migrant domestic workers in Canada, as it was recreated and restaged in different places around the globe. This work examines how Canadian migration policy is embedded across and within histories of colonialism in the Philippines and settler colonialism in Canada. Translations between scholarship and performance, and between Canada and the Philippines, became more uneasy as the play travelled internationally, raising pressing questions of how decolonial collaborations might take shape in practice. This book examines the strengths and limits of existing framings of Filipina migration and offers rich ideas of how care of children and elderly and each other might be rethought in radically new ways within less violently unequal relations that span different colonial histories and complex triangulations of racialised migrants, settlers, and Indigenous peoples. This book is a journey towards a new way of doing and performing research and theory. It is part of a growing interdisciplinary exchange between the performing arts and social sciences and will appeal to researchers and students within human geography and performance studies and those working on migration, colonialisms, documentary theatre, and social reproduction.
