Race Place A Legal History Of The Neig:

Race, Place, and the Law, 1836-1948 David Delaney, 2010-06-28 Black and white Americans have occupied separate spaces since the days of the big house and the quarters But the segregation and racialization of American society was not a natural phenomenon that just happened The decisions enacted into laws that kept the races apart and restricted blacks to less desirable places sprang from legal reasoning which argued that segregated spaces were right reasonable and preferable to other arrangements In this book David Delaney explores the historical intersections of race place and the law Drawing on court cases spanning more than a century he examines the moves and countermoves of attorneys and judges who participated in the geopolitics of slavery and emancipation in the development of Jim Crow segregation which effectively created apartheid laws in many cities and in debates over the doctrine of changed conditions which challenged the legality of restrictive covenants and private contracts designed to exclude people of color from white neighborhoods This historical investigation yields new insights into the patterns of segregation that persist in American society today School

Desegregation in Ten Communities United States Commission on Civil Rights, 1974 The Commission on Civil Rights conducted its current study of ten school districts during the late fall and winter of the 1972 73 school year The purpose of this study is to reexamine earlier findings and explore more deeply the dynamics of school desegregation and community reaction In brief the Commission found that one reason why many people are uneasy about desegregation is their fear that it will result in a poorer quality of education for their children It is necessary to prepare carefully and sensitively for desegregation The technical problems of achieving desegregation such as determining the most appropriate desegregation technique and dealing with the problems incident to increased busing have proven to be far less formidable than previously believed Many school officials in their concern to facilitate a successful transition to desegregation have tended to consider the needs and desires of the white community alone sometimes assuming that minority parents will welcome desegregation on almost any terms The way in which school officials civic leaders and the news media respond to disruptive incidents can serve either to preserve an atmosphere of calm or heighten tension even more There is a sharp contrast between the reaction of communities to their own experience in desegregation and their expressed feelings concerning desegregation as a general proposition Finally the effects of the controversy at the national level concerning busing and school desegregation have been felt in a number of communities visited by Commission staff Author JM A Long Day's Journey Into Light United States

 Americans moved westward they carried with them long held prejudices against people of color By the time they reached the West Coast their new settlements included African Americans and recent Asian immigrants as well as the indigenous inhabitants and descendants of earlier Spanish and Mexican settlers The Coveted Westside deals with the settlement and development of Los Angeles in the context of its multiracial multiethnic population especially African Americans Mandel exposes the enduring struggle between Whites determined to establish their hegemony and create residential heterogeneity in the growing city and people of color equally determined to obtain full access to the city and the opportunities including residential that it offered Not only does this book document the Black homeowners fight against housing discrimination it shares personal accounts of Blacks efforts to settle in the highly desirable Westside of Los Angeles Mandel explores the White derived social and legal mechanisms that created this segregated city and the African American led movement that challenged efforts to block access to fair housing Hearings United States. Congress. House. Committee on the
