(Re)Constructing Maternal Performance in Twentieth-Century American Drama L. Bailey McDaniel, 2013-09-04

Looking at a century of American theatre McDaniel investigates how race based notions of maternal performance become sites of resistance to cultural and political hierarchies This book considers how the construction of mothering as universally women s work obscures additional equally constructed subdivisions based in race and class The Wayward Woman Barbara Antoniazzi, 2014-06-18 The Wayward Woman takes a fresh look at the Progressive Era recasting the turn of the century debate on gender roles and prostitution Recapitulating and transcending extant studies of female delinquency prostitution literature and Progressive womanhood this work understands female waywardness as the critical intersection between the rise of female emancipation and the panic inspired by the period s obsession with sexual enslavement Concurrently it explores the Progressive ambivalence about compassion and control which unfolded alongside a war on prostitution that traversed the realms of law medicine literature and politics Drawing on theories of performativity the author develops the wayward woman as a capacious analytical category that encompasses all women who countering the residual injunction of domesticity brought new forms of femininity into the light of the public sphere the activist the professional and the divorcee but also the female breadwinner the charity girl and the urban woman of color among many others The book investigates the continuum of waywardness that stretches from the high minded New Woman to the ever victimized white slave as a cultural battlefield where numerous women stepped across the boundaries of class race and respectability to claim new public personas At the same time it reads the preoccupation with white slavery both as a symptom of and an antidote to this wave of change Through an innovating collection of sources which brings together sociological writings novels plays movies and legal documents the book rearticulates the tensions of the Progressive Era between gender roles blackness and whiteness reformers and reformed the citizens and the state The Wayward Woman will be of much interest to students and scholars in the fields of American studies women studies and performance studies Passing Judgments George Jean Nathan, 1970 George Jean Nathan 1882-1958 was formative influence on American letters in the first half of this century and is generally considered the leading drama critic of his era With H L Mencken Nathan edited The Smart Set and founded and edited The American Mercury journals that shaped opinion in the 1920s and 1930s This series of reprints individually introduced by the distinguished critic and novelist Charles Angoff collects Nathan's penetrating witty and sometimes cynical drama criticism American Women Writers, 1900-1945 Laurie Champion, 2000-09-30 Women writers have been traditionally excluded from literary canons and not until recently have scholars begun to rediscover or discover for the first time neglected women writers and their works This reference includes alphabetically arranged entries on 58 American women authors who wrote between 1900 and 1945 Each entry is written by an expert contributor and discusses a particular author's biography her major works and themes and the critical response to her writings The entries close with extensive primary and secondary bibliographies and the volume concludes with a list of works for further reading The period surveyed by this reference is rich and diverse Modernism and the Harlem Renaissance two major artistic movements occurred between 1900 and 1945 and the entries included here demonstrate the significant contributions women made to these movements The volume as a whole strives to reflect the diversity of American culture and includes entries for African American Native American Mexican American and Chinese American women It includes well known writers such as Willa Cather and Eudora Welty along with more neglected ones such as Anita Scott Coleman and Sui Sin Far
