Racial Subjects Writing On Race In America:

Racial Subjects David Theo Goldberg, 2016-02-04 Racial Subjects heralds the next wave of writing about race and moves discussions about race forward as few other books recently have. Arguing that racism is best understood as exclusionary relations of power rather than simply as hateful expressions, David Theo Goldberg analyzes contemporary expressions of race and racism. He engages political economy, culture, and everyday material life against a background analysis of profound demographic shifts and changing class formation and relations. Issues covered in Racial Subjects include the history of changing racial categories over the last two hundred years of U.S. census taking, multiculturalism, the experience of being racially mixed, the rise of new black public intellectuals, race and the law in the wake of the O.J. Simpson verdict, relations between blacks and Jews, and affirmative action.

Postcolonial Literature and the United States:

Race, Ethnicity, and Literature, Probing essays that examine critical issues surrounding the United States's ever-expanding international cultural identity in the postcolonial era. Download Plain Text version. At the beginning of the twenty-first century, we may be in a transnational moment increasingly aware of the ways in which local and national narratives in literature and elsewhere cannot be conceived apart from a radically new sense of shared human histories and global interdependence. To think transnationally about literature, history, and culture requires a study of the evolution of hybrid identities within nation-states and diasporic identities across national boundaries. Studies addressing issues of race, ethnicity, and empire in U.S. culture have provided some of the most innovative and controversial contributions to recent scholarship. Postcolonial Theory and the United States: Race, Ethnicity, and Literature represents a new chapter in the emerging dialogues about the importance of borders on a global scale. This book collects nineteen essays written in the 1990s in this emergent field by both well-established and up-and-coming scholars. Almost all the essays have been either especially written for this volume or revised for inclusion here. These essays are accessible, well-focused resources for college and university students and their teachers, displaying both historical depth and theoretical finesse as they attempt close and lively readings. The anthology includes more than one discussion of each literary tradition associated with major racial or ethnic communities. Such a gathering of diverse, complementary, and often competing viewpoints provides a good introduction to the cultural differences and commonalities that comprise the United States today. The volume opens with two essays by the editors: first, a survey of the ideas in the individual pieces; and second, a long essay that places current debates in U.S. ethnicity and race studies within both the history of American studies as a whole and recent developments in postcolonial theory. Amritjit Singh, a professor of English and African American studies at Rhode Island College, is coeditor of Conversations with Ralph Ellison and Conversations with Ishmael Reed, both from University Press of Mississippi. Peter Schmidt, a professor of English at Swarthmore College, is the author of The Heart of the Story: Eudora Welty's Short Fiction, University Press of Mississippi.

Race and Ethnicity Rodney D. Coates, 2004-01-01 This edited volume provides a critical re-appraisal of race and ethnicity through a multi disciplinary geographically varied and historically diverse set of lenses This approach allows for a resituation and recontextualization of our understanding of race ethnicity and the processes by which and through which they change International Perspectives on Racial and Ethnic Mixedness and Mixing Rosalind Edwards,2012

Contributors to this international and interdisciplinary collection interrogate notions of mixedness and mixing and challenge stereotypical assumptions They advance debates in the field through illuminating the complexity of specific historical trajectories administrative practices and lived experience The Columbian Covenant: Race and the Writing of American History James Carson,2014-12-18

This provocative analysis of American historiography argues that when scholars use modern racial language to articulate past histories of race and society they collapse different historical signs of skin color into a transhistorical and essentialist notion of race that implicates their work in the very racial categories they seek to transcend Theories of Race and Ethnicity Karim Murji,John Solomos,2014-12-31

How have research agendas on race and ethnic relations changed over the past two decades and what new developments have emerged Theories of Race and Ethnicity provides a comprehensive and cutting edge collection of theoretically grounded and empirically informed essays It covers a range of key issues in race and ethnicity studies such as genetics and race post race debates racial eliminativism and the legacy of Barack Obama and mixed race identities The contributions are by leading writers on a range of perspectives employed in studying ethnicity and race including critical race feminism critical rationalism psychoanalysis performativity whiteness studies and sexuality Written in an authoritative yet accessible style this volume is suitable for researchers and advanced students offering scholars a survey of the state of the art in the literature and students an overview of the field Race, Ethnicity and Education in Globalised Times Ruth Arber,2008-02-12

What is the specificity of contemporary racism And what happens to questions of race in a context where multiculturalism is taken for granted Few authors address these kinds of questions with subtlety For the most part questions of racism are treated either as self evident or alternatively as self evidenced The first approach accentuates everyday life and played out in media exposés is the tendency to treat racism as manifestly self evident We just know what racism is in principle and we just know what it looks like when we see it in practice Dualistic assumptions dominate this sense of identity relations persons are racist or they are not an act is racist or it is not However despite the obviousness of racism in contexts where different people have different seating arrangements on a bus or somebody says I am better than you because your skin colour is different this approach barely comes to terms with the depth of embodied politics and the elusiveness of structures of racism in the contemporary world

Critical Rhetorics of Race Michael G. Lacy,Kent A. Ono,2011 In this collection scholars seek to examine the complicated and contradictory terrain of the rhetorics of race while moving the field of communication in a more intellectually productive direction Nationalist Politics and Everyday Ethnicity in a Transylvanian Town Rogers Brubaker,Margit Feischmidt,Jon Fox,Liana Grancea,2018-06-05 Situated on the geographic margins of two nations yet imagined as central to each Transylvania has long been a site of nationalist struggles. Since the fall of communism these struggles have been particularly intense in Cluj Transylvania's cultural and political center. Yet heated nationalist rhetoric has evoked only muted popular response. The citizens of Cluj, the Romanian speaking majority and the Hungarian speaking minority have been largely indifferent to the nationalist claims made in their names. Based on seven years of field research, this book examines not only the sharply polarized fields of nationalist politics in Cluj Transylvania and the wider region but also the more fluid terrain on which ethnicity and nationhood are experienced, enacted and understood in everyday life. In doing so, the book addresses fundamental questions about ethnicity: where it is, when it matters and how it works. Bridging conventional divisions of academic labor, Rogers Brubaker and his collaborators employ perspectives seldom found together: historical and ethnographic, institutional and interactional, political and experiential. Further developing the argument of Brubaker's groundbreaking Ethnicity without Groups, the book demonstrates that it is ultimately in and through everyday experience as much as in political contestation or cultural articulation that ethnicity and nationhood are produced and reproduced as basic categories of social and political life.

Cultures of Colour Chris Horrocks, 2012. Colour permeates contemporary visual and material culture and affects our senses beyond the superficial encounter by infiltrating our perceptions and memories and becoming deeply rooted in thought processes that categorise and divide along culturally constructed lines. Colour exists as a cultural as well as psycho-physical phenomenon and acquires a multitude of meanings within differing historical and cultural contexts. The contributors examine how colour becomes imbued with specific symbolic and material meanings that tint our constructions of race, gender, ideal bodies, the relationship of the self to others and of the self to technology and the built environment. By highlighting the relationship of colour across media and material culture, this volume reveals the complex interplay of cultural connotations, discursive practices and socio-psychological dynamics of colour in an international context.

Racism, Policy and Politics Karim Murji, 2017-12-06. Race has been a prominent public policy issue in the UK for decades and there is growing interest in academia, but it is often caught in a repetitive cycle of progress and regress. This book analyses and bridges that gap by providing a unique insight into the relationship between race and ethnicity scholarship and the reality of real world policy and politics. Drawing on the author's academic work as well as his background working in public policy bodies, it goes beyond impact debates, public sociology, diversity and post-race to examine the changing context for researching race and racism, including media and policy debates and the ways in which institutional racism has played out in public policy settings since the Stephen Lawrence inquiry. Combining theory and applied policy analysis in an accessible way, it guides the reader through the cultural and political changes in race and racism in recent decades and identifies the challenges and opportunities for policy and politically engaged scholarship in future, clearly mapping the pitfalls and possibilities for critical work on race and racism.

Olson, Lynn Worsham, Henry A. Giroux, 2015-12-03 In the probing interviews in this vibrant new book eminent scholars struggle with some of the most crucial issues facing contemporary intellectuals Poststructuralist philosopher Judith Butler discusses the pain of rigorous intellectual work saying that it is necessarily extremely hard labor as she examines the intersection of discourse and political action Award winning filmmaker philosopher and social theorist David Theo Goldberg reviews his life's work especially on issues of racism Literary critic and feminist philosopher Avital Ronell sets out to disrupt the standard logic of signification to force readers into fresh ways of perceiving a subject at hand Postcolonial theorist Homi Bhabha discusses how critical literacy is intimately connected to the question of democratic representation and he elaborates on how cultural difference can lead to a politics of discrimination And neo Marxist cultural critic Slavoj Žižek takes readers on an exhilarating journey through a wide range of critical subjects Colorblindness, Post-racality, and Whiteness in the United States Sherrow O. Pinder, 2015-12-27 This book problematizes the ways in which the discourses of colorblindness and post raciality are articulated in the age of Obama Pinder debunks the myth that race does not matter and reconsiders the presumptive hegemony of whiteness through the dialectics of visibility and invisibility of race Ethnicity and the Mixed Marriage Crisis in Ezra 9-10 Katherine Southwood, 2012-03 A new way of understanding the intermarriage crisis described in Ezra 9-10 using insights from the modern anthropological treatment of the issues of ethnicity religious identity purity land kinship and migration in order to generate a more informed sophisticated understanding of the Ezra text Anxious Histories Jordana Silverstein, 2015-04-01 Over the last seventy years memories and narratives of the Holocaust have played a significant role in constructing Jewish communities The author explores one field where these narratives are disseminated Holocaust pedagogy in Jewish schools in Melbourne and New York Bringing together a diverse range of critical approaches including memory studies gender studies diaspora theory and settler colonial studies Anxious Histories complicates the stories being told about the Holocaust in these Jewish schools and their broader communities It demonstrates that an anxious thread runs throughout these historical narratives as the pedagogy negotiates feelings of simultaneous belonging and not belonging in the West and in Zionism In locating that anxiety the possibilities and the limitations of narrating histories of the Holocaust are opened up once again for analysis critique discussion and development

Colonial Proximities Renisa Mawani, 2010-01-01 Real and imagined encounters among Aboriginal peoples European colonists Chinese migrants and mixed race populations produced racial anxieties that underwrote crossracial contacts in the salmon canneries the illicit liquor trade and the white slavery scare in late nineteenth and early twentieth century British Columbia Colonial Proximities explores the legal and spatial strategies of rule deployed by Indian agents missionaries and legal authorities who aspired to restrict crossracial encounters By connecting genealogies of aboriginal European contact with those of Chinese migration this book reveals that territorial dispossession and Chinese exclusion were never distinct projects but two conjunctive processes in the making of the settler regime Drawing on archival documents and historical records Colonial Proximities historicizes current discussions of multiculturalism and pluralism in modern settler societies by revealing how crossracial interactions in one colonial contact zone inspired juridical racial truths and forms of governance that continue to linger in contemporary racial politics It is essential reading for students and practitioners of history anthropology sociology colonial postcolonial studies and critical race and legal studies

The Empire at Home James Trafford, 2020-12-20 Modern Britain is forged through the redeployment of structures that facilitated and legitimized slavery exploitation and extermination This is the empire at home and it is inseparable from the strategies of neo colonial extraction and oppression of subjects abroad Here James Trafford develops the notion of internal colonies arguing that methods and structures used in colonial rule are re deployed internally in contemporary Britain in order to recreate and solidify imperial power relations Using examples including housing segregation targeted surveillance and counter insurgency techniques used in the fight against terrorism Trafford reveals Britain's internal colonialism to be a reactive mechanism to retain British sovereignty As politics appears limited by nationalism and protectionism The Empire at Home issues a powerful challenge to contemporary politics demanding that Britain as an imperial structure must end
