The Tudor period remains a source of timeless fascination with endless novels TV programmes and films depicting the period in myriad ways And yet our image of the Tudor era remains overwhelmingly white This ground breaking and provocative new book seeks to redress the balance revealing not only how black presence in Tudor England was far greater than has previously been recognised but that Tudor conceptions of race were far more complex than we have been led to believe Onyeka Nubia's original research shows that Tudors from many walks of life regularly interacted with people of African descent both at home and abroad revealing a genuine pragmatism towards race and acceptance of difference Nubia also rejects the influence of the Curse of Ham myth on Tudor thinking persuasively arguing that many of the ideas associated with modern racism are in fact relatively recent developments England's Other Countrymen is a bravura and eloquent forgotten history of diversity and cultural exchange and casts a new light on our own attitudes towards race Not Out Of Africa Mary Lefkowitz, 2008-08-04 Not Out of Africa has sparked widespread debate over the teaching of revisionist history in schools and colleges Was Socrates black Did Aristotle steal his ideas from the library in Alexandria Do we owe the underlying tenets of our democratic civilisation to the Africans Mary Lefkowitz explains why politically motivated histories of the ancient world are being written and shows how Afrocentrist claims blatantly contradict the historical evidence Not Out of Africa is an important book that protects and argues for the necessity of historical truths and standards in cultural education For this new paperback edition Mary Lefkowitz has written an epilogue in which she responds to her critics and offers topics for further discussion She has also added supplementary notes a bibliography with suggestions for further reading and a glossary of names Afrocentrism Stephen Howe, 1999-08-17 For centuries racist colonial and Eurocentric bias has blocked or distorted knowledge of Africans their histories and cultures resulting in a counter mythology claiming the innate superiority of African descended peoples In this provocative study historian Stephen Howe challenges this Afrocentric rewriting of African history 16 photos Copyright Libri GmbH All rights reserved African Homecoming Katharina Schramm, 2016-06-16 African Americans and others in the African diaspora have increasingly come home to Africa to visit the sites at which their ancestors were enslaved and shipped In this nuanced analysis of homecoming Katharina Schramm analyzes how a shared rhetoric of the Pan African family is produced among African hosts and Diasporan returnees and at the same time contested in practice She examines the varying interpretations and appropriations of significant sites e.g the slave forts events e g Emancipation Day and discourses e g repatriation in Ghana to highlight these dynamics From this she develops her notions of diaspora home homecoming memory and identity that reflect the complexity and multiple reverberations of these cultural encounters beyond the sphere of roots tourism Black Routes to Islam M. Marable, 2009-08-03 Starting with 19th century narratives of African American travelers to the Holy Land the following chapters probe Islam s role in urban social movements music and popular culture relations between African Americans and Muslim immigrants and the racial politics of American Islam with the ongoing war in Iraq Geographies of Liberation Alex Lubin, 2014 Geographies of Liberation The Making of an Afro Arab Political Imaginary Transnationalism, 2009-05-20 This book deals with transnationalism and captures its singularity as a generalized phenomenon The profusion of transnational communities is a factor of fluidity in social orders and represents confrontations between contingencies and basic socio cultural drives It has created a new era different from the past at essential respects This is an age of enriching cultural diversity fraught with threatening risks inextricably linked to contemporary globalization National sovereignty is eroded from above by global processes from below by aspirations of sub national groups and from the sides by transnational allegiances This is the backdrop against which this book delves into the fundamental issues relating to the nature scope and overall significance of transnationalism Afrotopia Wilson Jeremiah Moses, 1998-09-13 A study of Afrocentrism since the eighteenth century with particular attention to popular mythologies African Americans and the Classics Margaret Malamud, 2019-01-24 A new wave of research in black classicism has emerged in the 21st century that explores the role played by the classics in the larger cultural traditions of black America Africa and the Caribbean Addressing a gap in this scholarship Margaret Malamud investigates why and how advocates for abolition and black civil rights both black and white deployed their knowledge of classical literature and history in their struggle for black liberty and equality in the United States African Americans boldly staked their own claims to the classical world they deployed texts ideas and images of ancient Greece Rome and Egypt in order to establish their authority in debates about slavery race politics and education A central argument of this book is that knowledge and deployment of Classics was a powerful weapon and tool for resistance as improbable as that might seem now when wielded by black and white activists committed to the abolition of slavery and the end of the social and economic oppression of free blacks The book significantly expands our understanding of both black history and classical reception in the United States America in the Middle East Patrick McGreevy, Prince Alwaleed Bin Talal Bin Abdulaziz Alsaud Center for American Studies and Research, 2006* Jews in Black Perspectives Joseph R.
