Flowers,1998 According to reports of the World Health Organization the prostitution of women and children is increasing dramatically throughout the world The problem is particularly acute in the lower socioeconomic sectors of the population including teen runaways drug addicts and victims of abuse This survey focuses first on defining prostitution and then on the motivations of those who became prostitutes In Part II the overall scope of the problem is examined along with the various subcultures e g street walkers and call girls and the prevalence of drugs crime and victimization Part III covers teenage prostitution and the issues of child sexual abuse Part IV details other dimensions of the sex trade industry such as pornography male prostitutes customers laws and the effects of decriminalization and legalization Female prostitution outside the United States is discussed in Part V The Bonds of Kinship in Dahomey Jessica Catherine Reuther,2025-01-07 From the 1720s to the 1940s parents in the kingdom and later colony of Dahomey now the Republic of Benin developed and sustained the common practice of girl fostering or entrusting Transferring their daughters at a young age into foster homes Dahomeans created complex relationships of mutual obligation kinship and caregiving that also exploited girls labor for the economic benefit of the women who acted as their social mothers Drawing upon oral tradition historic images and collective memories Jessica Reuther pieces together the fragmentary glimpses of girls lives contained in colonial archives within the framework of traditional understandings about entrustment Placing these girls and their social mothers at the center of history brings to light their core contributions to local and global political economies even as the Dahomean monarchy global trade and colonial courts reshaped girlhood norms and fostering practices Reuther reveals that the social economic and political changes wrought by the expansion of Dahomey in the eighteenth century the shift to legitimate trade in agricultural products in the nineteenth century and the imposition of French colonialism in the twentieth all fundamentally altered and were altered by the intimate practice of entrusting female children between households Dahomeans also valorized this process as a crucial component of being well raised a sentiment that continues into the present despite widespread Beninese opposition to modern day forms of child labor Association Monthly ,1918 Broadway Magazine ,1898
