Brown,1986 China's Marine Legal System and the Law of the Sea Keyuan Zou,2005-06-01 Being one of the largest coastal States in the world

China's marine legal system is significant in the overall development of the international law of the sea. This book focuses on the establishment and development of China's marine legal system in the context of the new law of the sea centered on the 1982 United Nations Convention on the Law of the Sea which China ratified in 1996. It consists of five parts concerning respectively a general survey of China's marine legal system, navigation and maritime security, marine resources management, marine environmental protection and marine scientific research. China's basic marine laws and regulations are discussed and assessed in detail throughout the book. The book is of interest to lawyers whether practicing or academic officials in national governments and international organizations and students and scholars in academia who are interested in international law, international relations and ocean affairs.

Sea-bed Energy and Mineral Resources and the Law of the Sea V. I the Areas Within National Jurisdiction E. D. Brown, 1984

Continental Shelf Delimitation and Related Maritime Issues in the Persian Gulf Ahmad Razavi, 2021-09-27. The most significant characteristic of the Persian Gulf is the presence of huge oil fields under the sea bed of its shallow waters. On the other hand, the lack of understanding among the littoral states concerning the proper exploitation of these valuable resources has led to many conflicts and is still considered as having a very high potential for conflict. This work clarifies the international legal rules applicable to the region with particular attention to the special characteristics of the Persian Gulf such as ethnic conflicts, lack of defined land borders, presence of numerous islands, reefs and shoals and the presence of transboundary oil deposits. It consists of a collection of materials relating to the law of the sea including both domestic and international rules, conventions, maritime agreements, state practice, the jurisprudence of the International Court of Justice and others. The study analyses all of these important factors in order to find an equitable solution to the problems facing the international community.
