Contraction: Baseball's Failed Attempt at Eliminating Two Teams Michael Grant, 2020-02-17 In the five year period from 1995 through 1999 revenues in baseball as a whole had doubled But the revenue growth was disproportionately higher among large market teams and teams that had recently opened new ballparks In baseball s salary cap less economic structure massive gaps in player payroll between high revenue and low revenue clubs resulted in competitive balance issues Major League Baseball Commissioner Bud Selig and the team owners decided after the 2001 season that the best way to combat this issue was to eliminate it s two lowest revenue clubs the Montreal Expos and the Minnesota Twins This strategy

wouldn't go as smoothly as baseball had anticipated. Poor planning from the outset coupled with a lawsuit in Minnesota and a three owner franchise swap between the Expos, Florida Marlins and Boston Red Sox orchestrated by Commissioner Selig doomed contraction. This is a story of greed and failure in one of North America's major sports leagues. The Case Eagle, 1919. Regulations United States. Office of Internal Revenue, 1919. These two themes of economics helping sports and sports helping economics provide the organizational structure to the two volume set. The reader will find that sports economists employ or comment on practically every field in economics. Labor Economics comes into play in the areas of salary formation, salary dispersion and discrimination. Baseball's history and the NCAA are studied with Industrial Organization and Antitrust. Public Finance and Contingent Value Modeling come into play in the study of stadium finance and franchise location. The Efficient Market Hypothesis is examined with data from gambling markets. Macroeconomic effects are studied with data from mega events like the Super Bowl, The World Cup and the Olympics. The limits of Econometrics are pushed and illustrated with superb data in many of the papers herein. Topics in Applied microeconomics like demand estimation and price discrimination are also covered in several of the included papers. Game Theory, measurement of production functions and measurement of managerial efficiency all come into play. Talented authors in each of these fields have made contributions to these volumes. The volumes are also rich from the point of view of the sports fan. Every major team sport is covered and many interesting comparisons can be made especially between the North American League organization and the European style promotion and relegation leagues.
