Humanity Jonathan Glover,2012-09-11 A study of history and morality in the twentieth century this text examines the psychology which made possible Hiroshima the Nazi genocide the Gulag the Chinese Cultural Revolution Pol Pot s Cambodia Rwanda and Bosnia Collected Poems Arthur Rimbaud,2009-02-26 This bilingual edition provides all of Rimbaud s poems with the exception of his Latin verses and some small fragments It also includes some of his prose pieces chosen because they offer a commentary on his poetic concerns Body Horror John Taylor,1998 Asks why anyone would want to look at shocking photographs The text questions what happens when the press uses gruesome images to represent accidents and disasters murder and execution grief and death It examines how the press pictures the dead and injured bodies of foreigners with particular reference to the special conditions of photographing the horror of wars in the Gulf Bosnia and Rwanda It argues that hard hitting documentary photography contributes to public knowledge and helps to define the freedom of the press A Month in the Country J.L. Carr,2012-08-29 A short spellbinding novel about a WWI veteran finding a way to re enter and fully embrace normal life while spending the summer in an idyllic English village In J L Carr s deeply charged poetic novel Tom Birkin a veteran of the Great War and a broken marriage arrives in the remote Yorkshire village of Oxgodby where he is to restore a recently discovered medieval mural in the local church Living in the bell tower surrounded by the resplendent countryside of high summer and laboring each day to uncover an anonymous painter s depiction of the apocalypse Birkin finds that he himself has been restored to a new and hopeful attachment to life But summer ends and with the work done Birkin must leave Now long after as he reflects on the passage of time and the power of art he finds in his memories some consolation for all that has been lost Bosnia and Beyond Jeanne M. Haskin,2006 Could we should we have prevented the break up of Yugoslavia Can genocide be prevented or halted The author examines the dire consequences of the rapid economic reforms demanded by the West and asks where responsibility lies when external pressures destroy a nation and lead to genocide Bosnia and Beyond The Quiet Revolution That Wouldn't Go Quietly is in part the story of how the West destroyed a country through the imposition of economic and political reform Promoted as a way to modernize Yugoslavia and bring it into the mainstream the program was in fact meant to bring down the Communist government in a quiet revolution of the type that was envisaged for other former Soviet bloc countries Showing how Western plans for the liberalization of the country resulted in ethnic polarization and the election of ethno nationalist leaders the book then goes on to describe the events of the war The struggle of the republics for independence was yet another proxy war which the West encouraged in order to chastise Milosevic and nudge him into becoming the man that they wanted him to be While no formal plan has surfaced to show that the whole thing was engineered to provide a base for US NATO troops on the other hand the situation was so egregious that intervention was highly sought and that the West had an obligation to clean up its mess which it finally did Many have been emotionally manipulated into being grateful for NATO intervention and then it was quite convenient that a NATO base existed But how does one say that intervention was needful and then point the finger at the intervening forces One can claim that Germany Austria and the Vatican were in favor of Croatian and Slovenian secession and the United States came late to the game to demand Bosnian independence It can also be claimed that Britain and France did not stand in the way of Serbian secession within Bosnia and Croatia but rather promoted their goals Yugoslavia was a case of secession within secession raising the question of who was supported by whom in either case The work considers the research and views of a wide range of scholars historians journalists and humanitarian writers such as Cohen and Reisman Udoviki and Ridgeway Eds Norman Cigar Laura Silber and Alan Little Danielle Sremac Michael Walzer Ed Vulliamy Peter Maas Samantha Power Peter du Preez Lawrence Freedman Hoffman Johansen and Sterba Ervin Staub and Thomas Mockaitis

Balkan Genocides Paul Mojzes, 2011-10-16 During the twentieth century the Balkan Peninsula was affected by three major waves of genocides and ethnic cleansings some of which are still being denied today In Balkan Genocides Paul Mojzes provides a balanced and detailed account of these events placing them in their proper historical context and debunking the common misrepresentations and misunderstandings of the genocides themselves. A native of Yugoslavia, Mojzes offers new insights into the Balkan genocides, including a look at the unique role of ethno-religiosity in these horrific events and a characterization of the first and second Balkan wars as mutual genocides. Mojzes also looks to the region's future, discussing the ongoing trials at the International Criminal Tribunal in Yugoslavia and the prospects for dealing with the lingering issues between Balkan nations and different religions. Balkan Genocides attempts to end the vicious cycle of revenge which has fueled such horrors in the past century by analyzing the terrible events and how they came to pass. The Muslim-Croat Civil War in Bosnia Charles R. Shrader, 2003. Although Shrader's work is a detailed, meticulous analysis by a neutral expert, not everyone will find his conclusions comfortable. But every serious student of the conflict in Bosnia will have to take his history into account. Enhanced by maps, useful appendices, and a glossary, this should become the standard work on military operations in Central Bosnia and a useful case study of internal warfare and ethnic conflict. Parallel Worlds Adele Logan Alexander, 2010. Chronicles the lives of William Henry Hunt and Ida Alexander Gibbs, describing the couple's 1904 wedding and discussing William's career in foreign services and Ida's activism against race and gender inequalities along with the hardships they faced due to their mixed race backgrounds. Military Review

, 1999. Altered Reading Jill Robbins, 1999-05-15. How might the ethical philosophy of the renowned French thinker Emmanuel Levinas relate to literature? Because his philosophy addresses the very opening of ethical experience, it cannot be applied readily as a critical method to literary texts. Yet Levinas's work, studied as it is with literary sources and quotations, demands a literary account. With an attitude at once respectful and interrogative, closely attentive to Levinas's texts while in dialogue with readings by Derrida, Blanchot, and Bataille, Altered Reading shows how the thread of the literary leads directly to the internal tensions of Levinas's ethical discourse. Jill Robbins provides a comprehensive critical account of Levinas's early and mature philosophy as well as later key transitional essays. In an invaluable appendix, she includes her own translation of an important, previously untranslated essay by Bataille on Levinas. Altered Reading will interest philosophers, literary critics, scholars of religion, and others drawn to Levinas's work. Seasons of a Woman's Life Lois

Evans, 2001-07-01. A woman's identity can become distorted by the many pressures she faces and the needs she uniquely fills. The frantic pace of life leaves many asking, "Will it always be like this?" Lois Evans answers reassuringly, "No." In Seasons of a Woman's Life, Mrs. Evans walks women through the many different seasons of life, encouraging them to hold fast to the promises of God. Through the life of Esther, she teaches women to designate and write about their own stones of remembrance throughout each season of life. Seven Seasons of Buffy Glenn Yeffeth, 2009-06-22. This collection of irreverent and surprising essays about the popular television series Buffy the Vampire Slayer includes pieces by leading science fiction and fantasy authors. Contributors include bestselling legend David Brin, critically acclaimed novelist Scott Westerfeld, cult favorite vampire author Chelsea Quinn Yarbro, and award winner Sarah Zettel. The show and its cast are the topics of such critical pieces as Lawrence Watt Evans's Matchmaking in Hellmouth and Sherrilyn Kenyon's The Search for Spike's Balls. An informed introduction for those not well acquainted with the show and a source of further research for Buffy buffs, this book raises interesting questions concerning a much loved program and future cult classic.
