My Tortured Conscience:

My Tortured Conscience Martin Weber, 1991-01-01 Sacrifice Alessandro Orsini, 2017-09-15 Alessandro Orsini is one of Italy's premier analysts of political extremism. His investigation of the beliefs and mind sets of Europe's political fringe has largely focused on anarchist and far left groups but in Sacrifice he turns his inquiry to the rapidly expanding neofascist movement. He joined local groups of a neofascist organization he names Sacrifice in two neighboring cities with very different political cultures. In this gripping insider book which features dialogues with various militia members Orsini shows how fascists live day to day how they understand their world and how they build a parallel universe in which the correctness and probity of their attitudes are clear. Orsini describes the long troubled process by which these two groups slowly accepted him as an investigator/activist and later expelled him for his ideologically uncommitted stance and refusal to subject his observations to censorship. His activities as a fascist were often mundane: leafleting, distributing food parcels to the indigent and attending public rallies. In Sacrifice Orsini describes from within the masculine ethos of the militias the groups' relations with local police and politicians and the central role of violence and anticommunist actions in building a sense of fascist community.

Small Boat Vincent Delecroix, 2025-05-07 November 2021 an inflatable dinghy carrying migrants from France to the UK capsizes in the Channel causing the deaths of 27 people on board. How and why did it happen? Despite receiving numerous calls for help the French authorities wrongly told the migrants they were in British waters and had to call the British authorities for help. By the time rescue vessels arrived on the scene all but two of the migrants had died. The narrator of Delecroix's fictional account of the events is the woman who took the calls. Accused of failing in her duty she refuses to be held more responsible than others for this disaster. Why should she be more responsible than the sea than the war than the crises behind these tragedies? A shocking moral tale of our times. Small Boat reminds us of the power of fiction to illuminate our darkest crimes.

Justice in the Making Beverly Wildung Harrison, 2004-01-01 Beverly Harrison has long fought for women and others at the margins challenging the subjugating ways in which women's intellectual contributions, their gifts of ministerial leadership and their reproductive capacity and sexual identity have been defined. This collection of essays and lectures presented over the course of her career demonstrates the progression of Harrison's contribution to the field of Christian ethics and the evolution of her thought in response to changing social realities.

Imagining Autism Sonya Freeman Loftis, 2015-12-01 A disorder that is only just beginning to find a place in disability studies and activism, autism remains in large part a mystery giving rise to both fear and fascination. Sonya Freeman Loftis's groundbreaking study examines literary representations of autism or autistic behavior to discover what impact they have had on cultural stereotypes, autistic culture and the identity politics of autism. Imagining Autism looks at fictional characters and an author or two widely understood as autistic ranging from Conan Doyle's Sherlock Holmes and Harper Lee's Boo Radley to Mark Haddon's boy detective Christopher Boone and Steig Larsson's Lisbeth Salander. The silent figure trapped inside himself, the savant made famous by his otherworldly intellect, the brilliant detective linked to the criminal mastermind by their common neurology: these characters become protean symbols that stand in for the chaotic forces of inspiration, contagion, and disorder. They are also part of the imagined lives of the autistic, argues Loftis, sometimes for good, sometimes threatening to undermine self-identity and the activism of the autistic community.

Staring at Medusa Natali Clarke, 2023-09-07 Emma Jarvie is your typical teenager: sure, she's an Iranian American immigrant living in Santa Ana, CA, a neighborhood becoming notorious for its growing violence. But like every teenage girl, she worries about boys, tries to keep her grades up in school, and shops for makeup with her best friend Julie. All right, so things aren't as they seem. So she doesn't have a father in the picture, and her mother is slowly losing a battle to something unseen. So her older sister says she'll be applying to a distant university, leaving Emma to take care of their mother alone. So she's turned to the streets to try and make something out of nothing from her riches to rags life. She can still handle this. But when she turns to Julie for support, she encounters Julie's seductive ex-boyfriend Joseph, and everything she's worked so hard to build starts crumbling apart. Danger is closer to her than ever, but with building frustration about her constant struggles at school and at home, she's willing to risk it all. Based on true events and infused with tenderness and dark humor, Staring at Medusa is a meditation on family and friendship, isolation and belonging, violence and care, as Emma navigates being a typical teenager against a backdrop of unique circumstances.
