Myth And Reality In The Rain Forest:

Myth and Reality in the Rain Forest John F. Oates, 1999 This book offers a timely clear headed and uniquely important contribution to conservation one that should be read by all bureaucrats scientists and others involved with development projects that supposedly benefit wildlife and wilderness George B Schaller author of Wildlife of the Tibetan Steppe

Entangled Edens Candace Slater, 2002 The skill with which Slater combines various levels and modalities of narrative utilizing her personal experience as a colorful unifying thread is truly remarkable Antonio Candido author of Antonio Candido On Literature and Society Howard S Becker editor A very important book that quite gracefully elegantly and persuasively moves beyond the usual myth and history format to put at its center stories about the Amazon and the people who tell them Entangled Edens persuasively argues that the Amazon can only be grasped understood and come to terms with through its myths and stories It addresses a very real failing of modern environmentalism which for all its virtues tends to dehumanize and metaphorically depopulate when it does not villainize populations that do share its concerns or share them in very different ways Instead of forcing us to choose between land and people Slater uses the stories and the people who tell them to rethink human relations with nature and each other Richard White author of The Organic Machine The Remaking of the Columbia River Elegant erudite profoundly serious Entangled Edens is a source of inspiration and knowledge for the reader interested in the Amazon Without the cultural tradition and the life experience of Amazonia s people any analysis of the Amazon risks becoming inconsequential or opportunistic This is one of the powerful messages of this important reflection on the Amazon whose greatest riches are ultimately its people Candace Slater has written a book that will last Milton Hatoum author of The Tree of the Seventh Heaven 1994 and The Brothers 2002

The Magic of an Irish Rainforest Eoghan Daltun, 2024-09-26 Magical images of Ireland s temperate rainforests meet with powerful nature writing on an astonishing journey into the wild from the award winning author of An Irish Atlantic Rainforest In 2023 environmentalist and rewilder Eoghan Daltun travelled the length and breadth of Ireland photographing areas of temperate rainforest in a bid to illustrate their beauty and immense ecological value and to document in almost all cases their state of decline The resulting collection of stunning images combined with deeply illuminating nature writing charts that exploration beginning with the author s own thriving wild rainforest Bofickil on the Beara Peninsula West Cork and taking us through the four provinces of Ireland places such as Killarney National Park Kerry The Gearagh Cork The Burren Clare Old Head Wood County Mayo Glenveagh National Park Donegal Correl Glen and Cladagh Glen County Fermanagh and Wicklow s beauty spot of Glendalough From close range to wide lens luscious forest imagery and landscapes are captured unimaginably rich in native flora and fauna offering us a deep insight into rare and priceless ecosystem fragments that we still have but are losing fast alongside a compelling treatise for how that could so easily be changed for the better

Rainforests of the World Kathlyn Gay, 2001-08-13 This authoritative volume examines the reasons for rainforest destruction the effects of deforestation on indigenous plant and animal life and

Alchemy in the Rain Forest Jerry K. Jacka, 2015-10-23 In Alchemy in the Rain Forest Jerry K Jacka explores how the indigenous population of Papua New Guinea s highlands struggle to create meaningful lives in the midst of extreme social conflict and environmental degradation Drawing on theories of political ecology place and ontology and using ethnographic environmental and historical data Jacka presents a multilayered examination of the impacts large scale commercial gold mining in the region has had on ecology and social relations Despite the deadly interclan violence and widespread pollution brought on by mining the uneven distribution of its financial benefits has led many Porgerans to call for further development This desire for increased mining Jacka points out counters popular portrayals of indigenous people as innate conservationists who defend the environment from international neoliberal development Jacka s examination of the ways Porgerans search for common ground between capitalist and indigenous ways of knowing and being points to the complexity and interconnectedness of land indigenous knowledge and the global economy in Porgera and beyond

Science and Conservation in African Forests Richard Wrangham, Elizabeth Ross, 2008-08-14 Forests need apes as much as the apes need the forests They are the gardeners of the forest keystone species in the ecology of African and Southeast Asian forests dispersing seeds creating light gaps and pruning branch tips whilst feeding Their habitat comprises two of the planet s three major tropical forest blocks that are essential for global climate regulation But the economic pressures that are destroying ape habitats are much greater than current available conservation finance This unique case study from the Kibale national park illustrates how biological research has had diverse consequences for conservation It examines effects on habitat management community relations ecotourism and training Lessons learned from this project over the last 20 years will inspire researchers and conservationists to work together to promote biodiversity through field projects

Nature and Nation Jeyamalar Kathirithamby-Wells, 2005-10-31 Nature and Nation explores the relations between people and forests in Peninsular Malaysia where the planet s richest terrestrial eco system met head on with the fastest pace of economic transformation experienced in the tropical world It engages the interplay of history culture science economics and politics to provide a holistic interpretation of the continuing relevance of forests to state and society in the moist tropics Malaysia has long been singled out for emulation by developing nations an accolade contradicted in recent years by concerns over its capital rather than poverty driven forest depletion The Malaysian case supports the call for re appraisal of entrenched prescriptions for development that go beyond material needs Book cover Against Extinction William Mark Adams, 2013

Conservation in the 21st century needs to be different and this book is a good indicator of why Bulletin of British Ecological Society
Against Extinction tells the history of wildlife conservation from its roots in the 19th century through the foundation of the Society for the Preservation of the Wild Fauna of the Empire in London in 1903 to the huge and diverse international movement of the present day It vividly portrays conservation's legacy of big game hunting the battles for the establishment of national parks the global importance of species conservation and debates over the sustainable use of and trade in wildlife Bill Adams addresses the big questions and ideas that have driven conservation for the last 100 years How can the diversity of life be maintained as human demands on the Earth expand seemingly without limit How can preservation be reconciled with human rights and the development needs of the poor Is conservation something that can be imposed by a knowledgeable elite or is it something that should emerge naturally from people's free choices These have never been easy questions and they are as important in the 21st century as at any time in the past The author takes us on a lively historical journey in search of the answers Rain Forest Myths and Reality Quarasan, 2004-04-01 Tropical Rainforests Eldredge
Birmingham, Christopher W. Dick, Craig Moritz, 2005-08 Synthesizing theoretical empirical analyses of the processes that help shape these unique ecosystems Tropical Rainforests looks at the effects of evolutionary histories past climate change ecological dynamics on the origin maintenance of tropical rainforest communities
