Myth And The Making Of Modernity Problem Of Grounding In Early Twentiethcentury Literature:

Myth and the Making of Modernity Michael Bell, Peter Poellner, 1998 The contributors to this collection of essays on the literary use of myth in the early twentieth century and its literary and philosophical precedents from romanticism onwards draw on a range of disciplines from anthropology comparative literature and literary criticism to philosophy and religious studies The underlying assumption is that modernist myth making does not retreat from modernity but projects a mode of being for the future which the past could serve to define Modernist myth is not an attempted recovery of an archaic form of life so much as a sophisticated self conscious equivalent Far from seeking a return to an earlier romantic valorizing of myth these essays show how the true interest of early twentieth century myth making lies in the consciousness affirmative as well as tragic of living in a human world which in so far as it must embody value can have no ultimate grounding Although myth may initially appear to be the archaic counterterm to modernity it is thus also the paradigm on which modernity has repeatedly reconstructed or come to understand its own life forms The very term myth by combining in its modern usage the rival meanings of a grounding narrative and a falsehood encapsulates a central problem of modernity how to live given what we know

Twentieth-Century Metapoetry and the Lyric Tradition Daniella Jancsó, 2019-02-19 Twentieth Century Metapoetry and the Lyric Tradition reveals the unique value of metapoems for exploring twentieth century poetry By placing these texts into a hitherto barely investigated literary historical perspective it demonstrates that modern metapoetry is steeped in the lyric tradition to a much greater extent than previously acknowledged Since these literary continuities that cut across epochal boundaries can be traced across all major poetic movements they challenge established accounts of the history of twentieth century poetry that postulate a radical break with the immediate past Moreover the finding that metapoems perpetuate traditional forms and topoi distinguishes metapoetry historically and systematically from metafiction and metadrama After highlighting the most important differences as regards to the function of metareference in poetry on the one side and in fiction and drama on the other the book concludes with a discussion of how to account for these generic differences theoretically With its extraordinarily subtle and perceptive Ronald Bush St John s College Oxford interpretive readings of over one hundred metapoems by canonical anglophone authors it offers the first representative selection of twentieth century poems about poetry in English

Myth in the Modern Novel Liisa Steinby, 2023-03-20 Myth in the Modern Novel Imagining the Absolute posits a twofold thesis First although Modernity is regarded as an era dominated by science and rational thought it has in fact not relinquished the hold of myth a more primitive form of thought which is difficult to reconcile with modern rationality Second some of the most important statements as to the reconcilability of myth and Modernity are found in the work of certain prominent novelists This book offers a close examination of the work of eleven writers from the late eighteenth century to the beginning of the twenty first representing German French American Czech and Swedish literature The analyses of individual novels reveal a variety of intriguing views of myth in Modernity and offer an insight into the modernizing transformations myth has undergone when applied in the modern novel The study shows the presence of the subconscious the mythic layer in modern western culture and how this has been dealt with in novelistic literature
