Rabbi Schneur Zalman Of Liadi Volume 1:

Communicating the Infinite Naftali Loewenthal, 1990-05-31 At the end of the eighteenth century the hasidic movement was facing an internal crisis to what extent should the teachings of Baal Shem Tov and Maggid of Mezritch with their implicit spiritual demands be transmitted to the rank and file of the movement Previously these teachings had been reserved for a small elite It was at this point that the Habad school emerged with a communication ethos encouraging the transmission of esoteric to the broad reaches of the Jewish world Communicating the Infinite explores the first two generations of the Habad school under R Shneur Zalman of Liadi and his son R Dov Ber and examines its early opponents Beginning with the different levels of communication in the teachings of the Baal Shem Tov and the Maggid and his disciples Naftali Loewenthal traces the unfolding of the dialectic between the urge to transmit esoteric ideas and a powerful inner restraint Gradually R Shneur Zalman came to the fore as the prime exponent of the communication ethos Loewenthal follows the development of his discourses up to the time of his death when R Dov Ber and R Aaron Halevi Horowitz formed their respective Lubavitch and Staroselye schools The author continues with a detailed examination of the teachings of R Dov Ber an inspired mystic Central in his thought was the esoteric concept of self abnegation bitul yet this combined with the quest to communicate hasidic teachings to every level of society including women From the late eighteenth century onwards the main problem for the Jewish world was posed by the fall of the walls of the social and political ghetto Generally the response was either to secularize or abandon altogether traditional Judaism or to retreat from the threatening modern world into enclave religiosity by stressing communication the Habad school opened the way for a middle range response that was neither a retreat into elitism nor an abandonment of tradition Based on years of research from Hebrew and Yiddish primary source materials Communicating the Infinite is a work of importance not only to specialists of Judaic studies but also to historians and sociologists

the stages of its manifestation its characteristics its perfection its differing wills its processes the significance of its revelation and the possibilities of its perception This conception generated a profound transformation of religious worship and was the cause of great controversy throughout the Jewish world Reincarnation and Judaism DovBer

Jewish Suffering; Opposing View & the Messianic Age, A Historic Analysis Kalman Dubov,2024-10-23 Napoleon the French Emperor invaded Czarist Russia in the Franco Russian War of 1812 The war ended in defeat for the French with the Russians referring to this as the Patriotic War emerged victorious Napoleon was in the process of liberating Jews from their enforced living in European ghettos intending to emancipate and integrate them into modern French society Emancipation of the Jews was a key byword and many Jews hailed Napoleon as their benefactor and savior To achieve fullest integration Napoleon created a modern version of the Jewish Supreme Court the Great Sanhedrin to answer questions regarding Jewish belief laws and their ability as well as intention to integrate into modern society The head of the Sanhedrin was Rabbi David Sinzheim Chief Rabbi of Strasbourg France However opposed to French emancipation of the Jewish community was the first Chassidic leader the Rebbe of Chabad Rabbi Shneur Zalman of Liadi He was so opposed to French emancipation efforts that he directed a member of his community a man with multi lingual talents to offer his services as a translator of documents In reality however he acted as a spy and passed French military plans to the Russians We are aware of this clandestine effort by way of a letter Rabbi Shneur Zalman wrote to the spy explaining his rationale for acting this way The rabbi felt that emancipation would reduce Jewish reliance on religious devotion and prayer while emancipation would provide material benefit with a consequent loss of piety and religious adherence The letter from the Rabbi adds a dimension of thinking why he was so opposed to Napoleonic success At the time this was taking place Jews were subjects of the Czarist Empire mandated to live in the Pale of Settlement a region rife with anti-Semitism pogroms penury and poverty But such living conditions the rabbi felt was preferable to emancipation Hence this strange policy was applied even to Jews who were not Chassidic not members of this sect or community After the Second World War Chabad changed dramatically No longer could the policy of their first Rebbe be imposed on Jews Because of the massive anti-Semitism exhibited by the Nazis and their many willing allies who assisted them in murdering Jews the notion of living under Christian or Muslim domination was no longer viable The last Chabad Rebbe instead introduced a Messianic message praying for and encouraging others to work towards the arrival of the Messiah This book describes Jewish suffering both in the period when Rabbi Shneur Zalman was alive as well as in the long term particularly in the last millennia when Jews faced great persecutions and no less than 48 separate expulsions This volume questions the logic of Jewish suffering as a necessary prerequisite for Jewish belief and practice to be viable This policy offers the pertinent study of the period when the question of Jewish suffering was deemed key to Judaism but while enormous anti-Semitism was present Yet after the Second World War an entirely new reality was introduced for Jewish survival

Inner Rhythms DovBer Pinson, 2000-06-30 What is Jewish Music What makes a song sound Jewish What is the place of music in Jewish history and philosophy The author writes What is known to us as Jewish music is actually a compilation of styles and rhythms gathered over centuries and obtained in various manners and from countless sources However musicologists the world over agree that the purity of the Jewish song has always been retained The quality which makes it uniquely Jewish regardless of the influence on it has remained untouched and clearly identifiable What is this quality What is it that makes a song sound Jewish It is a note of longing of a child yearning to unite with his parent a nation pining for its homeland and lost temple a soul in this world remembering the holiness above and longing to reunite Each song resonates with the entirety of the Jewish experience the devastations and victories the separations and reunifications and above all the constant bound with the eternal The study of Jewish music is vast and requires volumes to contain it There are many who have analyzed its unique qualities and have written extensively on it Their examination of music is essentially a lesson in history another means of glimpsing a rich and diverse past There is yet another way to examine a song and that is to view it as an eternal message as relevant today as it was hundreds of years ago at the time of its composition Each song tells its own story in the heart of the one who sings it It evokes a unique response in each listener A tune can touch a soul in a way no words ever could The study of music as response is what I aim to portray in this work Music can be used in a myriad of ways in our everyday lives

Especially today with all of the gadgets that can convey music we are bombarded by sound Just by taking a long walk a person changes zones of melodies beats and compositions of various types Our bodies seem to vibrate to uninvited songs and noises that permeate the air around us But invited

Colors of Veracity Vera Schwarcz, 2014-09-03 In Colors of Veracity Vera Schwarcz condenses four decades of teaching and scholarship about China to raise fundamental questions about the nature of truth and history In clear and vivid prose she addresses contemporary moral dilemmas with a highly personal sense of ethics and aesthetics Drawing on classical sources in Hebrew and Chinese as well as several Greek and Japanese texts Schwarcz brings deep and varied cultural references to bear on the question of truth and falsehood in human consciousness An attentiveness to connotations and nuance is apparent throughout her work which redefines both the Jewish understanding of emet a notion of truth that encompasses authenticity and the Chinese commitment to zhen a vision of the real that comprises the innermost sincerity of the seeker's heart mind Works of art from contemporary calligraphy and installations to fake Chinese characters and a Jewish menorah from Roman times shed light on the historian's task of giving voice to the dread filled past Following in the footsteps of literary scholar Geoffrey Hartman Schwarcz expands on the Philomela Project which calls on historians to find new ways of conveying truth especially when political authorities are bent on enforcing amnesia of past traumatic events Truth matters even if it cannot be mapped in its totality Veracity is shown again and again to be neither black nor white Schwarcz's accomplishment is a subtle depiction of fractured luminosity which inspires and sustains the moral conviction of those who pursue truth against all odds
