Race, Work, and Desire in American Literature, 1860-1930 Michele Birnbaum, Michele Elam, 2003-11-20 Table of contents

Political Prayer in Nineteenth-Century American Literature Amy Dunham Strand, 2024-09-30 Political Prayer in Nineteenth Century American Literature explores how American women writers such as Catharine Maria Sedgwick Harriet Beecher Stowe Rebecca Harding Davis and Emily Dickinson translated petitioning a political form for redress of grievances with religious resonance or what Strand calls political prayer in their literary works At a time when petitioning was historically transforming governments mobilizing masses and democratizing North America these White women writers wrote literary petitions to advocate for others in social justice causes such as antiremoval antislavery and labor reform to transform American literature and culture and to articulate an ambivalent political agency Political Prayer in Nineteenth Century American Literature introduces historic petitioning into literary study as an overlooked but important new lens for reading nineteenth century fiction and poetry Understanding petitions in these literary works and these literary works as petitions also helps us to understand women's political agency before their enfranchisement to explain why scholars have long debated and inconsistently interpreted the works of well anthologized women writers and to see more clearly the multidimensional coexisting and often competing religious and political aspects of their writings

Race in American Literature and Culture John Ernest, 2022-06-16 Exploring the unsteady foundations of American literary history Race in American Literature and Culture examines the hardening of racial fault lines throughout the nineteenth century and into the twentieth while considering aspects of the literary and interrelated traditions that emerged from this fractured cultural

Douglass's Black political philosophy aimed to rectify two major failings of US democracy in his time and ours: its complacency and its racism

Political Religion Beyond Totalitarianism J. Augusteijn, P. Dassen, M. Janse, 2013-01-29 The success of fascist and communist regimes has long been explained by their ability to turn political ideology into a type of religion. These innovative essays explore the notion that all forms of modern mass politics including democracies need a form of sacralization to function

On Leaving Branka Arsić, 2010-04-15 Arsić unpacks Ralph Waldo Emerson's repeated assertion that our reality and our minds are in constant flux. Her readings of a broad range of Emerson's writings are guided by a central question: what does it really mean to maintain that everything fluctuates, is relational, and so changes its identity?

Novel Judgements William P. MacNeil, 2011-09-08 Novel Judgements addresses the ways in which jurisprudential ideas and themes are embedded and explored within nineteenth-century Anglo-American prose fiction

Fugitive Thought Michael Roy Hames-Garcia, 2004 In Fugitive Thought, Michael Hames-Garcia argues that writings by prisoners are instances of practical social theory that seek to transform the world. Unlike other authors who have studied prisons or legal theory, Hames-Garcia views prisoners as political and social thinkers whose ideas are as important as those of lawyers and philosophers. As key moral terms like justice, solidarity, and freedom have come under suspicion in the post-Civil Rights era, political discussions on the Left have reached an impasse. Fugitive Thought reexamines and reinvigorates these concepts through a fresh approach to philosophies of justice and freedom, combining the study of legal theory and of prison literature to show how the critiques and moral visions of dissidents and participants in prison movements can contribute to the shaping and realization of workable ethical conceptions. Fugitive Thought focuses on writings by black and Latina/o lawyers and prisoners to flesh out the philosophical underpinnings of ethical claims within legal theory and prison activism. Michael Hames-Garcia is assistant professor of English and of philosophy interpretation and culture at Binghamton University, State University of New York

The Cambridge Companion to Frederick Douglass Maurice S. Lee, 2009-06-11 An engaging and informative overview of the life and works of Frederick Douglass

Emerson in Context Wesley Mott, 2014 This collection explores the many intellectual and social contexts in which Emerson lived, thought, and wrote

Melville and the Idea of Blackness Christopher Freeburg, 2012-08-27 Freeburg analyzes how Melville grapples with realities of racial difference in nineteenth-century America by examining blackness in Melville's fiction

Law and Literature Reconsidered Austin Sarat, 2008-02-29 Once hailed as a promising new way to think about law and as opening a vital conversation about literature, the question is whether the law and literature enterprise has lived up to its initial promise. This is a contemporary study of law and literature. It includes contributions by an international group of leading scholars.
