backdrop of the Caribbean's central role for the accumulation of wealth of European and North American actors and the respective dialectics of modernity/coloniality through a variety of experiences inducing migration/transnational exchange and transculturation. Contributors approach the Caribbean as an empowered space of opposition and agency and focus on perspectives of the region as a place of entanglements with a long history of political and cultural practices of resistance to colonization/inequality/heteronomy/purity/invisibilization and exploitation. An important contribution to the literature on agency and resistance in the Caribbean, this volume offers a new perspective on the region as a geopolitically/economically and culturally crucial space and it will interest researchers in the fields of Caribbean politics/literature and heritage/colonialism/entangled histories/global studies/perspectives/ethnicity/gender and migration.

Critical Race Consciousness
 Gary Peller, 2015-10-23. Despite the apparent racial progress reflected in Obama's election, the African American community in the United States is in a deep crisis on many fronts: economic, intellectual, cultural, and spiritual. This book sets out to trace the ideological roots of this crisis. Challenging the conventional historical narrative of race in America, Peller contends that the structure of contemporary racial discourse was set in the confrontation between liberal integrationism and black nationalism during the 1960s and 1970s. Arguing that the ideology of integration that emerged was highly conservative, apologetic, and harmful to the African American community, this book is sure to provide a new lens for studying and learning from American race relations in the twentieth century.

Nationalism and African Intellectuals
 Toyin Falola, 2004. An examination of the attempt by Western-educated African intellectuals to create a better Africa through connecting nationalism to knowledge from the anti-colonial movement to the present day. This book is about how African intellectuals influenced primarily by nationalism have addressed the inter-related issues of power, identity, politics, self-assertion, and autonomy for themselves and their continent from the mid-nineteenth century onward. Their major goal was to create a better Africa by connecting nationalism to knowledge. The results have been mixed from the glorious euphoria of the success of anti-colonial movements to the depressing circumstances of the African condition as we enter a new millennium. As the intellectual elite is a creation of the Western formal school system, the ideas it generated are also connected to the larger world of scholarship. This world is in turn shaped by European contacts with Africa from the fifteenth century onward, the politics of the Cold War, and the subsequent collapse of the Soviet Union. In essence, Africa and its elite cannot be fully understood without also considering the West and changing global politics. Neither can the academic and media contributions by non-Africans be ignored as these also affect the ways that Africans think about themselves and their continent.

Nationalism and African Intellectuals examines intellectuals' ambivalent relationships with the colonial apparatus and subsequent nation-state formations, the contradictions manifested within pan-Africanism and nationalism, and the relation of academic institutions and intellectual production to the state during the nationalism period and beyond. Toyin Falola is the Jacob and Frances Sanger Mossiker Chair in the Humanities and University Distinguished Teaching Professor at the University of Texas at Austin.

and African Intellectuals The Dutch Atlantic Kwame Nimako, Glenn Willemsen, 2011-09-12 This book interrogates the Dutch involvement in Atlantic slavery and assesses the historical consequences of this for contemporary European society Kwame Nimako and Glenn Willemsen show how the slave trade and slavery intertwined economic social and cultural elements including nation state formation in the Netherlands and across Europe They explore the mobilisation of European populations in the implementation of policies that facilitated Atlantic slavery and examine how European countries created and expanded laws that perpetuated colonisation Addressing key themes such as the incorporation of the formerly enslaved into post slavery states and contemporary collective efforts to forget and or remember slavery and its legacy in the Netherlands this is an essential text for students of European history and postcolonial studies Slave Revolt on Screen
