Class, Race, and Inequality in South Africa Jeremy Seekings, Nicoli Nattrass, 2008-10-01 The distribution of incomes in South Africa in 2004 ten years after the transition to democracy was probably more unequal than it had been under apartheid In this book Jeremy Seekings and Nicoli Nattrass explain why this is so offering a detailed and comprehensive analysis of inequality in South Africa from the midtwentieth century to the early twenty first century They show that the basis of inequality shifted in the last decades of the twentieth century from race to class Formal deracialization of public policy did not reduce the actual disadvantages experienced by the poor nor the advantages of the rich The fundamental continuity in patterns of advantage and disadvantage resulted from underlying continuities in public policy or what Seekings and Nattrass call the distributional regime The post apartheid distributional regime continues to divide South Africans into insiders and outsiders The insiders now increasingly multiracial enjoy good access to well paid skilled jobs the outsiders lack skills and employment

South African Urban Change Three Decades After Apartheid Anthony Lemon, Ronnie Donaldson, Gustav Visser, 2021-06-10 This book provides an analysis of South African urban change over the past three decades It draws on a seminal text Homes Apart and revisits conclusions drawn in that collection that marked the final phases of urban apartheid It highlights changes in demography social as well as economic structure and their differential spatial expression across a range of urban sites in South Africa The evidence presented in this book points to a very complex set of narratives in urban South Africa and one that cannot be reduced to a singular statement so the conclusions of the various investigations are in many ways open As urban apartheid represented one clear outcome its post apartheid urban legacies varies greatly from city to city As such this book is a great resource to students and academics focused on urban change in South African cities since the demise of apartheid and scholars of urban policy making in South Africa and Southern urbanists generally

Apartheid, 1948-1994 Saul Dubow, 2014-05-23 This new study offers a fresh interpretation of apartheid South Africa Emerging out of the author's long standing interests in the history of racial segregation and drawing on a great deal of new scholarship archival collections and personal memoirs he situates apartheid in global as well as local contexts The overall conception of Apartheid 1948 1994 is to integrate studies of resistance with the analysis of power paying attention to the importance of ideas institutions and culture Saul Dubow refamiliarises and defamiliarise apartheid so as to approach South Africa's white supremacist past from unlikely perspectives He asks not only why apartheid was defeated but how it survived so long He neither presumes the rise of apartheid nor its demise This synoptic reinterpretation is designed to introduce students to apartheid and to generate new questions for experts in the field

Atlas of Changing South Africa A.J. Christopher,2002-01-04 The new edition of the atlas first published as The Atlas of Apartheid presents a comprehensive introduction and detailed analysis of the spatial impact of apartheid in South Africa It covers the period of the National Party Government of 1948 to 1994 and emphasises the changes and the continuing legacy this presents to South Africans at the start of the 21st century The Atlas makes the unique contribution of presenting the policy and its impact in visual spatial forms by including over 70 maps a highly appropriate method considering that apartheid was about the control of space and specific places

African Urban Economies D. Bryceson,D. Potts,2005-12-16 Are Africa s most populous and economically dominant cities a force to reckon with in the twenty first century This book analyzes the economies of East and Southern Africa s apex cities probing how they have altered structurally over time and their current sources of economic vitality and vulnerability at local national and international levels Case study chapters focusing on Johannesburg Chitungwiza Gaborone Maputo Dar es Salaam Mombasa Nairobi Kampala and Mogadishu shed new light on contemporary African urban prospects and problems

The Freedom Movement's Lost Legacy Keith P. Griffler,2023-06-06 In the century after emancipation the long shadow of slavery left African Americans well short of the freedom promised to them While sharecropping and debt peonage entrapped Black people in the South European colonialism had bred a new slavery that menaced the liberty of even more Africans A core group of Black freedom movement leaders including Ida B Wells and W E B Du Bois followed their nineteenth century predecessors in insisting that the continuation of racial slavery anywhere put Black freedom on the line everywhere They even predicted the consequences that ignited the recent nationwide Black Lives Matter movement the rise of a prison industrial complex and the consequent erosion of African Americans faith in the criminal justice system The Freedom Movement s Lost Legacy Black Abolitionism since Emancipation is the first historical account of the Black freedom movement s response to modern slavery in the twentieth century Keith P Griffler details how the mainstream international antislavery movement became complicit in the enslavement of Black and brown people across the world through its sponsorship of racist international antislavery law that gave the new slavery explicit legal sanction Black freedom movement activists thinkers and organizers did more than call out this breathtaking betrayal of abolitionist principles they dedicated themselves to the eradication of slavery in whatever forms it assumed on the global stage and developed an expansive vision of human freedom This timely and important work reminds us that the resurgence of today s Black freedom movements is a manifestation and continuation of the traditions and efforts of these early Black leaders and abolitionists an important chapter in the history of antislavery and the ongoing Black freedom struggle

Building a Capable State Ian Palmer,Nishendra Moodley,Susan Parnell,2017-11-15 The sustainable development goals signed in 2016 marked a new phase in global development thinking one which is focused on ecologically and fiscally sustainable human settlements Few countries offer a better testing ground for their attainment than post apartheid South Africa Since the coming to power of the African National Congress the country has undergone a policy making revolution driven by an urgent need to improve access to services for the country's black majority A quarter century on from the fall of apartheid Building a Capable State asks what lessons can be learned from the South African experience The book assesses whether the South African government has succeeded in improving service delivery focusing on the vital sectors of water and sanitation energy roads public transport and housing Emphasizing the often overlooked role of local government institutions and finance the book demonstrates that effective service delivery can have a profound impact on the social structure of emerging economies and must form an integral part of any future development strategy A comprehensive examination of urban service delivery in the global South Building a Capable State is essential reading for students and practitioners across the social sciences public finance and engineering sectors

The New Blackwell Companion to The City Gary Bridge, Sophie Watson, 2011-02-23 This book considers the state of the city and contemporary urbanisation from a range of intellectual and international perspectives The most interdisciplinary collection of its kind Provides a contemporary update on urban thinking that builds on well established debates in the field Uses the city to explore economic social cultural environmental and political issues more broadly Includes contributions from non Western perspectives and cities

The State and 'Globalization' Martin Upchurch, 2019-01-22 This collection of country studies explores changing relationships between the state employers and labour in an increasingly internationalized world economy It covers ten countries and examines the tensions and contradictions caused by neo liberal market agendas The authors express concern at the potentially ravaging effects of market deregulation on organized labour and present a critical account of state efforts to emulate desired models of national economic development While the central core of the book concerns itself with changing labour relations this is placed within the wider context of state and employer strategy and covers issues such as labour market segmentation welfare and taxation regimes and varying approaches to corporatism

Does The Black Middle Class Exist And Are We Members? Grace Khunou, Kris Marsh, Polite Chauke, Lesego Plank, Leo Igbanoi, Mabone Kgosiemang, 2019-11-22 Does the Black Middle Class Exist And Are We Members makes two contributions into the research of the black middle class First it explores how Black South Africans conceptualize middle classness Second it demonstrates how this conceptualization informs researchers social identity within the Black middle class

Uniting a Divided City Jo Beall, Owen Crankshaw, Susan Parnell, 2014-10-14 For many Johannesburg resembles the imagined spectre of the urban future Global anxieties about catastrophic urban explosion social fracture environmental degradation escalating crime and violence and rampant consumerism alongside grinding poverty are projected onto this city as a microcosm of things to come Decision makers in cities worldwide have attempted to balance harsh fiscal and administrative realities with growing demands for political economic and social justice This book investigates pragmatic approaches to urban economic development service delivery spatial restructuring environmental sustainability and institutional reform in Johannesburg It explores the conditions and processes that are determining the city's transformation into a cosmopolitan metropole and magnet for the continent

A World of Their Own Meghan Healy-Clancy, 2014-06-19 The politics of black education has long been a key issue in southern African studies but despite rich debates on the racial and class dimensions of schooling historians have neglected their distinctive gendered dynamics A World of Their Own is the first book to explore the meanings of black women's education in the making of modern South Africa Its lens is a social history of the first high school for black South African women Inanda Seminary from its 1869 founding outside of Durban through the recent past Employing diverse archival and oral historical sources Meghan Healy Clancy reveals how educated black South African women developed a tradition of social leadership by both working within and pushing at the boundaries of state power She demonstrates that although colonial and apartheid governance marginalized women politically it also valorized the social contributions of small cohorts of educated black women This made space for growing numbers of black women to pursue careers as teachers and health workers over the course of the twentieth century After the student uprisings of 1976 as young black men increasingly rejected formal education for exile and street politics young black women increasingly stayed in school and cultivated an alternative form of student politics Inanda Seminary students experiences vividly show how their academic achievements challenged the narrow conceptions of black women's social roles harbored by both officials and black male activists By the transition to democracy in the early 1990s black women outnumbered black men at every level of education introducing both new opportunities for women and gendered conflicts that remain acute today

Love in Jozi: The Black Middle Class, Love and Intimacy in Johannesburg Grace Khunou, 2024-12-31 At its core this book illuminates the intricate landscape of relationships societal expectations and personal aspirations within Johannesburg's Black middle class Through nuanced research and compelling narratives the authors draw meaningful connections between individual experiences and broader demographic and cultural trends Each chapter provides a deep thoughtful exploration of topics such as race gender class sexuality and the intersectionality of these identities Written with remarkable accessibility and scholarly rigour the book invites readers from diverse backgrounds to engage with complex social dynamics The narratives are at once intimate and analytical revealing the multifaceted nature of love intimacy and relationships in contemporary Black middle class life Beyond academic discourse this work represents a significant contribution to our understanding of identity social transformation and personal resilience By exploring the evolving dynamics of relationships in Johannesburg the authors invite readers to reflect on how societal changes shape individual lives and how Black middle class experiences continually redefine success connection and community in our global context

Metal that Will not Bend Kally Forrester, 2011-10-01 In the 1980s there was a surge of trade union power in South Africa The National Union of Metalworkers of South Africa Numsa was prominent and innovative in this assertion of muscle Metal that does not Bend traces Numsa's accumulation from a few small unions in a handful of factories to the staging of national strikes involving thousands of workers in auto and engineering It examines how the union used its influence in macroeconomic and political arenas Numsa was Cosatu's most radical socialist affiliate and the book explores its attempts to implement its vision Historians have framed apartheid's downfall as resulting from the activities of the exiled liberation movement global anti apartheid boycott strategies and internal township insurrection This book reasserts the critical role of the internal labour movement

South Africa's Political Crisis Alexander Beresford, 2016-01-26 South Africa's current political upheavals are the most significant since the transition from apartheid Its powerful trade unions are playing a central role and the political direction they take will have huge significance for how we understand the role of labour movements in struggles for social justice in the twenty first century

The New Black Middle Class in South Africa Roger Southall, 2016 Provides the most comprehensive account since the early 1960s of South Africa's black middle class 2016 CHOICE Outstanding Academic Title The rise of the black middle class is one of the most visible aspects of post apartheid society in South Africa Yet while it has been a major actor in the country's democratic reshaping analysis of its role has been all but lacking Rather the image presented by the media has been of black diamonds consumers of the products of advanced industrial economies and of corrupt tenderpreneurs who use their political connections to obtain contracts This book seeks to complicate that picture with a much needed analysis that recounts its historical development in colonial society prior to 1994 before examining the size shape and structure of the new black middle class in contemporary South Africa and its relation to its counterparts in the Global South Roger Southall is Professor Emeritus in Sociology University of the Witwatersrand Southern Africa South Africa Namibia Botswana Lesotho Zimbabwe and Swaziland Jacana

The Cambridge History of South Africa: Volume 2, 1885-1994 Robert Ross, Anne Kelk Mager, Bill Nasson, 2011-08-15 This book surveys South African history from the discovery of gold in the Witwatersrand in the late nineteenth century to the first democratic elections in 1994 Written by many of the leading historians of the country it pulls together four decades of scholarship to present a detailed overview of South Africa during the twentieth century It covers political economic social and intellectual developments and their interconnections in a clear and objective manner This book the second of two volumes represents an important reassessment of all the major historical events developments and records of South Africa and will be an important new tool for students and professors of African history worldwide as well as the basis for further development and research

Unlawful Occupation Marie Huchzermeyer, 2004 In the past few years the issue of land invasion and government responses to landlessness in the Southern African region has been at the forefront of international attention By confronting the the questions of exclusion and unlawful occupation this book examines the appropriateness of the informal settlement response in South Africa through a comparison with Brazil This detailed comparison sets forth the difference in the approaches of both countries with South Africa employing the individualised standardised intervention and Brazil a more responsive one
