Researching Racism Muzammil Quraishi, Rob Philburn, 2015-04-21 A welcome and overdue contribution to the field Identifying a need for an empirical guide to complement the abundant theoretical literature this book combines a variety of practical avenues of advice with analytical sophistication without losing any of the subject matter's complexities The contextual chapters are well judged and informative while readers will surely find the careful selection and very clear presentation of the case studies particularly useful in thinking through the projects from start to completion Steve Garner Open University This book offers a one stop guide to the meaning of racism key studies in the field core methodologies and an agenda for research for the future Discussing the salient aspects of race and racism in contemporary society alongside methodological and practical considerations of qualitative research in the field Researching Racism is not only an original textbook but also a crucial guide for anyone beginning their own research on racism Based on Muzammil Quraishi and Rob Philburn's extensive background as researchers supervisors and teachers this book offers a clear and accessible account of an interdisciplinary and complex topic incorporates historical legislative and international dimensions of race and racism outlines and illustrates a range of qualitative research methods provides case studies and engaging examples includes a tool kit for researchers of racism This is an indispensable guide for students wanting to research race and racism across the social sciences

Christianity and Empire Revisited, 2025-09-25 Were missionaries simply religious agents of imperialism If you have ever asked or been asked this question then this book is for you Bringing together historians literary specialists and mission scholars it explores the complexities of the subject highlighting its many nuances Figures like Henry Havelock deeply involved in Britain's suppression of the 1857 Indian Rebellion were undoubtedly tied to imperial power Yet missionaries and their supporters were also the moral absolutists of their time sincerely if at times naively committed to ideas of human liberation At the same time Christianity's commitment to translation played a role in preserving indigenous languages and literary traditions adding another layer to this thought provoking discussion Contributors are Brian Stanley Alec Ryrie Michael Snape Nicholas J Wood Ashish Alexander Julian Thompson Emily Burgoyne Kyama Mugambi Kirsteen Kim and Kang San Tan

The Faces of Racism Vladimir Prempin, 2024-06-24 Say no to racism and never look away again This book is about the faces of racism These are mainly presented and clarified with the help of the author's own experiences with this destructive virus Many see it but only few people dare to do something against racism Through this book we see how we can best tackle this virus and gain courage to at least stand up to it This book is intended to inspire everyone to live racism critically and also give us clarity on why it is so important to fight this virus in our lives It may be that you are not aware of how many times you have been treated badly or discriminated against for racial reasons in your life but one thing is certain it doesn't matter what skin color or origin you have this topic racism affects us all Today it hurts me but tomorrow it can affect you So what are we waiting for Let us eradicate this virus from our lives once and for all to leave a safe peaceful and above all a just world for future generations Racism, a World Issue Edmund Davison Soper, 1947 The Oxford Handbook of Religion and

Race in American History Kathryn Gin Lum, Paul Harvey, 2018-03-01 The Oxford Handbook of Religion and Race in American History brings together a number of established scholars as well as younger scholars on the rise to provide a scholarly overview for those interested in the role of religion and race in American history Thirty four scholars from the fields of History Religious Studies Sociology Anthropology and more investigate the complex interdependencies of religion and race from pre Columbian origins to the present The volume addresses the religious experience social realities theologies and sociologies of racialized groups in American religious history as well as the ways that religious myths institutions and practices contributed to their racialization Part One begins with a broad introductory survey outlining some of the major terms and explaining the intersections of race and religions in various traditions and cultures across time Part Two provides chronologically arranged accounts of specific historical periods that follow a narrative of religion and race through four plus centuries Taken together The Oxford Handbook of Religion and Race in American History provides a reliable scholarly text and resource to summarize and guide work in this subject and to help make sense of contemporary issues and dilemmas

Scientific Racism in Modern South Africa Saul Dubow, 1995-06-30 A study of the history of intellectual and scientific racism in modern South Africa Michiganensian, 1990 Adopting for God Soojin Chung, 2021-12-14 Explores the role played by missionaries in the twentieth century transnational adoption movement Between 1953 and 2018 approximately 170 000 Korean children were adopted by families in dozens of different countries with Americans providing homes to more than two thirds of them In an iconic photo taken in 1955 Harry and Bertha Holt can be seen descending from a Pan American World Airways airplane with twelve Asian babies eight for their family and four for other families As adoptive parents and evangelical Christians who identified themselves as missionaries the Holts unwittingly became both the metaphorical and literal parental figures in the growing movement to adopt transnationally Missionaries pioneered the transnational adoption movement in America Though their role is known there has not yet been a full historical look at their theological motivations which varied depending on whether they were evangelically or ecumenically focused and what the effects were for American society relations with Asia and thinking about race more broadly Adopting for God shows that somewhat surprisingly both evangelical and ecumenical Christians challenged Americans to redefine traditional familial values and rethink race matters

By questioning the perspective that equates missionary humanitarianism with unmitigated cultural imperialism this book offers a more nuanced picture of the rise of an important twentieth century movement the evangelization of adoption and the awakening of a new type of Christian mission Protestants Abroad David A. Hollinger, 2019-06-11 Between the 1890s and the Vietnam era many thousands of American Protestant missionaries were sent to live throughout the non European world They expected to change the people they encountered but those foreign people ended up transforming the missionaries Their experience abroad made many of these missionaries and their children critical of racism imperialism and religious orthodoxy When they returned home they brought new liberal values back to their own society Protestants Abroad reveals the untold story of how these missionary connected individuals left an enduring mark on American public life as writers diplomats academics church officials publishers foundation executives and social activists

Understanding Racism in a Post-Racial World Sunshine Kamaloni, 2019-02-27 This book addresses the question how can we talk about race in a world that is considered post racial a world where race doesn't exist Kamaloni engages with the tradition of everyday racism and traces the process of racialisation through the interaction of bodies in space Exploring the embodied experience exposes the idea of post racialism as a response to continued cultural anxieties about race and the desire to erase it Understanding Racism in a Post Racial World presents a broader question about what everyday encounters about race might tell us about the current cultural construction of race The book provides a much needed investigation of the intersection of race bodies and space as a critical part of how bodies and spaces become racialised and will be of value to students and scholars interested in understanding and discussing race across interdisciplinary areas such as cultural studies communication gender studies geography body studies literature studies and urban studies

What Makes Racial Diversity Work in Higher Education Frank W. Hale, 2023-07-03 A unique reference describing successful diversity initiatives in higher education Higher education like the nation is facing major demographic changes Our colleges and universities recognize they not only have to be more inclusive but that they have to provide an environment that will effectively retain and develop the growing population of ethnically and racially diverse students How ready are they and what should they be doing Frank W Hale Jr known as the Dean of Diversity for his pioneering efforts in establishing Ohio State as one of the institutions graduating the most Black Ph D s has gathered twenty two leading scholars and administrators from around the country who describe the successful diversity programs they have developed Recognizing the importance of diversity as a means of embracing the experiences perspectives and expertise of other cultures this book shares what has been most effective in helping institutions to create an atmosphere and a campus culture that not only admits students faculty and staff of color but accepts and welcomes their presence and participation This is a landmark reference for every institution concerned with inclusivity and diversity The successes it presents offers academic leaders much they can learn from and ideas and procedures they can adapt as they discuss and develop their own campus policies and initiatives Contributors Samuel Betances Donald

South Africa, Race and the Making of International Relations Vineet Thakur, Peter Vale, 2020-01-17 This book offers readers an alternative history of the origins of the discipline of International Relations Conventional western histories of the discipline point to 1919 as the year of the birth of the discipline with two seminal initiatives setting up of the first Chair of IR at Aberystwyth and the founding of the Institute of International Relations on the side lines of the Paris Peace Conference From these events International Relations is argued to have been established as a path to create peace in the post War era and facilitated through a scientific study of international affairs International Relations was therefore both a field of study and knowledge production and a plan of action This pathbreaking book challenges these claims by presenting an alternative narrative of International Relations In this book we make three interconnected arguments First we argue that the natal moment in the founding of IR is not World War I as is generally believed but the Anglo Boer War Second we argue that the ideas methods and institutions that led to the making of IR were first thrashed out in South Africa in Johannesburg in fact Finally this South African genealogy of IR we show in the book allows us to properly investigate the emergence of academic IR at the interstices of race Empire and science Police Under Fire Aubrey A. Baker, 2016-08-05 This book is about the war on the police that is taking place in America today It is about the unfair and false narratives being promulgated against the police by black activists left wing liberals and the lamestream media It is about racial politics and violence in the black community and how it spills over onto the police It is about controversial uses of force by the police It is about injustices being perpetrated against the police by neer do wells It is also about how to improve the situation overall The Subject of Race in American Science Fiction Sharon DeGraw, 2006-12-19 While the connections between science fiction and race have largely been neglected by scholars racial identity is a key element of the subjectivity constructed in American SF In his Mars series Edgar Rice Burroughs primarily supported essentialist constructions of racial identity but also included a few elements of racial egalitarianism Writing in the 1930s George S Schuyler revised Burroughs normative SF triangle of white author white audience and white protagonist and promoted an individualistic highly variable concept of race instead While both Burroughs and Schuyler wrote SF focusing on racial identity the largely separate genres of science fiction and African American literature prevented the similarities between the two authors from being adequately acknowledged and explored Beginning in the 1960s Samuel R Delany more fully joined SF and African American literature Delany expands on Schuyler's racial constructionist approach to identity including gender and sexuality in addition to race Critically intertwining the genres of SF and African American literature allows a critique of the racism in the science fiction and a more accurate and positive portrayal of the scientific connections in the African American literature Connecting the popular fiction of Burroughs the controversial career of Schuyler and the postmodern texts of Delany illuminates a gradual change from a stable essentialist construction of racial identity at the turn of the century to the variable social construction of poststructuralist subjectivity today

Hannah Arendt and the Uses of History Richard H. King, Dan Stone, 2008-09 Hannah Arendt first argued the continuities between the age of European imperialism and the age of fascism in Europe in The Origins of Totalitarianism This text uses Arendt's insights as a starting point for further investigations into the ways in which race imperialism slavery and genocide are linked
