Re-Situating Identities Vered Amit, Caroline Knowles, 1996-03 These essays seek to re energize race and ethnic studies by moving away from the extremes of statistical reductionism and textual preoccupation that have marked the field and focusing instead on systematic and empirically grounded investigations of the production of identities in power relationships

Faiman-Silva, 2004 An examination of the transformation of a town from a Portuguese ethnic community into a predominantly homosexual tourist enclave Focuses on Provincetown RI Based on over six years of fieldwork Sandra L Faiman Silva s The Courage to Connect traces the transformation of the well known Cape Cod community of Provincetown from its nineteenth century origins a Portuguese fishing town to its present status as a welcoming sexually diverse tourist enclave The book critically examines the history of the Portuguese ethnic community and the local economy as well as the nature of intersections between gay and straight culture in areas such as public education local government and the police Using queer and critical culture theory to deconstruct day to day local encounters it lays bare the roots of social conflicts and how they can be resolved Capturing the pathos and joy of a community that has struggled to accommodate radical social changes The Courage to Connect serves as a model for understanding how communities can construct themselves to overcome their differences Whiteness Fractured Cynthia Levine-Rasky, 2016-02-11

Examining the relationship between strangers embodiment and community Strange Encounters challenges the assumptions that the stranger is simply anybody we do not recognize and instead proposes that he or she is socially constructed as somebody we already know Using feminist and postcolonial theory this book examines the impact of multiculturalism and globalization on embodiment and community whilst considering the ethical and political implication of its critique for post colonial feminism A diverse range of texts are analyzed which produce the figure of the stranger showing that it has alternatively been expelled as the origin of danger such as in neighbourhood watch or celebrated as the origin of difference as in multiculturalism The author argues that both of these standpoints are problematic as they involve stranger fetishism they assume that the stranger has a life of its own

Whither Multiculturalism? Barbara Saunders, David Haljan, 2003

The attempt to make democratic processes more inclusive has led to the problematic notion of multiculturalism It is based on a new principle that all voices should be heard and equal respect has become the irreducible core of the liberal state However mere dialogue is not enough First it tends to privilege those who are already privileged To change this needs active exploratory listening that is allowed to challenge everyone's picture of the world Second since the tensions and ambiguities are here to stay practical ways to cope and negotiate have to be found although it's not at all clear what is involved The contributors to this volume explore both dimensions and in particular point to what it means when the language game of dialogicality meets its limit However as they point out the limits are not absolute but can be the entry to more complex language games The authors in this volume from Canada the Netherlands Belgium and Britain bring a vast repertoire of resources and interpretative frames to bear on the task of opening up what might be understood by the political ethical aesthetic notion of multiculturalism In these contributions one can hear a plea for an enhanced conception of democratic dialogue for the need to embrace different ontological aesthetic moral assumptions and for an ethics and politics which are more generous and receptive
