Restless Spirits Ghost Stories By American Women 18721926:

Restless Spirits Catherine A. Lundie, 1996 Twenty two ghost tales by known and unknown writers They range from Harriet Prescott Spofford's Her Story on a woman sent to a madhouse by an unloving husband to Charlotte Perkins Gilman's The Giant Wistaria written in defense of suicide Scare Tactics Jeffrey Andrew Weinstock, 2009-08-25 Scare Tactics identifies an important but overlooked tradition of supernatural writing by American women Jeffrey Weinstock analyzes this tradition as an essentially feminist attempt to imagine alternatives to a world of limited possibilities In the process he recovers the lives and works of authors who were important during their lifetimes and in the development of the American literary tradition but who are not recognized today for their contributions Between the end of the Civil War and roughly 1930 hundreds of uncanny tales were published by women in the periodical press and in books These include stories by familiar figures such as Edith Wharton Harriet Beecher Stowe and Charlotte Perkins Gilman as well as by authors almost wholly unknown to twenty first century readers such as Josephine Dodge Bacon Alice Brown Emma Frances Dawson and Harriet Prescott Spofford Focusing on this tradition of female writing offers a corrective to the prevailing belief within American literary scholarship that the uncanny tale exemplified by the literary productions of Irving Poe and Hawthorne was displaced after the Civil War by literary realism Beyond the simple existence of an unacknowledged tradition of uncanny literature by women Scare Tactics makes a strong case that this body of literature should be read as a specifically feminist literary tradition Especially intriguing Weinstock demonstrates is that women authors repeatedly used Gothic conventions to express discontentment with circumscribed roles for women creating types of political intervention connected to the broader sphere of women's rights activism Paying attention to these overlooked authors helps us better understand not only the literary marketplace of their time but also more familiar American Gothicists from Edgar Allan Poe to Shirley Jackson to Stephen King A Companion to the American Short Story Alfred Bendixen, James Nagel, 2020-08-24 A COMPANION TO THE AMERICAN SHORT STORY A Companion to the American Short Story traces the development of this versatile literary genre over the past two centuries Written by leading critics in the field and edited by two major scholars it explores a wide range of writers from Edgar Allen Poe and Edith Wharton at the end of the nineteenth century to important modern writers such as Ernest Hemingway William Faulkner F Scott Fitzgerald and Richard Wright Contributions with a broader focus address groups of multiethnic Asian and Jewish writers Each chapter places the short story into context focusing on the interaction of cultural forces and aesthetic principles The Companion takes account of cutting edge approaches to literary studies and contributes to the ongoing redefinition of the American canon embracing genres such as ghost and detective fiction cycles of interrelated short fiction and comic social and political stories The volume also reflects the diverse communities that have adopted this literary form and made it their own featuring entries on a variety of feminist and multicultural traditions This volume presents an important new consideration of the role of the short story in the literary history of American literature

American Women's Regionalist Fiction Monika Elbert, Rita Bode, 2021-01-04 American Women's Regionalist Fiction Mapping the Gothic seeks to redress the monolithic vision of American Gothic by analyzing the various sectional or regional attempts to Gothicize what is most claustrophobic or peculiar about local history Since women writers were often relegated to inferior status it is especially compelling to look at women from the Gothic perspective The regionalist Gothic develops along the line of difference and not unity thus emphasizing regional peculiarities or a sense of superiority in terms of regional history natural landscapes immigrant customs folk tales or idiosyncratic ways The essays study the uncanny or the haunting quality of the commonplace as Hawthorne would have it in his introduction to The House of the Seven Gables in regionalist Gothic fiction by a wide range of women writers between ca 1850 and 1930 This collection seeks to examine how if the regionalist perspective is small limited and stultifying and leads to Gothic moments or whether the intersection between local and national leads to a clash that is jarring and Gothic in nature
