Rethinking Society In The 21st Century Critical Readings In Sociology:

Rethinking Society in the 21st Century Michelle Webber, Kate Bezanson, 2012 Rethinking Society in the 21st Century is a unique collection of readings that fills a critical void in introductory sociology in Canada. The third edition has been thoroughly updated with 24 new chapters that complement the chapters retained from previous editions. Rethinking Society introduces students to the foundational elements of sociology with a balance of classical theory (Marx, Weber, Durkheim, Mills) and more contemporary approaches found in the work of Michel Foucault, Dorothy Smith, and George Sefa Dei. Building on this theoretical grounding, the text outlines core concepts in sociology: socialization, social interaction, and culture, as well as major social institutions such as families, the economy, and labour, education, and health care. Later sections address crime, moral regulation, race, class, age, gender, sexuality, and issues of population and globalization, with relevant and engaging chapters chosen to provoke thought and discussion. With a diverse selection of authors and a pronounced emphasis on Canadian content, Rethinking Society in the 21st Century is the ideal reader for Canadian students. Rethinking Society

The book includes sections on classical sociology with readings by seminal sociologists like Durkheim, Weber, and Mills, along with more contemporary readings on a diverse set of topics and issues. Rethinking Society in the 21st Century, Fourth Edition Kate Bezanson, Michelle Webber, 2016-09-01 Rethinking Society in the 21st Century is a critical collection of readings that provides students with a foundational knowledge base in sociology. The fourth edition has been thoroughly updated to include significant Canadian content with a greater focus on indigeneity, gender, and sexuality, and a new section dedicated to social movements, social change, and emerging fields. This anthology introduces students to the fundamental elements of sociology with a balance of classical theory (Marx, Weber, Durkheim, Mills) and more contemporary approaches found in the works of Michel Foucault and Dorothy Smith. Building on this theoretical grounding, the text outlines core concepts in sociology as well as major social institutions such as families, the economy, and labour, education, health care, and media. Covering a wide breadth of topics, including chapters on animals, the environment, crime, trans issues, class, ethnicity, and race, this new edition explores critical debates in Canadian society with an emphasis on intersectional approaches to social inequalities. This volume is rich with pedagogical features that promote critical understanding, including detailed introductions that speak to the contextual history of the source material and discussion questions for each section. Uniquely designed for introductory courses, Rethinking Society in the 21st Century is the ideal reader for Canadian students of sociology. Rethinking Social Epidemiology Patricia O'Campo, James R.

Dunn, 2011-10-05 To date, much of the empirical work in social epidemiology has demonstrated the existence of health inequalities along a number of axes of social differentiation. However, this research in isolation will not inform effective solutions to health inequalities. Rethinking Social Epidemiology provides an expanded vision of social epidemiology as a science of change one that seeks to better address key questions related to both the causes of social inequalities in health problem focused research as well as the implementation of interventions to alleviate conditions of marginalization and poverty solution focused research This book is ideally suited for emerging and practicing social epidemiologists as well as graduate students and health professionals in related disciplines

Journal of Curriculum Teaching Learning and Leadership to explore children's perceptions, experiences, and handling of anti-racism approaches in the contexts of teaching, learning, and parenting. Often marginalized and overlooked in the renewed vigor for racial justice is the lived experience of young Black children, with a critical focus on the unique ways anti-Black racism theorizing can shed light on innovative pedagogies and other practices aimed at improving their quality of life and early years experiences. By drawing on a diverse body of theoretical scholarship including anti-racism and critical anti-Black racism, the authors not only bring much needed perspectives on racism in relation to young children's daily lives but also discuss teaching and parenting practices as sites in which young children can ultimately adopt anti-racist beliefs, recognize their agency, and develop as global citizens committed to justice and racial equity. This text, one which builds on and expands the special issue, anchors Black epistemologies, focuses on the unique experiences Black children encounter in their larger social contexts as well as ECE settings, and provides institutional and pedagogical strategies that center and amplify Black humanity and agency. With a balance of conceptual and empirical chapters, the book provides a timely and interdisciplinary theoretical and methodological analysis of children and race. It will appeal to scholars and researchers working in fields across Early Childhood Education and Child Development concerned with issues of Diversity, Equity, and Social Justice.

Understanding Veganism Nathan Stephens Griffin, 2017-07-20 This book focuses on the increasingly popular phenomenon of veganism, a way of living that attempts to exclude all animal products on ethical grounds. Using data from biographical interviews with vegans, the author untangles the complex topic of veganism to understand vegan identity from a critical and biographical perspective. Shaped by the participants' biographical narratives, the study considers the diverse topics of family, faith, sexuality, gender, music, culture, embodiment, and activism, and how these influence the lives and identities of vegans. It also highlights the hostility vegans face and how this hostility functions in the everyday and intersects with other aspects of their identity and biography, exemplified through coming out and queer narratives of veganism. Understanding Veganism will be of particular interest to those engaged in the fields of biographical research, critical animal studies, or more broadly with an interest in animal advocacy.

Assembling and Governing the Higher Education Institution Lynette Shultz, Melody Viczko, 2016-09-27 This book emphasizes the inherently democratic nature of education from those who practice in higher education institutions and are involved in decision making to those questioning the methods of reform processes in those institutions. As they are faced with increasing pressures to restructure and change their organizations in line with global institutional demands, the foundations upon which their leadership and governance are based are called into question. This book takes a critical approach to understanding higher education leadership and governance. The overarching questions asked in this book are: how has higher education come to be assembled in contemporary governance practices within the context of global demands for reform, and how are issues of justice being taken up as part of and in resistance to this assemblage?
