Cavaoli,2003-03-26 Lauderdale By The Sea depicts the engaging history of this oceanfront community Located on Florida s Gold Coast Lauderdale By The Sea is noted for its beach activities living reef system and family oriented lifestyle The quiet beauty of the sea and sand amid friendly low rise lodgings and quaint stores and restaurants draws visitors to this thriving paradise year round Lauderdale By The Sea developed slowly around the original platted land set down by William F Morang in 1924 as he and others promoted a land boom The completion of the Flagler Railroad by 1900 paved the way for regional growth Lauderdale By The Sea lacked a railroad terminal and remained undeveloped in the early years Melvin I Anglin pioneered in chartering the town in 1927 and became its first mayor Two hurricanes and the 1929 stock market crash burst the real estate bubble leading to the demise of the charter in 1933 In 1947 citizens drew up a new charter that was certified by the state legislature two years later Construction of the Anglin Pier in 1941 and the Commercial Boulevard Bridge over the Intracoastal Waterway in 1965 broke down the isolation of the town Annexation of the unincorporated area north to Pompano Beach completed its growth cycle The Magic of the Sea Ranch Rob Elder,2011-11-16 Place at the Sea Ranch Donlyn Lyndon,The Archives Committee of The Sea Ranch,2020-11-27 Field guide reference book to The Sea Ranch a distinctive community on the Northern California coast it follows private trails that thread through the 10 miles of developed landscape noting especially important elements Illustrated with many photographs maps and drawings Full color The Sea Ranch ,2014 Designing San Francisco Alison Isenberg,2024-09-24 A major urban history of the design and development of postwar San Francisco Designing San Francisco is the untold story of the formative postwar decades when U S cities took their modern shape amid clashing visions of the future In this pathbreaking and richly illustrated book Alison Isenberg shifts the focus from architects and city planners those most often hailed in histories of urban development and design to the unsung artists activists and others who played pivotal roles in rebuilding San Francisco between the 1940s and the 1970s Previous accounts of midcentury urban renewal have focused on the opposing terms set down by Robert Moses and Jane Jacobs put simply development versus preservation and have followed New York City models Now Isenberg turns our attention west to colorful pioneering and contentious San Francisco where unexpectedly fierce battles were waged over iconic private and public projects like Ghirardelli Square Golden Gateway and the Transamerica Pyramid When large scale redevelopment came to low rise San Francisco in the 1950s the resulting rivalries and conflicts sparked the proliferation of numerous allied arts fields and their professionals including architectural model makers real estate publicists graphic designers photographers property managers builders sculptors public interest lawyers alternative press writers and preservationists Isenberg explores how these centrally engaged arts professionals brought new ideas to city regional and national planning and shaped novel projects across urban suburban and rural borders San Francisco's rebuilding galvanized far reaching critiques of the inequitable competition for scarce urban land and propelled debates over responsible public land stewardship Isenberg challenges many truisms of this renewal era especially the presumed male domination of postwar urban design showing how women collaborated in city building long before feminism's impact in the 1970s An evocative portrait of one of the world's great cities Designing San Francisco provides a new paradigm for understanding past and present struggles to define the urban future
