In 1984 Joyce Rockwood Hudson accompanied her husband anthropologist Charles Hudson on a 4 000 mile trek across the Southeast His objective was to retrace and verify the route taken by Hernando de Soto four and a half centuries earlier The effort would bring into question and ultimately supplant much of what was earlier thought to be the course of the Spanish explorer s journey This is the journal Joyce Hudson kept during that trip A kind of scholar s version of Blue Highways the book is a warmly humane and almost daily account of the people the Hudsons met the places they saw and the things they did as they searched for De Soto s trail beneath railroad tracks and two lane blacktops along riverbanks and mountain ridges Thus it is largely a travel story about rural and small town life in eleven states from Florida to Texas Descriptions of the region s everchanging terrain vegetation and climate fill the book colored at times by Joyce Hudson s troubled musings about Americans increasing disconnectedness from the land and irreverence for the past Conveying the rewards and frustrations of lives spent in painstaking scholarly inquiry Looking for De Soto also offers a firsthand glimpse into the daily work of anthropologists and archaeologists the exchanges of ideas the ventures through swamps and down deeply rutted farm roads the endless porings over maps charts and notes As if writing a detective story the author suspensefully paces the narrative with the accrual of geographical artifactual and documentary evidence punctuating it with false leads and other setbacks as mile after mile of the trail is redrawn The story even has its villains pothunters and private collectors the builders of canals and dams that alter the courses of rivers and inundate ancient village sites and the owners of corporate farms who have leveled and eradicated ceremonial mounds with their massive agricultural machinery Finally a sense of the headlong cultural collision between Europeans and Native Americans pervades the book De Soto and his six hundred conquistadores were the first Europeans to explore the interior of the southeastern United States and the only ones to witness its aboriginal society at its zenith Hudson s evocation of this encounter so central to the history of the New World may well send readers on their own excursions into the past Looking for De Soto is a fascinating journey through today s South illuminated by a richly informed perspective on its earlier days Lily Briscoe's Chinese Eyes Patricia Laurence, 2013-01-02

A map of the mutual influence of Bloomsbury the Crescent Moon Society and modernism in English and Chinese culture Lily Briscoe s Chinese Eyes traces the romance of Julian Bell nephew of Virginia Woolf and Ling Shuhua a writer and painter Bell met while teaching at Wuhan University in China in 1935 Relying on a wide selection of previously unpublished writings Patricia Laurence places Ling often referred to as the Chinese Katherine Mansfield squarely in the Bloomsbury constellation In doing so she counters East West polarities and suggests forms of understanding to inaugurate a new kind of cultural criticism and literary description Laurence expands her examination of Bell and Ling s relationship into a study of parallel literary communities Bloomsbury in England and the Crescent Moon group in China Underscoring their reciprocal influences in the early part of the twentieth century Laurence presents conversations among well known British and Chinese writers artists and historians including

Virginia Woolf Vanessa Bell G L Dickinson Xu Zhimo E M Forster and Xiao Qian In addition Laurence s study includes rarely seen photographs of Julian Bell Ling and their associates as well as a reproduction of Ling s scroll commemorating moments in the exchange between Bloomsbury and the Crescent Moon group While many critics agree that modernism is a movement that crosses national boundaries literary studies rarely reflect such a view In this volume Laurence links unpublished letters and documents cultural artifacts art literature and people in ways that provide illumination from a comparative cultural and aesthetic perspective In so doing she addresses the geographical and critical imbalances and thus the architecture of modernist postcolonial Bloomsbury and Asian studies by placing China in an aesthetic matrix of a developing international modernism
