trauma theory     Tricky Design Tom Fisher, Lorraine Gamman, 2018-12-13 Tricky Design responds to the burgeoning of scholarly interest in the cultural meanings of objects by addressing the moral complexity of certain designed objects and systems. The volume brings together leading international designers, scholars and critics to explore some of the ways in which the practice of design and its outcomes can have a dark side even when the intention is to design for the public good. Considering a range of designed objects and relationships including guns, eyewear, assisted suicide kits, anti-rape devices, passports and prisons, the contributors offer a view of design as both progressive and problematic, able to propose new material and human relationships yet also constrained by social norms and ideology. This contradictory, tricky quality of design is explored in the editors' introduction, which positions the objects, systems, services and things discussed in the book in relation to the idea of the trickster that occurs in anthropological literature as well as in classical thought, discussing design interventions that have positive and negative ethical consequences. These will include objects both material and immaterial, systems with both local and global scope and also different processes of designing. This important new volume brings a fresh perspective to the complex nature of things and makes a truly original contribution to debates in design ethics, design philosophy and material culture.

Modernity and the Construction of Sacred Space Aaron French, Katharina Waldner, 2024-07-01 This volume focuses on the connection between modern design and architectural practices and the construction of sacred spaces. Not only language and ritual but space, place and architecture play a significant role in constructing special or religious spaces. However, this concept of a constructed sacred space remains undertheorized in religious studies and the history of art and architecture in general. This volume therefore revisits the question of a modern sacred space from an interdisciplinary perspective, focusing on religion, space and architecture during the emergence of the modern period and up until contemporary times. Revisiting the ways in which modern architects and artists have endeavored to create sacred spaces and buildings for the modern world will address the underlying questions of how religious ideas, especially those related to esotericism and to alternative religiosities, have transformed the way sacred spaces are conceptualized today.
