Writing Around the Ancient Mediterranean Philippa M. Steele,Philip J. Boyes,2022-10-06 Writing in the ancient Mediterranean existed against a backdrop of very high levels of interaction and contact In the societies around its shores writing was a dynamic practice that could serve many purposes from a tool used by elites to control resources and establish their power bases to a symbol of local identity and a means of conveying complex information and ideas This volume presents a group of papers by members of the Contexts of and Relations between Early Writing Systems CREWS research team and visiting fellows offering a range of different perspectives and approaches to problems of writing in the ancient Mediterranean They focus on practices viewing writing as something that people do within a wider social and cultural context and on adaptations considering the ways in which writing changed and was changed by the people using it

Cook's Handbook for Egypt and the Egyptian Sûdân Sir Ernest Alfred Wallis Budge,1921 An Encyclopædia of Occultism Lewis Spence,1920 The Temple Masters of Egypt Asher Benowitz,2022-04-27 Many Egyptologists believe that most religious ceremonies and magical rituals preserved in Temple and tomb reliefs were observed initially in dramatic form to convey a transcendental ambiance to the teaching Edfu's sacred drama inscribed on the inner west wall of the temple precinct was not the least revered of its literary traditions It tells how the Neter confronts Set in eleven reliefs after attaining the majority and claiming Asar's throne each featuring a theatrical scene and dialogue Dramatis personae in The Mystery Play appear to have been members of the Royal House the audience included nomarchs and the general populace and the priests served as both theatrical directors and commentators In Edfu the play was performed annually on the 21st of Menhir the second month of winter and four days afterward the Festival of Victory This fell just before the spring equinox in 110 B C E when the walls at Edfu were engraved Asiatics in Middle Kingdom Egypt Phyllis Saretta,2016-01-28 The ancient Egyptians had very definite views about their neighbours some positive some negative As one would expect Egyptian perceptions of the other were subject to change over time especially in response to changing political social and economic conditions Thus as Asiatics became a more familiar part of everyday life in Egypt and their skills and goods became increasingly important depictions of them took on more favourable aspects The investigation by necessity involves a multi disciplined approach which seeks to combine and synthesize data from a wider variety of sources than drawn upon in earlier studies By the same token the book addresses the interests of and has appeal to a broad spectrum of scholars and general readers Illustrated Catalogue of the Anthropological Museum, University of Aberdeen University of Aberdeen. Anthropological Museum, Robert William Reid, 1912 Female Figurines from the Mut Precinct Elizabeth A. Waraksa, 2009 Elizabeth A Waraksa examines the ceramic female figurines excavated by John Hopkins at the Precinct of Mut in Luxor Egypt between 2001 and 2004 The figurines date from the New Kingdom to the Late Period ca 1550 332 BCE Ceramic figurines are frequently overlooked by archaeologists art historians and social historians because the lack the aesthetic qualities usually associated with Egyptian art However the Hopkins excavated figurines display features that mark them as standardized ritual objects Waraksa argues that ceramic female figurines were produced in Workshops utilized by magician physicians in healing rituals and regularly snapped and discarded at the end of their effective lives This is a new broader interpretation for objects that have previously been considered as toys dolly concubine figures and most recently votive fertility figurines Publisher's website The Scepter of Egypt William Christopher Hayes, 1953
