Magomero Portrait Of An Africa Village:

Magomero Landeg White, 1989 Magomero is a vivid historical portrait of a Malawian village from 1859 to the present day. It focuses on a region which saw historically important political activity in the founding of a colony of freed slaves and the rising of an independent church movement against white estate owners. With the dual concerns of a Southern African specialist and a poet, Landeg White offers an inside view of social, political, and economic change in Malawi seen through the lives of individuals, the ordinary men and women whose situation and poverty have hitherto prevented recognition of their vital contribution to African history from back cover.

The Idea of Development in Africa Corrie Decker, Elisabeth McMahon, 2020-10-29 The Idea of Development in Africa challenges prevailing international development discourses about the continent by tracing the history of ideas, practices, and problems of development used in Africa. In doing so, it offers an innovative approach to examining the history and culture of development through the lens of the development episteme, which has been foundational to the idea of Africa in western discourses since the early 1800s. The study weaves together an historical narrative of how the idea of development emerged with an account of the policies and practices of development in colonial and postcolonial Africa. The book highlights four enduring themes in African development, including their present-day ramifications: domesticity, education, health, and industrialization. Offering a balance between historical overview and analysis of past and present case studies, Elisabeth McMahon and Corrie Decker demonstrate that Africans have always co-opted, challenged, and reformed the idea of development, even as the western-centric development episteme presumes a one-way flow of ideas and funding from the West to Africa.

A Modern Economic History of Africa: The nineteenth century Paul Tiyambe Zeleza, 1997 The nineteenth century in Africa was a time of revolution and tumultuous change in virtually all spheres. Violent dry spells, the staggered abolition of the slave trade, mass migrations, and an influx of new settlers characterized the century. Regional trade links grew stronger and spread further. The century also saw the beginnings of the ruthless and bloody quest for foreign dominion.

Confronting Historical Paradigms Frederick Cooper, 1993 Confronting Historical Paradigms argues that confrontation with major paradigms of world history has marked the fields of African and Latin American history during the last quarter century, and that the process has dramatically restructured historical and theoretical understanding of peasant labor and the capitalist world system. Moreover, it maintains that the intellectual reverberations within and across the African and Latin American fields constitute a challenging and underappreciated counterpoint to laments that contemporary historical knowledge has suffered a splintering so extreme that it undermines larger dialogue and meaning. The authors, in their substantive essays, synthesize order and evaluate the significance of the enormous resonating literatures that have come to exist for Africa and Latin America on the themes of the capitalist world system labor and peasantries They historicize these literatures by analyzing an entire cycle of critical dialogue and confrontation with historical paradigms and the professional upheavals that accompanied them They review the initial confrontations with frameworks of historical knowledge that erupted in the 1960s and the early 1970s the emergence of new dissident paradigms the outpouring of subsequent scholarship on peasants labor and capitalism that began to unravel the newly proposed paradigms by the 1980s and 1990s and the outlines of the new interpretive frameworks that tended to displace both the traditional and early dissident paradigms They also suggest possible outlines of a new cycle of Third World confrontations with paradigm anchored in themes such as gender and ethnicity Confronting Historical Paradigms employs a historicized awareness of intellectual networks conversations and history theory dialogues The result is a critical analysis and synthetic presentation of substantive advances that have preoccupied scholarship on Africa and Latin America in recent decades and a powerful challenge to notions that new fields of history have ended up destroying intellectual coherence and community

Escape from Domination in Africa Bruce Baker, 2001 A Living Man from Africa Roger S. Levine, 2010-12-21 Born into a Xhosa royal family around 1792 in South Africa Jan Tzatzoe was destined to live in an era of profound change one that witnessed the arrival and entrenchment of European colonialism As a missionary chief and cultural intermediary on the eastern Cape frontier and in Cape Town and a traveler in Great Britain Tzatzoe helped foster the merging of African and European worlds into a new South African reality Yet by the 1860s despite his determined resistance he was an oppressed subject of harsh British colonial rule In this innovative richly researched and splendidly written biography Roger S Levine reclaims Tzatzoe s lost story and analyzes his contributions to and experiences with the turbulent colonial world to argue for the crucial role of Africans as agents of cultural and intellectual change The Church in Africa, 1450-1950 Adrian Hastings, 1995-01-05 I can merely admire his courage in tackling so complex and difficult a subject he should succeed in stimulating a fresh generation of research this well written intelligent and lively study will greatly stimulate anyone fortunate enough to read it Christianity provided the constitutive identity of historic Ethiopia From the sixteenth century and increasingly from the nineteenth it entered decisively into the life and culture of an increasing number of other African peoples In the course of the twentieth century African Christians have become a major part of the world Church and arguably modern African history as a whole is not intelligible without its powerful Christian element Yet despite the great advance in African historiography over the last forty years this is the first major volume to consider the historical development and character of the Christian Church in Africa as a whole linking together Ehtiopia Orthodoxy Roman Catholicism Protestantism and the numerous Independent churches of modern times The book focuses throughout on the role of conversion the shaping of Church life and its relationship to traditional values and the impact of political power Professor Hastings also compares the relation of Christian history to the comprable development of Islam in Africa

focuses on the late colonial history of Zambia and Malawi which between 1953 and 1963 were part of the Federation of Rhodesia and Nyasaland. Although there were many links in their history and between their populations the two territories British protectorates under Colonial Office control contrasted greatly in power structures in their economies and in their development. Europeans living in Northern Rhodesia with a power base in the mining economy were able to establish a dominant position in the territory after the Second World War. By the 1950s it looked as though they would have with Southern Rhodesian Europeans a long hegemony gaining independence from Britain as a new Dominion which would mean control over both Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland through the Federation. Thus white ethnicity and ideology are essential factors in this book relating to the struggle for power from just before the Second World War up to the 1960s. However crises in 1959 and 1960 led to the collapse of the Federation. A second focus is on issues of social and economic development. For Africans in Nyasaland and in rural parts of Northern Rhodesia there was a relatively weak economy in this period a pattern of limited cash crop production while many people became caught up in labour migration subordinate to powerful European dominated economic forces within southern Africa. This meant that colonial policies aimed at rural development were fundamentally flawed. The book also looks at the actual nature of rural economic change as opposed to colonial policies and discusses alternative visions of the future which were put forward. The argument is put that historians have often concentrated on the activities of the main nationalist movements in Nyasaland and Northern Rhodesia seeing them as bringing progress away from colonialism and towards independence. Here there is an attempt to draw out the complexities of life and a variety of responses in the colonial situation progress coming in a number of forms but not always being achieved.

Colonial Architecture and Urbanism in Africa Fassil Demissie, 2016-12-05 Colonial architecture and urbanism carved its way through space ordering and classifying the built environment while projecting the authority of European powers across Africa in the name of science and progress. The built urban fabric left by colonial powers attests to its lingering impacts in shaping the present and the future trajectory of postcolonial cities in Africa. Colonial Architecture and Urbanism explores the intersection between architecture and urbanism as discursive cultural projects in Africa. Like other colonial institutions such as the courts, police, prisons and schools that were crucial in establishing and maintaining political domination, colonial architecture and urbanism played a pivotal role in shaping the spatial and social structures of African cities during the 19th and 20th centuries. Indeed it is the cultural destination of colonial architecture and urbanism and the connection between them and colonialism that the volume seeks to critically address. The contributions drawn from different interdisciplinary fields map the historical processes of colonial architecture and urbanism and bring into sharp focus the dynamic conditions in which colonial states, officials, architects, planners, medical doctors and missionaries mutually constructed a hierarchical and exclusionary built environment that served the wider colonial project in Africa. Living with Africa Jan Vansina, 1994 In 1952 a young Belgian scholar of European medieval history traveled to the Belgian Congo now

Zaire to live in a remote Kuba village Armed with a smattering of training in African cultures and language Jan Vansina was sent to do fieldwork for a Belgian cultural agency As it turned out he would help found the field of African history with a handful of other European and African scholars I m not an ethnologist I m a historian Vansina was to repeat again and again to those who assumed that people without written texts have no history His discovery that he could analyze Kuba oral tradition using the same methods he had learned for interpreting medieval dirges was a historiographical breakthrough and his first book Oral Tradition as History is considered the seminal work that gave the study of precolonial African history both the scholarly justification and the self confidence it had been lacking Living with Africa is a compelling memoir of Vansina s life and career on three continents interwoven with the story of African history as a scholarly specialty In the background of his narrative are the collapse of colonialism in Africa and the emergence of newly independent nations in the foreground are the first conferences on African history the founding of journals and departments and the efforts of Africans to establish a history curriculum for the schools in their new nations

Making Men in Ghana Stephan Miescher,2005-11-24 By featuring the life histories of eight senior men Making Men in Ghana explores the changing meaning of becoming a man in modern Africa Stephan F Miescher concentrates on the ideals and expectations that formed around men who were prominent in their communities when Ghana became an independent nation Miescher shows how they negotiated complex social and economic transformations and how they dealt with their mounting obligations and responsibilities as leaders in their kinship groups churches and schools Not only were notions about men and masculinity shaped by community standards but they were strongly influenced by imported standards that came from missionaries and other colonial officials As he recounts the life histories of these men Miescher reveals that the passage to manhood and a position of power seniority authority and leadership was not always welcome or easy As an important foil for studies on women and femininity this groundbreaking book not only explores masculinity and ideals of male behavior but offers a fresh perspective on African men in a century of change

Goodbye, Dr Banda Alexander Chula,2023-05-04 You may never have been may never go may never even have heard of the place but Malawi will repay your attention It is one of the smallest poorest countries in Africa often overlooked but its relationship with us in the West has been extraordinary How to engage with cultures profoundly unlike our own We travel the world compulsively wanting to reach out but seldom feeling sure of how to do so A small African country presents us with a near perfect case study From David Livingstone and the early missionaries through British colonialists to today s tourists aid workers and even Madonna Malawi has experienced the whole gamut of Westerners all trying to connect This has made for an extraordinary meeting of worlds between one of the continent s most fascinating indigenous cultures and the best and worst of our own Unexpected and exhilarating by turns edifying and uncomfortable it is a story with urgent lessons for our vexed age of identity crisis and multi cultural faltering Here tribal ritual collides with Ancient Greek theatre roving classicists with ancestral spirits poets and pop stars with missionary explorers hippies and kleptocrats with long suffering peasants a tumultuous masquerade around the enigmatic Dr Banda Wildlife between Empire and Nation in Twentieth-Century Africa Jeff Schauer, 2018-12-04 This book traces the emergence of wildlife policy in colonial eastern and central Africa over the course of a century Spanning from imperial conquest through the consolidation of colonial rule the rise of nationalism and the emergence of neocolonial and neoliberal institutions this book shows how these fundamental themes of the twentieth century shaped the relationships between humans and animals in what are today Kenya Tanzania Uganda Zambia and Malawi A set of key themes emerges changing administrative forms militarization nationalism science and a relentlessly broadening constituency for wildlife Jeff Schauer illuminates how each of these developments were contingent upon the colonial experience and how they fashioned a web of structures for understanding and governing wildlife in Africa one which has lasted into the twenty first century

The Creation of Tribalism in Southern Africa Leroy Vail, 1991-01-07 Despite a quarter century of nation building most African states are still driven by ethnic particularism commonly known as tribalism The stubborn persistence of tribal ideologies despite the profound changes associated with modernization has puzzled scholars and African leaders alike The bloody hostilities between the tribally oriented Zulu Inkhata movement and supporters of the African National Congress are but the most recent example of tribalism's tenacity The studies in this volume offer a new historical model for the growth and endurance of such ideologies
