the Nile Roy MacLaren, 2011-11-01 Canadians on the Nile 1882-1898 is a lively description of Canada's romantic and little known involvement in the greatest imperial drama of Queen Victoria's later years. Chosen for their unique skills, 400 English and French speaking Canadian voyageurs transported imperial forces up the Nile in a daring attempt to rescue Chinese Gordon besieged in Khartoum. A generation later their imperial work was completed by another Canadian, Sir Percy Girouard, who built the desert railway which enabled Kitchener to capture Khartoum in 1898. Offering fresh insights to the general reader as well as to historians and students, this authoritative work is also a perceptive, exciting and humorous account of a curious way station along the meandering road to Canadian nationhood. African States and Rulers, 3d ed. John Stewart, 2024-10-18. Now in its third edition, this is a bigger, more than 11,000 entries updated version of the 1989 original, covering the enormous kaleidoscope of changing political boundaries, names and rulers of Africa. This exhaustive reference allows the user quickly to determine what happened in or to each country and when, changes of names, political systems, rulers and so on. The term state is loosely defined to embrace throughout the history of Africa any area of land with recognized borders and evidence of a continuing governmental structure, almost always with a capital city. Entries give official name of country, dates during which it went by that name, location, capital, alternate names, including cross references to previous and later incarnations, and a list of rulers with dates of power when known. A new table details AIDS in the African states. The Encyclopædia Britannica Hugh Chisholm, 1911. The Fin de Siècle Sally Ledger, Roger Luckhurst, 2000. The fin de siècle period, roughly the years 1880 to 1900, was characterized by great cultural and political ambivalence, an anxiety for things lost and a longing for the new. It also included an outpouring of intellectual responses to the conflicting times from such eminent writers as T. H. Huxley, Emma Goldman, William James, H. G. Wells, George Bernard Shaw, and Oscar Wilde. In this important anthology, Ledger and Luckhurst make available to students, scholars, and general readers a large body of non-literary texts which richly configure the variegated cultural history of the fin de siècle years. That history is here shown to inaugurate many enduring critical and cultural concerns, with sections on Degeneration, Outcast, London, The Metropolis, The New Woman, Literary Debates, The New Imperialism, Socialism, Anarchism, Scientific Naturalism, Psychology, Psychical Research, Sexology, Anthropology, and Racial Science. Each section begins with an Introduction and closes with Editorial Notes that carefully situate individual texts within a wider cultural landscape. Encyclopaedia Britannica: Lord Chamberlain-Mecklenburg Hugh Chisholm, 1911. This eleventh edition was developed during the encyclopaedia's transition from a British to an American publication. Some of its articles were written by the best known scholars of the time, and it is considered to be a landmark encyclopaedia for scholarship and literary style.
