Moroccan Other-Archives Brahim El Guabli, 2023-04-25 Winner 2024 L Carl Brown AIMS Book Prize in North African Studies Honorable Mention 2024 MELA Book Awards Finalist 2024 ASA Best Book Prize Moroccan Other Archives investigates how histories of exclusion and silencing are written and rewritten in a postcolonial context that lacks organized and accessible archives The book draws on cultural production concerning the years of lead a period of authoritarianism and political violence between Morocco's independence in 1956 and the death of King Hassan II in 1999 to examine the transformative roles memory and trauma play in reconstructing stories of three historically marginalized groups in Moroccan history: Berbers, Imazighen, Jews, and political prisoners. The book shows how Moroccan cultural production has become an other archive, a set of textual, sonic, embodied, and visual sites that recover real or reimagined voices of these formerly suppressed and silenced constituencies of Moroccan society. Combining theoretical discussions with close reading of literary works, the book reenvisioned both archives and the nation in postcolonial Morocco. By producing other archives, Moroccan cultural creators transform the losses, state violence inflicted on society during the years of lead into a source of civic engagement and historiographical agency, enabling the writing of histories about those Moroccans who have been excluded from official documentation and state-sanctioned histories. The book is multilingual and interdisciplinary, examining primary sources in Amazigh, Berber, Arabic, Darija, and French, and drawing on memory studies, literary theory, archival studies, anthropology, and historiography. In addition to showing how other archives are created and operate, El Guabli elaborates how language, gender, class, race, and geographical distribution are co-constitutive of a historical and archival unsilencing that is foundational to citizenship in Morocco today.

Huia Short Stories 4, 2001. Diverting beautiful stories could come from no other country. Selected by Keri Hulme, writer, whitebaiter, Terry Sturm, Professor of English at Auckland University and Patu Hohepa, Maori language commissioner. This is the fourth in a series highlighting new fiction from accomplished Maori writers.

Huia Short Stories 10. Publishers: Huia, Tihema Baker, Karuna Thurlow, Petera Hakiwai, Toni Pivac, 2014-05-28. Here are the best short stories and novel extracts from the Pikihiua Awards for Māori writers 2013 as judged by Sir Mason Durie, Hana O'Regan, and Reina Whaitiri. The book contains the stories from the finalists for Best Short Story written in English, Best Short Story written in Māori, and Best Novel Extract. For over ten years, the Māori Literature Trust and Huia Publishers have organised this biennial writing competition to promote Māori stories and writers. The awards and the publication of finalists' stories have become popular as they uncover little-known writers.

St. Philip's College. Marie Pannell-Thurston, 2013-01-08. In 1898, St. Philip's Normal and Industrial School opened its doors in San Antonio, offering sewing classes for black girls. It was the inaugural effort in a program founded by the West Texas diocese of the Episcopal Church to educate and train former slaves and other African Americans in that city. Originally tied to St. Philip's Church, about three miles east of the downtown center, the school grew to offer high school and then junior college courses and eventually affiliated with the San Antonio Independent School District and San Antonio College. One of the few remaining historically black junior colleges in the country, St. Philip's, whose student body is no longer predominantly black, has also been designated a Hispanic-serving institution, one of few schools to bear both designations. Known by many as the school that love built, St. Philip's College claimed in its 1932 catalog: "There is perhaps as much romance surrounding the development of St. Philip's Junior College as there is of the Alamo City in which it is located That love story also containing dominant strains of sacrifice scarcity creativity determination and pride finds its full expression in this history by Marie Pannell Thurston Based on archival research and extensive interviews with current and former alumni faculty and friends St Philip s College presents the heartwarming and inspiring record of a school the community that nurtures it and the collective pride in what the institution and its graduates have accomplished

Learning Stories Margaret Carr, Wendy Lee, 2012-03-19 Margaret Carr s seminal work on Learning Stories was first published by SAGE in 2001 and this widely acclaimed approach to assessment has since gained a huge international following In this new full colour book the authors outline the philosophy behind Learning Stories and refer to the latest findings from the research projects they have led with teachers on learning dispositions and learning power to argue that Learning Stories can construct learner identities in early childhood settings and schools By making the connection between sociocultural approaches to pedagogy and assessment and narrative inquiry this book contextualizes Learning Stories as a philosophical approach to education learning and pedagogy Chapters explore how Learning Stories help make connections with families support the inclusion of children and family voices tell us stories about babies allow children to dictate their own stories can be used to revisit children s learning journeys can contribute to teaching and learning wisdom This ground breaking book expands on the concept of Learning Stories and includes examples from practice in both New Zealand and the UK It outlines the philosophy behind this pedagogical tool for documenting how learning identities are constructed and shows through research evidence why the early years is such a critical time in the formation of learning dispositions Margaret Carr is a Professor of Education at the University of Waikato New Zealand Wendy Lee is Director of the Educational Leadership Project New Zealand
