S. Lewis Paul S. Fiddes, 2021 This study of the literary relationship between Charles Williams and C S Lewis during the years 1936-1945 focuses on the theme of co-inherence at the centre of their friendship. The idea of co-inherence has long been recognized as an important contribution of Williams to theology and had significant influence on the thought of Lewis. This account of the two writers' conviction that human persons inhere or dwell both in each other and in the triune God reveals many inter-relationships between their writings that would otherwise be missed. It also shows up profound differences between their world-views and a gradual though incomplete convergence onto common ground. Exploring the idea of co-inherence throws light on the fictional worlds they created as well as on their treatment whether together or separately of a wide range of theological and literary subjects: the Arthurian tradition, the poetry of William Blake and Thomas Traherne, the theology of Karl Barth, the nature of human and divine love and the doctrine of the Trinity. This study draws for the first time on transcriptions of Williams' lectures from 1932 to 1939, tracing more clearly the development and use of the idea of co-inherence in his thought than has been possible before. Finally, an account of the use of the word co-inherence in English-speaking theology suggests that the differences that existed between Lewis and Williams, especially on the place of analogy and participation in human experience of God, might be resolved by a theology of co-inherence in the Trinity.

The Woman with the Alabaster Jar Margaret Starbird, 1993-06-01. Margaret Starbird's theological beliefs were profoundly shaken when she read Holy Blood, Holy Grail, a book that dared to suggest that Jesus Christ was married to Mary Magdalen and that their descendants carried on his holy bloodline in Western Europe. Shocked by such heresy, this Roman Catholic scholar set out to refute it but instead found new and compelling evidence for the existence of the bride of Jesus, the same enigmatic woman who anointed him with precious unguent from her alabaster jar. In this provocative book, Starbird draws her conclusions from an extensive study of history, heraldry, symbolism, medieval art, mythology, psychology, and the Bible itself. The Woman with the Alabaster Jar is a quest for the forgotten feminine in the hope that its return will help restore a healthy balance to planet Earth.
