Film and the City George Melnyk, 2014-05-01 Most Canadians are city dwellers a fact often unacknowledged by twentieth century Canadian films with their preference for themes of wilderness survival or rural life Modernist Canadian films tend to support what film scholar Jim Leach calls the nationalist realist project a documentary style that emphasizes the exoticism and mythos of the land Over the past several decades however the hegemony of Anglo centrism has been challenged by francophone and First Nations perspectives and the character of cities altered by a continued influx of immigrants and the development of cities as economic and technological centers No longer primarily defined through the lens of rural nostalgia Canadian urban identity is instead polyphonic diverse constructed through multiple discourses and mediums an exchange rather than a strict orientation Taking on the urban as setting and subject filmmakers are ideally poised to create and reflect multiple versions of a single city Examining fourteen Canadian films produced from 1989 to 2007 including Denys Arcand's Jus de Montr al 1989 Jean Claude Lauzon's Lolo 1992 Mina Shum's Double Happiness 1994 Clement Virgo's Rude 1995 and Guy Maddin's My Winnipeg 2007 Film and the City is the first comprehensive study of Canadian film and urbanity the totality of urban culture and life Drawing on film and urban studies and building upon issues of identity formation in Canadian studies Melnyk considers how filmmakers films and urban audiences experience represent and interpret urban spatiality visuality and orality In this way Film and the City argues that Canadian narrative film of the postmodern period has aided in articulating a new national identity

Wright, 2019-04-30 Eldon Davis Rathburn 1916-2008 one of the most multi-dimensional prolific and endlessly fascinating composers of the twentieth century wrote more music than any other Canadian composer of his generation. During a long and productive career that spanned seventy-five years Rathburn served for thirty years as a staff composer with the National Film Board of Canada. 1947-76 scored the first generation of IMAX films and created a diverse catalogue of orchestral and chamber works. With the aid of extensive archival and documentary materials They Shot He Scored chronicles Rathburn's life and works beginning with his formative years in Saint John New Brunswick and his breakthrough in Los Angeles in connection with Arnold Schoenberg and the LA Philharmonic Orchestra. The book follows his work at the NFB his close encounters with some of the most celebrated international figures in his field and his collaboration with the team of innovators who launched the IMAX film corporation James Wright undertakes a close analytical reading of Rathburn's film and concert scores to outline his methods compositional techniques influences and idiosyncratic approach to instrumentation as well as his proto postmodern proclivity for borrowing from diverse styles and genres Authoritative and insightful They Shot He Scored illuminates the extraordinary career of an unsung creative force in the film and music industry About Canada: Media Peter Steven, 2016-07-01T00:00:00Z Canada enjoys a long held reputation for producing high quality media from National Film Board documentaries to the CBC to children's programming But in recent years funding cuts commercial media concentration and a sour political environment have been steadily eroding this reputation In About Canada Media Peter Steven examines developments in film television the internet and newspapers and finds that the quality of our news and entertainment media is steadily declining as well as becoming increasingly restricted and less diverse Although Canada is not alone in this crisis of quality we are particularly vulnerable living in the shadow of the United States However despite this decline and the shadow of our southern neighbour Canada still produces distinctive and popular work which receives critical international acclaim About Canada Media explores all things CanCon and argues that the Canadian people must reclaim the media from elite interests in order to ensure its democratic and quality future
