ornithological knowledge by separating out and listing not only 340 species of song birds but also the 720 distinct regional forms. Covering about half the national bird fauna, the Directory provides science and the community with baseline information about what bird it is and where it lives in an Australia-wide context. Identity is taken down to the level of distinct regional population. No other compendium on Australian birds does this.

Aboriginal Peoples and Birds in Australia Philip A. Clarke, 2023-04-03 Australia is home to many distinctive species of birds and Aboriginal peoples have developed close alliances with them over the millennia of their custodianship of this country. Aboriginal Peoples and Birds in Australia: Historical and Cultural Relationships provides a review of the broad physical, historical and cultural relationships that Aboriginal people have had with the Australian avifauna. This book aims to raise awareness of the alternative bodies of ornithological knowledge that reside outside of Western science. It describes the role of birds as totemic ancestors and spirit beings and explores Aboriginal bird nomenclature, foraging techniques and the use of avian materials to make food, medicine and artefacts. Through a historical perspective, this book examines the gaps between knowledge systems of Indigenous peoples and Western science to encourage greater collaboration and acknowledgment in the future. Cultural sensitivity: Readers are warned that there may be words, descriptions and terms used in this book that are culturally sensitive and which might not normally be used in certain public or community contexts. While this information may not reflect current understanding, it is provided by the author in a historical context. This publication may also contain quotations, terms and annotations that reflect the historical attitude of the original author or that of the period in which the item was written and may be considered inappropriate today. Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples are advised that this publication may contain the names and images of people who have passed away.

Finding Birds in Australia's Northern Territory D. Donato, P. Wilkins, G. Smith, L. Alford, 1997-07-01 Birds are a prominent feature of the Northern Territory environment, with almost half of Australia's bird species found there in spectacular landscapes ranging from deserts to tropics. This guide will lead you to the Northern Territory's best birdwatching areas and help you find the birds. It is designed to be used in conjunction with one of the Australian field identification guides. The book has four main sections: habitats, areas, special birds and a checklist. The text does not discuss every bird likely to be found in every area; instead, it points out interesting species found at each site. The special birds section covers birds considered to be special to the Northern Territory and includes tips on finding the birds and local identification hints.

Australian Predators of the Sky Penny Olsen, 2015-09-01 Australian predators of the sky are some of the most admired and the most despised of the bird world. Raptors are admired for their strength and independence but despised for their depredations on livestock and favourite garden birds, while the owls are at once respected for their wisdom and watchfulness and feared for their mournful cries and association with darkness and ill omen. The book begins with fascinating descriptions by award-winning natural history author Penny Olsen on the discovery and illustration of birds of prey in Australia and their characteristics and ecology, followed by full-colour illustrations of each species by a variety of artists accompanied by intriguing notes about the birds Australian Predators of the Sky comprises over 200 striking paintings lithographs and engravings of all 34 Australian species 25 diurnal birds of prey such as eagles hawks and falcons and nine owls such as hawk owls and barn owls Catalogue of the Australian Birds in the Australian Museum, Sydney, N.S.W.
