Iroquoian Archaeology and Analytic Scale Laurie E. Miroff, Timothy D. Knapp, 2009 A more robust archaeological interpretation can be produced if a multiscalar approach is brought to bear on the study of the past In Iroquoian Archaeology and Analytic Scale ten contributors conducting studies of groups centered around New York State and southern Ontario present contemporary research focused not only on examining the role of scale and how it impacts the field of Iroquoian studies but also how archaeologists studying other Native Americans can expand their own research Specifically the contributors employ a variety of spatial temporal and methodological scales to reveal patterns and insights into the cultural interactions that might otherwise be missed by a less multiscalar approach Furthermore the diversity of research spans nearly a millennium from A D 900 to 1800 and encompasses several different topographical settings including major river floodplains upland headwater areas and terraces along smaller tributaries yielding a plethora of current findings from the largest of villages to the smallest of seasonal campsites Laurie E Miroff and Timothy D Knapp have organized these essays in roughly chronological fashion and provide an introduction that addresses the importance of a multiscalar analysis This volume of Iroquoian specific yet wide ranging essays will be of interest to anyone specializing in Native American studies in the Northeast It will also benefit archaeologists who wish to gain a better understanding of how using a multiscalar approach in their own research can be an integral step toward a more dynamic view of the Native American lived experience Laurie E Miroff is an adjunct professor of anthropology at Binghamton University and a project director at the Public Archaeology Facility Binghamton University She is associate editor of Northeast Anthropology and her articles have appeared in Northeast Historical Archaeology and other journals
