Nomads of the North James Oliver Curwood,1919 Nomads of the North A Story of Romance and Adventure under the Open Stars is a classic nature wildlife story by James Oliver Curwood It was late in the month of March at the dying out of the Eagle Moon that Neewa the black bear cub got his first real look at the world Noozak his mother was an old bear and like an old person she was filled with rheumatics and the desire to sleep late So instead of taking a short and ordinary nap of three months this particular winter of little Neewa s birth she slept four which made Neewa who was born while ms mother was sound asleep a little over two months old instead of six weeks when they came out of den James Oliver Jim Curwood June 12 1878 August 13 1927 was an American action adventure writer and conservationist His books were often based on adventures set in the Yukon or Alaska and ranked among the top ten best sellers in the United States in the early 1920s according to Publishers Weekly At least eighteen motion pictures have been based on or directly inspired by his novels and short stories one was produced in three versions from 1919 to 1953 At the time of his death Curwood was the highest paid per word author in the world 1 Curwood was born in Owosso Michigan the youngest of four children 2 Attending local schools Curwood left high school before graduation He passed the entrance exam to the University of Michigan and was allowed to enroll in the English department where he studied journalism After two years Curwood quit college to become a reporter moving to Detroit for work In 1900 he sold his first story while working for the Detroit News Tribune By 1909 he had saved enough money to travel to the Canadian northwest a trip that inspired his wilderness adventure stories Because his novels sold well Curwood could afford to return to Owosso and live there He traveled to the Yukon and Alaska for several months each year for more inspiration He wrote more than thirty adventure books By 1922 Curwood had become very wealthy from the success of his writing He fulfilled a childhood fantasy by building Curwood Castle in Owosso Constructed in the style of an 18th century French chateau the estate overlooked the Shiawassee River In one of the homes two large turrets Curwood set up his writing studio He also owned a camp in a remote area in Baraga County Michigan near the Huron Mountains as well as a cabin in Roscommon Michigan Curwood was an avid hunter in his youth however as he grew older he became an advocate of environmentalism He was appointed to the Michigan Conservation Commission in 1927 3 The change in his attitude toward wildlife is expressed in a quote from The Grizzly King The greatest thrill is not to kill but to let live In 1927 while on a fishing trip in Florida Curwood was bitten on the thigh by what was believed to have been a spider and he had an immediate allergic reaction Health problems related to the bite escalated over the next few months as an infection developed He died in Owosso at the age of 49 and was interred in Oak Hill Cemetery there in a family plot Curwood s adventure writing followed in the tradition of Jack London Curwood set many of his works in the wilds of the Great Northwest and often used animals as lead characters Kazan Baree Son of Kazan The Grizzly King and Nomads of the North

Many of Curwood's adventure novels also feature romance as primary or secondary plot consideration. This approach gave his work broad commercial appeal; his novels ranked on several best seller lists in the early 1920s. His most successful work was his 1920 novel The River's End. The book sold more than 100,000 copies and was the fourth best selling title of the year in the United States according to Publishers Weekly.
