Nominations for Elective Office in the United States Frederick William Dallinger, 1897 Nominations for Elective Office in the United States (Classic Reprint) Frederick W. Dallinger, 2015-07-13 Excerpt from Nominations for Elective Office in the United States My attention was first called to the subject of nominations while pursuing a course of study in American institutions as an undergraduate student at Harvard University In connection with that study I found to my surprise that although certain phases of the present nominating system have from time to time been touched upon in magazine articles and elsewhere no systematic attempt has ever been made to consider in all its bearings this very important part of our governmental machinery It is for the purpose of supplying this deficiency that the following pages have been written In them I have endeavored to give some account of the origin and development of our nominating system to describe it as it exists to day and then to point out the evils that have arisen under it and the remedies that have been suggested for their removal It has been my object throughout to look at the question from a strictly non partisan standpoint and to treat it entirely as a scientific study About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works Nominations of Daniel F. Evans, Jr., Lawrence U. Costiglio, William C. Perkins, and Marilyn R. Seymann United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Banking, Housing, and Urban Affairs, 1992

Women and Elective Office Sue Thomas, Clyde Wilcox, 2014-01-02 This edition of Women and Elective Office offers the latest research on women as candidates and officeholders It provides a comprehensive look at the history and status of women in elective office their prospects for the future and why women in elected office matter to American democracy It features all new essays and up to the minute research by leading experts in the field including the latest political trends and events such as Hillary Rodham Clinton's run for the presidency women's representation on the state and local level the diversity of women officeholders experiences and circumstances and female judges Women and Elective Office is an essential guide to understanding the past present and future of women in all echelons of government Information of Importance to Candidates for Office of U.S. Representative in the 93rd Congress United States.
