Non Lethal Weapons As Legitimizing Forces Technology Politics And The Management Of Conflict:

Non-lethal Weapons as Legitimising Forces? Brian Rappert, 2004-11-23 As mankind finds ever more impious ways to kill and maim some look to non lethal weapons as a fix Brian Rappert discusses the technologies involved and the ethics of for example blinding someone with a laser leaving them blind forever versus killing them outright 'Non-Lethal' Weapons N. Davison, 2009-06-17 This book provides an up to date analysis of the development and deployment of non lethal weapons by police and military organizations It reviews the key technologies issues and dangers with particular attention to the development of drugs lasers microwaves and acoustics as incapacitating weapons Lethality, Legality, and Reality Timothy M. Cullen, 2008 This study evaluates the potential for non lethal weapons to become viable tools for the air support of ground forces in military conflicts During the Cold War the US Air Force developed conventional air support aircraft and munitions to fight Soviet mechanized infantry and armor in the central plains of Europe Since the end of the Cold War the United States increasingly confronts adversaries in situations where it is not in the national interest to use destructive force In response to this new security environment the Department of Defense has established the Joint Non Lethal Weapons Program and deployed a myriad of non lethal devices to conflicts around the world All non lethal weapons in the US armed forces however are ground weapons and are severely limited in range Aircraft could provide the perspective and added range joint force commanders desire thus this thesis explores the potential for aircraft to provide non lethal force options Abstract

Non-Lethal Weapons David A. Koplow, 2006-04-03 Too often military and law enforcement authorities have found themselves constrained by inadequate weaponry An emerging category of non lethal weapons carries promise for resolving this dilemma proffering new capabilities for disabling opponents without inflicting death or permanent injury This array of much more sophisticated technologies is being developed and could emerge for use by soldiers and police in the near future These augmented capabilities carry both immense promise and grave risks they expand the power of law enforcement and military units enabling them to accomplish assigned missions with greater finesse and reduced casualties But they may also be misused increasing maligned applications and inspiring leaders to over rely upon a myth of bloodless combat This book explores the emerging world of non lethal weapons by examining a series of case studies recent real world scenarios from five confrontations around the world where the availability of a modern arsenal might have made a difference

International Humanitarian Law and the Changing Technology of War Dan Saxon, 2013-03-15 Increasingly war is and will be fought by machines and virtual networks linking machines which to varying degrees are controlled by humans This book explores the legal challenges for armed forces resulting from the development and use of new military technologies automated and autonomous weapon systems cyber weapons non lethal weapons and advanced communications for the conduct of warfare The contributions each written by scholars and military officers with expertise in International Humanitarian Law IHL provide analysis and recommendations for armed forces as to how these new technologies may be used in accordance with international law Moreover the chapters provide suggestions for military doctrine to ensure continued compliance with IHL during this ever more rapid evolution of technology Death by Moderation David A. Koplow,2010 Addresses the military's pursuit of usable weaponry that is deliberately crafted to be less powerful less deadly and less destructive than the systems it is designed to supplement or replace Democracy and Security Matthew Evangelista,Harald Muller,Niklas Schoernig,2009-12-04 It has become generally accepted wisdom that democracies do not go to war against each other However there are significant differences between democratic states in terms of their approach to war and security policy in general This edited book offers a broad examination of how democratic preferences and norms are relevant to security policy beyond the decision of whether to go to war It therefore offers a fresh understanding of state behaviour in the security realm The contributors discuss such issues as defence policy air war cluster bombs non lethal weapons weapons of mass destruction democratic and non democratic nuclear weapon states transparency and the political and ideological background of the ongoing Revolution in Military Affairs It has become generally accepted wisdom that democracies do not go to war against each other However there are significant differences between democratic states in terms of their approach to war and security policy in general Concepts of Nonlethal Force Heal, Charles "Sid",2020-10-20 For fifty years both as a combat veteran police officer and trainer for law enforcement and the military Charles Sid Heal has devoted his career to limiting the occasions for catastrophic loss of life and to defusing potentially explosive life endangering encounters He has written on how to de escalate tense stand offs from confrontations with individuals to potential mass disorder Sound Doctrine A Tactical Primer how to formulate strategies tactics mission planning and decision making under pressure Field Command and how to examine floor plans of houses to enable special forces to end hostage scenarios and home sieges with minimal loss of life An Illustrated Guide to Tactical Diagramming In Concepts of Nonlethal Force Heal explores the ever growing array of nonlethal options and implements that promise to restore order to out of control situations such as riots or to tackle assailants in a way that lessens the risk of somebody being killed whether it is the officer or the suspect Heal also examines the history of non lethal interventions and the many ambiguities and difficulties associated with employing these items so as to minimize casualties lower the likelihood of harm to innocent bystanders and reduce property and collateral damage Controlling the Weapons of War Brian Rappert,2013-05-13 A fresh examination of the ethical and intellectual issues and dilemmas associated with attempts to establish formal humanitarian limits on weaponry This new study considers how governments non governmental organizations academics political commentators and others have responded to the predicaments associated with imposing classifications about the relative acceptability of force and what is accomplished in their strategies for doing so It develops these issues through combining thematic and conceptual analysis with the examination of varied cases of prohibitions on conventional and unconventional weapons through customary and statutory laws multilateral treaties UN resolutions and national legislation The book will appeal to students of security studies military technology peace studies international relations and discourse theory

Education and Ethics in the Life Sciences Brian Rappert, 2010-06-01 At the start of the twenty first century warnings have been raised in some quarters about how by intent or by mishap advances in biotechnology and related fields could aid the spread of disease Science academics medical organisations governments security analysts and others are among those that have sought to raise concern EDUCATION AND ETHICS IN THE LIFE SCIENCES examines a variety of attempts to bring greater awareness to security concerns associated with the life sciences It identifies lessons from practical initiatives across a wide range of national contexts as well as more general reflections about education and ethics The eighteen contributors bring together perspectives from a diverse range of fields including politics virology sociology ethics security studies microbiology and medicine as well as their experiences in universities think tanks and government In offering their assessment about what must be done and by whom each chapter addresses a host of challenging practical and conceptual questions EDUCATION AND ETHICS IN THE LIFE SCIENCES will be of interest to those planning and undertaking training activities in other areas In asking how education and ethics are being made to matter in an emerging area of social unease it will also be of interest to those with more general concerns about professional conduct Headspace Amber

Marks, 2011-12-31 Crime detection has gone to the dogs and squirrels are being busted for espionage If you've never wondered about the new direction of intelligence led policing in our society now is the time to start It was a chance encounter with a police sniffer dog that drew criminal lawyer Amber Marks into the hidden world of the science of smell and its law enforcement applications Soon she stumbled into a wonderland of contemporary surveillance where the spying skills of bees dolphins and a myriad other critters were being harnessed to build a secure world of bio intelligence From the businesses scientists and military departments developing new smell based surveillance technologies to good old fashioned police dogs Amber discovered a secret world of security forces where animals and scent are as important as intelligence agents and CCTV Part polemical exploration of our burgeoning surveillance society part humorous memoir this intriguing book will capture your imagination and get you wondering just who stands to benefit from all this security Security, Strategy, and the Quest for Bloodless War Robert Mandel, 2004 The first comprehensive look at the increasing push by
