Renaissance Suppliants Leah Whittington,2016-06-02 Renaissance Suppliants studies supplication as a social and literary event in the long European Renaissance It argues that scenes of supplication are defining episodes in a literary tradition stretching back to Greco Roman antiquity taking us to the heart of fundamental questions of politics and religion ethics and identity sexuality and family As a perennial mode of asymmetrical communication in moments of helplessness and extreme need supplication speaks to ways that people live together despite grave inequalities It is a strategy that societies use to regulate and perpetuate themselves to negotiate conflict and to manage situations in which relationships threaten to unravel All the writers discussed here Vergil Petrarch Shakespeare and Milton find supplication indispensable for thinking about problems of antagonism difference and hierarchy bringing the aesthetic resources of supplicatory interactions to bear on their unique literary and cultural circumstances The opening chapters establish a conceptual framework for thinking about supplication as facilitating transitions between states of feeling and positions of relative status beginning with Homer and classical literature Vergil s Aeneid is paradigmatic instance in which literary and social structures of the ancient past are transformed to suit the needs of the present and supplication becomes a figure for the act of cultural translation Subsequent chapters take up different aspects of Renaissance supplicatory discourse showing how postures of humiliation and abjection are appropriated and transformed in erotic poetry drama and epic The book ends with Milton who invests gestures of self abasement with unexpected dignity
