Non-Hodgkin's Lymphomas: New Techniques and Treatments - J. Sotto, 1985-11-20      The Management of Non-Hodgkin's Lymphomas in Europe Silvio Monfardini, 2012-12-06

The European School of Oncology came into existence to respond to a need for information education and training in the field of the diagnosis and treatment of cancer. There are two main reasons why such an initiative was considered necessary. Firstly the teaching of oncology requires a rigorously multidisciplinary approach which is difficult for the Universities to put into practice since their system is mainly disciplinary orientated. Secondly the rate of technological development that impinges on the diagnosis of cancer has been so rapid that it is not an easy task for medical faculties to adapt their curricula flexibly. With its residential courses for organopathologies and its seminars on new techniques or on the principal therapeutic controversies it is the ambition of the European School of Oncology to fill a cultural and scientific gap and thereby create a bridge between the University and Industry and between these two and daily medical practice. One of the more recent initiatives of the ESO is the Intercity Meetings. The concept of Intercity Meetings was first put forward with the idea of creating total coverage throughout Europe of certain tumours at the forefront of research and in some cases controversy.

Thoroughly updated for its Second Edition Non Hodgkin Lymphomas is the definitive textbook on the biology diagnosis staging and treatment of all forms of non Hodgkin lymphomas. With backgrounds in medical and radiation oncology molecular biology and pathology the editors and contributors provide an international multidisciplinary approach to the topic. This edition is the first text using the new World Health Organization classification of non Hodgkin lymphomas. The book offers complete coverage of the most current techniques for diagnosis staging and treatment the approach to specific types of lymphoma and special problems common to the management of patients with these disorders.

Histopathology of Non-Hodgkin's Lymphomas Alfred C. Feller, K. Lennert, 2012-12-06

The 1st Edition of Histopathology of Non Hodgkin's Lymphomas written in collaboration with Professor H. STEIN and published in 1981 was received well and is now out of print. In the meantime there has been an explosion of data that not only have made the definitions of various entities more precise but above all have confirmed the main entities originally delineated in the Kiel classification. The development of monoclonal antibodies and molecular cytogenetics has also made it possible to identify T cell lymphomas more accurately. For example many of the malignant lymphomas that were previously considered to be unclassifiable can now be included in a classification scheme that places the T cell lymphomas alongside of the list of B cell lymphomas. In 1988 the European Lymphoma Club published an updated Kiel classification STANSFELD et al 1988 based on this new knowledge. It includes a number of previously undefined types of T cell lymphoma. Studies done in Japan T SUCH et al and China L Y Tu have contributed to the understanding of these lymphoma types.

is available at <http://www.ScholarlyEditions.com>      Cancer in Children International Union against Cancer, 2013-06-29 With the fall in mortality from infectious diseases the impact of childhood cancer in the Western World has increased to become the second commonest cause of death in the age group 1-14 years being surpassed only by accidents. However, even in those countries in which paediatric cancer is attracting increasing interest, the disease is relatively uncommon and the number of cases seen by any one physician, even in a large general hospital, is often limited to one or two a year. The widely held view by parents and even by many doctors that cancer in childhood is usually untreatable and inevitably fatal is no longer tenable. With improvement in the therapeutic response or in the actual survival rates of children with such lesions as Wilms tumour, brain tumours, rhabdomyosarcomas, Ewing's sarcoma, retinoblastoma, lymphoma and even leukaemia, there is a real hope of achieving a substantial reduction in the mortality of childhood cancer. Paediatric oncology is in fact providing a vigorous stimulus to the much wider field of cancer treatment and research and is demonstrating the advantages of a multi-disciplinary cooperation in the management of this disease.

Clinical Nuclear Medicine Hans-Jürgen Biersack, Leonard M. Freeman, 2008-01-03 The modern era of radionuclide imaging and therapy is well into its seventh decade. During this era many national and international textbooks have been published in an attempt to educate not only the practitioners of our medical discipline but also referring physicians and medical students. Some of the more recent large multi-tural texts such as those by Ell and Ghambir, Sandler et al and Henkin et al provide us with very comprehensive reference sources while some of the smaller texts, totally written by two or three individuals, e.g. Mettler, Guiberteau and Ziessman, O'Malley, Thrall have achieved popularity with radiology residents and other physicians in training. The concept of Clinical Nuclear Medicine arose 3 years ago from a conversation between the editors who have been close friends for many years. We have always felt that our relationship epitomizes one of the major strengths of nuclear medicine, which is the very close ties and spirit of educational cooperation that exist between international colleagues. We all share the same aim of doing whatever we can to optimize patient care, whether it be by introducing new pharmaceuticals and instruments or by developing new techniques or approaches to performing our broad spectrum of clinical procedures Nuclear medicine physicians have almost uniformly been willing to share their expertise at national and international meetings The international nuclear medicine community unlike many other larger specialty areas has remained relatively small It was within this spirit that Clinical Nuclear Medicine was born
