The new final chapter includes material on the financial crisis and the world response to climate change. Chris Brazier is co-editor at New Internationalist. His previous books include Vietnam: The Price of Peace. He is principal writer for UNICEF's The State of the World's Children report.

No-nonsense Guide to World History, 2008

The No-nonsense Guide to World Poverty Jeremy Seabrook, 2007 The world is wealthier than ever yet the gap between rich and poor is getting bigger. Jeremy Seabrook summarises his celebrated work on the meaning of poverty, drawing on the experience of poor people in both rich and poor societies. He concludes that the opposite of poverty is not wealth but sufficiency: the relatively poor majority of the world's people do not aim to be rich but to be safe. Economic growth will never overcome the problems that it is largely responsible for creating. This is a call for radical thinking about the way we live.

The No-nonsense Guide to Global Media Peter Steven, 2003 The power and influence of the mass media grows daily, crucially affecting the way all of us see and understand each other. The No Nonsense Guide to Global Media introduces readers to the political economy of the major media: film, television, radio, recording, publishing, and the Internet. Peter Steven looks at the ever greater concentration of ownership and at the convergence of technologies and media functions. At the same time, he emphasizes the diversity of local media production and media around the world. The media is more than the economics of ownership and the technology of production; he stresses it is also audiences in all their annoying and wonderful diversity.

The No-nonsense Guide to Fair Trade David Ransom, 2006 The case for fair trade and its success stories all now under threat from corporate takeover.

Lotte Hughes,2003 Indigenous peoples have long suffered from exoticization Outsiders elevate their beauty remoteness and difference and do not see beyond this to the real problems they face The No Nonsense Guide to Indigenous Peoples looks beyond the exotic images tracing the stories of different indigenous peoples from their first and often fatal contact with explorers and colonizers Much of this history is told here by indigenous people themselves They vividly describe why land and the natural world are so special to them how it feels to be snatched from your family as a child because the government wants to make you white why they are demanding that museums must return the bones of their ancestors how can they retain their traditional culture while moving with the times and what kinds of development are positive This short guide discusses all this and more raising countless issues for debate The No-nonsense Guide to Water Maggie Black,2004

Water sustains life without it humans cannot survive for more than a few days And yet this precious fluid is becoming increasingly politicized as the debates about control and ownership of water itself and of the many organizations which govern its use gain force Maggie Black explores the many roles water plays in human life and as the defense of water rights looks set to become an explosive issue provides a clear overview on the vital issues of distribution technology irrigation land use and commodification No-Nonsense Guide to Fair Trade, 3rd Edition Sally Blundell,2013 An in depth look at two
