Mazanec, Helmut Strasser, 2000 The new series edited by the Jubilumsstiftung of the Wirtschaftsuniversität Wien aims at presenting results of interdisciplinary research conducted at one of the largest business schools in Europe Volumes 1 and 2 focus on recent results gained by a group of mathematicians and marketing scientists It is a unique feature that the writing style adopted for this series makes the findings accessible for members of both research communities It is also targeted to practitioners in marketing management with an interest in optimally exploiting their consumer survey and panel data Market segmentation and product positioning are major strategic issues in a company's marketing decision making The analytical tools highlighted in the Foundations and Applications Volumes are new instruments for exploratory and inferential market structure analysis based on consumer brand perceptions and choice Unlike the majority of contemporary marketing modeling these methods operate nonparametrically thus avoiding the rigorous assumptions which are rarely satisfied by real world data The Routledge Handbook of Tourism Marketing Scott McCabe, 2014-01-03 Tourism has often been described as being about selling dreams tourist experiences being conceptualized as purely a marketing confection a socially constructed need However the reality is that travel for leisure business meetings sports or visiting loved ones has grown to be a very real sector of the global economy requiring sophisticated business and marketing practices The Routledge Handbook of Tourism Marketing explores and critically evaluates the current debates and controversies inherent to the theoretical methodological and practical processes of marketing within this complex and multi sector industry It brings together leading specialists from range of disciplinary backgrounds and geographical regions to provide reflection and empirical research on this complex relationship The Handbook is divided into nine inter related sections Part 1 deals with shifts in the context of marketing practice and our understanding of what constitutes value for tourists Part 2 explores macromarketing and tourism Part 3 deals with strategic issues Part 4 addresses recent advances in research Part 5 focuses on developments in tourist consumer behaviour Part 6 looks at micromarketing Part 7 moves on to destination marketing and branding issues Part 8 looks at the influence of technological change on tourism marketing and Part 9 explores future directions This timely book offers the reader a comprehensive synthesis of this sub discipline conveying the latest thinking and research It will provide an invaluable resource for all those with an interest in tourism and marketing encouraging dialogue across disciplinary boundaries and areas of study This is essential reading for Tourism students researchers and academics as well as those of Marketing Business Events Management and Hospitality Management
